...Twin Pops Bubble Gum At Trial

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Tommy Williams Jr., a 14-year-old twin who casually chewed bubble gum at his murder trial, faced a life-time of confinement Thursday. But he told newsmen the dreary prospect didn't scare him.

An all-male jury found Tommy guilty of first degree murder after a little more than an hour of deliberation Thursday. The jurors had considered the case for three hours Wednesday night without agreement.

Tommy was convicted of the bludgeon slaying of 9-year-old David Powell, a Cub Scout, lured into the coal cellar under the front porch of the Williams home while out selling tickets to a benefit movie.

David's body was found last Feb. 10, a day after he had disappeared. The child's skull was shattered. A blood-stained two-by-four and a hammer were near the body in the dank recess sometimes used by neighborhood youngsters as a hideout.

Robbery was listed by the state as a motive. But ticket sales were slow that night and David had no money on him.

The recommendation of mercy issued by the jurors means that a life sentence is mandatory.

Hushed Court

Tommy was completely unemotional in the hushed court room Thursday as he stood to hear the jury foreman read the verdict.

He knocked a caster out of his chair as he returned to his seat after hearing the grim pronouncement. Calmly, he stooped down, found the caster, inserted it in the chair and seated himself.

Newsmen asked Tommy how he felt as deputy P. O. Miller led him back to jail.

"Okay," he shrugged.

Asked if he was scared, he shook his head and replied with a negative grunt. At times during the three days of testimony he entertained himself by chewing bubble gum, occasionally inflating a sticky oval of discreet proportions.

Attachment

Defense Atty. William Callahan had stressed psychiatric testimony that Tommy had a romantic attachment to his mother which developed while the father was away on wartime duty with the Navy.

The psychiatrist, Dr. H Sinclair Tait of the Weston State Hospital, said Tommy killed to free himself from this unconscious attachment.

The child's membership in a boys' club devoted to killing pigeons was an indication of this desire to kill, the doctor said.

The doctor also said Tommy's nightly habit of watching television may have had an effect on the psychopathic disorder he suffered from.

"There's nothing but murder, murder on television," said the psychiatrist.

Prosecutor Joseph A. Gompers took exception to the testimony concerning the mother complex.

He pointed out htat Tommy lived much the same life as his identical twin Joseph — absolved by Tommy from blame in the slaying.

...6 Firemen Killed

NEW YORK (AP)—A 7-year-old boy admitted then denied Thursday night he carried live coals from a bonfire to a Bronx factory where six firemen died battling a five-alarm blaze Wednesday night.

The Bronx district attorney's office said the boy first told of starting a fire in an empty lot behind the artificial flower factory and carrying coals on a shovel to the one-story building.

But after two hours of questioning, they said, he repudiated the story. Investigators termed his original story "improbable," after asking him to act it out. The boy, whose name was not released, was held for further questioning but a 9-year old companion was released.

Six firemen were crushed to death and 14 injured when a marquee on the building, a one-time movie house, suddenly snapped in the terrific heat and brought down a brick wall in a shower of rubble.

It took 40 pieces of equipment, 150 men and more than three and a half hours to bring the flames under control.

Head Cuts Suffered In Two-Car Accident

Ralph Sabey, 21-year-old airman of Route 2, suffered a head laceration in a two car accident four miles east of 70th Street on Adams.

Sabey was not hospitalized. He was a passenger in a car driven by Harold Brown, 18, of the Lincoln Air Force Base, who was driving west. The car collided with another west-bound vehicle driven by Gerald E. Decker, 18, of 5402 Madison.

Expects Farmer Support

Estes Promises State Battle, Victory

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

OMAHA — A tireless and fighting Estes Kefauver called for a Democratic victory in Nebraska Thursday as he continued his hand-bruising presidential stump across the United States.

In Omaha to speak at a state meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, the Tennesee senator centered his fighting talk by calling for high price supports for American farmers. He hailed, too, his own recent victories in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Sen. Kefauver's name has been entered in the state presidential preferential primary, the only Democrat so listed. The senator promised a primary battle in the state and indicated he felt the vote of Nebraska farmers would indicate their preference for a Democrat.

"If we don't do something to get more income into the hands of the farmer," the senator said, "we may need a tax raise" to support the country's income.

The gangling Tennessean, shaking every hand in sight and even seeking out a few, told a press conference here there is an evidenced indication by the people he has met and talked with that they want to meet their candidates, person to person. The reference was believed by newsmen directed against the pronounced television campaign promised by President Eisenhower.

Delegate Hopes

In a rundown at the morning press conference, Sen. Kefauver said he had high hopes of getting a "large" number of Nebraska delegates pledged to him in the national convention.

Frank Morrison, now a Lincoln attorney and Kefauver's Nebraska manager, indicated many of the state's potential delegates showed themselves in favor of Kefauver after talking with him.

Following his stumping through the south, the senator said he lost some strength by not signing the Southern Manifesto protesting integration of southern schools. He added, though, the south would be solidly in the Democratic column when election time came around.

He said his victory in Minnesota and his Wisconsin vote were "much better than I anticipated." He called the Wisconsin vote significant in a "normally rock-ribbed Republican" area that voted Democratic during the primary.

The senator arrived by plane from Miami where he stumped for Florida's delegate pledges against his primary opponent, Adlai Stevenson.

Adlai 'Ahead'

Of Stevenson, the senator conceded the former Illinois governor was still "ahead" of him in popularity, but speculated "Our strength is increasing fast."

The senator said he wasn't in favor of any dark horses being put in the presidential race against him, adding he thinks he is on "very good terms with former President Truman." He said he thought Truman would support him if he got the nomination and would "place no hurdles in my way."

Sen. Kefauver, travelling with his secretary, Donald Vaughn, was met at the airport by a party including Bernard J. Boyle, Democratic National Committeeman Nebraska. Boyle, who ran Sen. Kerr's campaign in the Nebraska primary in 1952, said he has always had a "high" regard for the senator.

The senator, at a luncheon in his honor sponsored by the Douglas County Democratic Central Committee, noted that farm income is definitely down and promised "we're going to have another 1929" if the situation can not be corrected.

Farmer Aid

He called for aid to the small farmer, whose ranks have dropped by more than a million during the past few years.

The senator called the Eisenhower administration one of broken promises, especially toward labor. The administration "even

Meet To Discuss Grandsinger Case

'Grandsinger Defense' Group Forms

...75 Attend Meeting; Fund For Legal Work Started

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

A University of Nebraska Law College faculty member Thursday night told a spirited meeting called to discuss the case of Loyd Grandsinger that the case raises the dilemma of a poor man charged with a serious crime.

Caleb Foote told the more than 75 persons present that "justice is expensive." He said that more than $40,000 was spent by the prosecution in attempting to prove Grandsinger shot Safety Patrolman Melvin Hansen near Valentine in April, 1954. But, he said, Grandsinger's father could raise only $2,000 to defend his son.

A "Grandsinger Defense Committee" was formed at the meeting. Members are Foote; Paul Meadows, acting president of the Lincoln Council on Human Relations; James M. Reinhardt, University of Nebraska criminologist; Melvin Walker of the Omaha Urban League's Indian affairs division; and Capt. Walter Kennedy of Lincoln's Salvation Army post. More than $180 was collected from persons present as the start of a defense fund for Grandsinger.

Will Ask Funds

The committee will supervise the formation of state-wide committee to aid Grandsinger, seek an attorney for him, solicit funds for his appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, and attempt to promote public interest in the case.

Grandsinger is at present in the Nebraska Penitentiary awaiting results of an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"The problem before us tonight is very simply stated: shall a man, convicted of murder, be put to death without obtaining legal remedies to which he is entitled simply because he is too poor to pay for those remedies," Foote said.

'Serious Errors'

Foote said he felt there were "serious errors" committed in the Valentine trial at which Grandsinger was convicted of first degree murder.

He said the three things which "disturb me most" were:

1—A "shift" in the state's version of the circumstances surrounding the crime. He said the version given in Grandsinger's alleged confession differs from the version of the case presented by the prosecution in court.

2—The admission of confessions which may have been acquired by the use of duress.

3—An admission by one of Grandsinger's trial counsel that he, the attorney, widened the bullet hole in the belt of Hansen, which had been introduced as evidence. Foote termed the belt a "crucial" piece of evidence and said the enlarging of the bullet hole could have been "very damaging" to Grandsinger by intimating to the jury that the defense counsel had so little faith in the case that he had to tamper with the evidence.

600 Signers Reported

More than 600 persons from the Valentine area have signed a petition action in the case by Gov. Anderson, Foote said.

A Valentine official who was closely connected with the case told a reporter after the meeting that many persons in Valentine "can't see how a man could be convicted without the murder gun or bullet ever having been found."

Foote said the securing of a lawyer for Grandsinger to handle the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court is of first importance. The attorneys who had previously represented him no longer are connected with the case.

Said 'Too Complicated'

He said attempts to obtain a lawyer to handle the case free have met with no success. He said the Lincoln Legal Aid Bureau turned down the case as "too complicated."

Foote said there was still the possibility of securing an attorney to handle the case free but money would still be needed to handle the expenses of investigations of the case by the attorney.

He proposed $1,000 as a goal "to start."

Meadows, acting president of the Human Relations Council which called the meeting and also a University of Nebraska professor, read a wire from Oliver La Farge, president of the Association on American Indian Affairs, headquartered in New York City.

La Farge commended the Lincoln group for its efforts and said that "Indian tribes throughout the United States will take heart when they learn that non-Indians in Nebraska refused to let injustice be done to one of their people."

Mrs. Orme Resigns For Try At Unicam

Last Minute Quitting Of Council, Refiling Caused By State Law

The City Council in a last minute special meeting Thursday accepted the resignation of Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme to clear the way for her filing for election to the State Legislature from the 20th District.

The move left an immediate vacancy on the Council, which will be filled by appointment by the remaining six members. There is no legal deadline for filling the vacancy.

"We will do it very deliberately," said Mayor Clark Jeary in regard to the appointment, "and intend to obtain the services of someone we have to go out after and talk into the job."

It was a state law which changed the plans of Mrs. Orme to retain her Council seat until, if elected to the Legislature, she assumed her state duties in January.

This law states that a holder of public office must file for another office 50 days before election.

Filed In Morning

Mrs. Orme first filed for the Legislature Thursday morning and learned that the state law either may or may not apply to her as a member of the City Council.

However, the questionable legality of her filing caused her to make a last-minute rush to correct the situation.

Shortly before Thursday filing deadline, Mrs. Orme submitted to the secretary of state's office a notorized withdrawal of her first filing.

She then went to the City Hall where four other members of the City Council were quickly called into a special meeting. The four Council members, Rees Wilkinson, Joseph E. Fenton, Pat Ash and Mayor Clark Jeary, approved her resignation.

20 Minutes

"No speeches, please," Mrs. Orme kidded her colleagues as she rushed from the meeting to pay her second $10 filling fee at the Courthouse. At 4:40 p.m. 20 minutes before the deadline, she completed her second filing for the Legislature at the State Capitol.

"It all proves one thing," smiled Mrs. Orme as she recovered her breath, "women can get things done."

Mrs. Orme's term on the Council expired in May, 1947. Appointed to the Council Aug. 20, 1946, Mrs. Orme was re-elected to the post in 1949 with the highest vote among all candidates.

Vice President

She won re-election a second time in 1953 and has served two terms as Council vice president. She has been known as "economy minded" on the Council and for her work with youth, having authorized the city's Juvenile Council and an ordinance which prohibits minors in taverns after 9 p.m.

"If elected," she said, "I would listen attentively and study carefully all matters which come before the group. I would attempt to give an unbiased opinion always."

Mrs. Orme said she believes the "mature and educated housewife"

might be expected to hold public office because she has the time to devote to the job and has no business or professional prejudices to influence her vote.

With A.B.,B.FA. and M.A. degrees from the University of Nebraska and special courses at two other universities, Mrs. Orme has spent 22 years teaching in the secondary and college level.

Citation Recipient

In 1955, Mrs. Orme was given a citation at the national meeting of United Church Women for Christian Citizenship, reflected in active participation in making and maintaining good government.

Active in a host of civic and professional organizations and activities, Mrs. Orme is a member of the League of Women Voters, formerly on the board of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, member of the Urban League, past president of both the Lincoln branch and state division of the American Association of University Women and a member of national status.

She is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Other candidates who have filed for the 20th District seat are Fred M. Waggoner, Burkett Van Kirk, Charles E. Glade and George Fenger.

Many Dead In Border Clash

Envoys Called To Washington For Consultation

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Thursday signaled a searching review of its cold war and Middle East policies by announcing that its ambassadors to Russia and Saudi Arabia are coming home for consultations.

Ambassador Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen is expected in Washington this weekend. He is in Austria on vacation from his Moscow post—recovering, in fact, from a broken shoulder he suffered while skiing in Switzerland.

Ambassador George Wadsworth already has left Jidda, capital of Saudi Arabia, and arrives Friday in New York City.

Key Questions

Bohlen is expected to stay in Washington a week or 10 days. His prime task will be to give Secretary of State Dulles and probably President Eisenhower his views on these key question marks in Russian foreign policy:

What is the meaning, and what are likely to be the results, of the Kremlin's campaign to knock the late Joseph Stalin off his pedestal?

What are the Soviet capabilities in the economic field? Can they deliver on the broad promises of industrial development aid they are making in Asia and the Middle East?

What is the future of the first feeble efforts by the United States and Russia to set up a program of cultural exchange, such as groups of artists and farm leaders?

News Conference

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced the calling home of the two ambassadors at a news conference Thursday.

White described the trips as "routine," saying it is logical and natural for ambassadors to be called home periodically for consultation.

One purpose of Wadsworth's recall is to prepare for negotiations with Saudi Arabia on extending the agreement which permits the U.S. Air Force to use the Dharan air base for its strategic bombers. This gives the Air Force a forward base less than 1,000 miles from the Soviet border.

Middle East Eyed

As far as the Middle East is concerned the review is expected to cover such questions as:

How effective have the Russian offers of economic aid been on the thinking of leaders of the Arab world?

Is the United States still to look to Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser as the leader of the Arab world? Or should U.S. policy shift behind someone else, such as King Saud of Saudi Arabia or Premier Nuri Said of Iraq?

Women, Children Die On Eve Of Dag's Trip

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Fighting blazed along the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip of Palestine Thursday on the eve of the new top-level U.N. effort for peace between Arabs and Israelis.

The Egyptian Army reported late Thursday night that Israeli attacking forces killed 42 Arab civilians and wounded 103 in the day's battles.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the U.N. truce chief, asked both sides urgently to cease fire.

Burns set a midnight deadline for compliance.

A Jerusalem report late Thursday night said an Israeli-Egyptian artillery duel on the Gaza coast lasted until dusk.

Dag Leaves Friday

Burns hoped to have the front quiet for the arrival of his chief, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who is making the big effort for peace at the behest of the U.N. Security Council. The Council acted Wednesday and Hammarskjold is leaving New York for the Middle East Friday.

The latest outbursts between Israel and the Arabs began Wednesday in small clashes on both the Gaza Strip frontier and the Israeli border with Syria.

In the Thursday battles, an Egyptian military spokesman said, seven Egyptian soldiers were wounded in addition to the civilian casualties. Among the dead he listed were 29 men, 11 women and 2 children. Twenty-five women and 11 children were among the wounded.

The losses occurred in the towns of Gaza, Deir El Balah and Khan Yunes inside the Gaza coastal strip, the spokesman said.

Each Blames Other

Each side blamed the other for starting the clashes.

A statement issued through an Egyptian Army spokesman said:

"Israel purposely tried to provoke Egyptian outposts with small automatic fire and the exchange between the two sides was aggravated yesterday (Thursday) when Israeli artillery took part in the attacks. The artillery shelled Egyptian outposts. . . .

"It was clear that Israel's aim in doing this was to cause heavy casualties among civilians, as these towns are packed with Palestinian refugees.

"Egyptian forces repulsed the attacks and Egyptian artillery pounded the Israeli settlements of Ein Hashlosha, Kissufim and Nirim."

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli military spokesman said the incidents started with two early morning attacks from Egyptian positions on an Israeli patrol in the Kissufim area. He gave this Israeli version of ensuing events:

Egyptians crossed the demarcation line into Israeli territory in the Beeri sector and were beaten back by an Israeli patrol. At midmorning, Egyptian positions attacked another Israeli patrol in another sector . . .

Israeli artillery, in retaliation, fired on Egyptian positions. Egyptian shelling continued after sunset on two additional settlements at Yegev, south of Nahal Oz, and Nirim.

Winter Moves Back To State

Cloudy, windy and colder weather was on its way back to Nebraska Friday as forecast snow and rain made its way into the western part of the state.

Snow was reported late Thursday and early Friday at Scottsbluff, Sidney, Chadron and Kimball and a rain shower hit Imperial. Scottsbluff had .03 of an inch of moisture and Imperial had .01, while other points reported a trace.

Snow and rain were predicted to extend over the eastern and central portions of the state Friday and high temperatures were to range the wide gap between the northwest's 30 to around 60 in the extreme southeast.

Eastern Nebraska's return to winter would take the form of occational rain or snow, said the Weather Bureau.

Highways in the west were wet from fallen snow and rain, but had not become hazardous early Friday morning.

Temperatures Thursday over the state hit highs in the 60s and lower 70s.

In a rundown at the morning press conference, Sen. Kefauver said he had high hopes of getting a "large" number of Nebraska delegates pledged to him in the national convention.

Frank Morrison, now a Lincoln attorney and Kefauver's Nebraska manager, indicated many of the state's potential delegates showed themselves in favor of Kefauver after talking with him.

Following his stumping through the south, the senator said he lost some strength by not signing the Southern Manifesto protesting integration of southern schools. He added, though, the south would be solidly in the Democratic column when election time came around.

He said his victory in Minnesota and his Wisconsin vote were "much better than I anticipated." He called the Wisconsin vote significant in a "normally rock-ribbed Republican" area that voted Democratic during the primary.

The senator arrived by plane from Miami where he stumped for Florida's delegate pledges against his primary opponent, Adlai Stevenson.

Adlai 'Ahead'

Of Stevenson, the senator conceded the former Illinois governor was still "ahead" of him in popularity, but speculated "Our strength is increasing fast."

The senator said he wasn't in favor of any dark horses being put in the presidential race against him, adding he thinks he is on "very good terms with former President Truman." He said he thought Truman would support him if he got the nomination and would "place no hurdles in my way."

Sen. Kefauver, travelling with his secretary, Donald Vaughn, was met at the airport by a party including Bernard J. Boyle, Democratic National Committeeman Nebraska. Boyle, who ran Sen. Kerr's campaign in the Nebraska primary in 1952, said he has always had a "high" regard for the senator.

The senator, at a luncheon in his honor sponsored by the Douglas County Democratic Central Committee, noted that farm income is definitely down and promised "we're going to have another 1929" if the situation can not be corrected.

Farmer Aid

He called for aid to the small farmer, whose ranks have dropped by more than a million during the past few years.

Meet To Discuss Grandsinger Case

'Grandsinger Defense' Group Forms

...75 Attend Meeting; Fund For Legal Work Started

By DEL HARDING
Star Staff Writer

A University of Nebraska Law College faculty member Thursday night told a spirited meeting called to discuss the case of Loyd Grandsinger that the case raises the dilemma of a poor man charged with a serious crime.

Caleb Foote told the more than 75 persons present that "justice is expensive." He said that more than $40,000 was spent by the prosecution in attempting to prove Grandsinger shot Safety Patrolman Melvin Hansen near Valentine in April, 1954. But, he said, Grandsinger's father could raise only $2,000 to defend his son.

A "Grandsinger Defense Committee" was formed at the meeting. Members are Foote; Paul Meadows, acting president of the Lincoln Council on Human Relations; James M. Reinhardt, University of Nebraska criminologist; Melvin Walker of the Omaha Urban League's Indian affairs division; and Capt. Walter Kennedy of Lincoln's Salvation Army post. More than $180 was collected from persons present as the start of a defense fund for Grandsinger.

Will Ask Funds

The committee will supervise the formation of state-wide committee to aid Grandsinger, seek an attorney for him, solicit funds for his appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, and attempt to promote public interest in the case.

Grandsinger is at present in the Nebraska Penitentiary awaiting results of an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"The problem before us tonight is very simply stated: shall a man, convicted of murder, be put to death without obtaining legal remedies to which he is entitled simply because he is too poor to pay for those remedies," Foote said.

'Serious Errors'

Foote said he felt there were "serious errors" committed in the Valentine trial at which Grandsinger was convicted of first degree murder.

He said the three things which "disturb me most" were:

1—A "shift" in the state's version of the circumstances surrounding the crime. He said the version given in Grandsinger's alleged confession differs from the version of the case presented by the prosecution in court.

2—The admission of confessions which may have been acquired by the use of duress.

3—An admission by one of Grandsinger's trial counsel that he, the attorney, widened the bullet hole in the belt of Hansen, which had been introduced as evidence. Foote termed the belt a "crucial" piece of evidence and said the enlarging of the bullet hole could have been "very damaging" to Grandsinger by intimating to the jury that the defense counsel had so little faith in the case that he had to tamper with the evidence.

600 Signers Reported

More than 600 persons from the Valentine area have signed a petition action in the case by Gov. Anderson, Foote said.

A Valentine official who was closely connected with the case told a reporter after the meeting that many persons in Valentine "can't see how a man could be convicted without the murder gun or bullet ever having been found."

Foote said the securing of a lawyer for Grandsinger to handle the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court is of first importance. The attorneys who had previously represented him no longer are connected with the case.

Said 'Too Complicated'

He said attempts to obtain a lawyer to handle the case free have met with no success. He said the Lincoln Legal Aid Bureau turned down the case as "too complicated."

Foote said there was still the possibility of securing an attorney to handle the case free but money would still be needed to handle the expenses of investigations of the case by the attorney.

He proposed $1,000 as a goal "to start."

Meadows, acting president of the Human Relations Council which called the meeting and also a University of Nebraska professor, read a wire from Oliver La Farge, president of the Association on American Indian Affairs, headquartered in New York City.

La Farge commended the Lincoln group for its efforts and said that "Indian tribes throughout the United States will take heart when they learn that non-Indians in Nebraska refused to let injustice be done to one of their people."

Mrs. Orme Resigns For Try At Unicam

Last Minute Quitting Of Council, Refiling Caused By State Law

The City Council in a last minute special meeting Thursday accepted the resignation of Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme to clear the way for her filing for election to the State Legislature from the 20th District.

The move left an immediate vacancy on the Council, which will be filled by appointment by the remaining six members. There is no legal deadline for filling the vacancy.

"We will do it very deliberately," said Mayor Clark Jeary in regard to the appointment, "and intend to obtain the services of someone we have to go out after and talk into the job."

It was a state law which changed the plans of Mrs. Orme to retain her Council seat until, if elected to the Legislature, she assumed her state duties in January.

This law states that a holder of public office must file for another office 50 days before election.

Filed In Morning

Mrs. Orme first filed for the Legislature Thursday morning and learned that the state law either may or may not apply to her as a member of the City Council.

However, the questionable legality of her filing caused her to make a last-minute rush to correct the situation.

Shortly before Thursday filing deadline, Mrs. Orme submitted to the secretary of state's office a notorized withdrawal of her first filing.

She then went to the City Hall where four other members of the City Council were quickly called into a special meeting. The four Council members, Rees Wilkinson, Joseph E. Fenton, Pat Ash and Mayor Clark Jeary, approved her resignation.

20 Minutes

"No speeches, please," Mrs. Orme kidded her colleagues as she rushed from the meeting to pay her second $10 filling fee at the Courthouse. At 4:40 p.m. 20 minutes before the deadline, she completed her second filing for the Legislature at the State Capitol.

"It all proves one thing," smiled Mrs. Orme as she recovered her breath, "women can get things done."

Mrs. Orme's term on the Council expired in May, 1947. Appointed to the Council Aug. 20, 1946, Mrs. Orme was re-elected to the post in 1949 with the highest vote among all candidates.

Vice President

She won re-election a second time in 1953 and has served two terms as Council vice president. She has been known as "economy minded" on the Council and for her work with youth, having authorized the city's Juvenile Council and an ordinance which prohibits minors in taverns after 9 p.m.

"If elected," she said, "I would listen attentively and study carefully all matters which come before the group. I would attempt to give an unbiased opinion always."

Mrs. Orme said she believes the "mature and educated housewife"

might be expected to hold public office because she has the time to devote to the job and has no business or professional prejudices to influence her vote.

With A.B.,B.FA. and M.A. degrees from the University of Nebraska and special courses at two other universities, Mrs. Orme has spent 22 years teaching in the secondary and college level.

Citation Recipient

In 1955, Mrs. Orme was given a citation at the national meeting of United Church Women for Christian Citizenship, reflected in active participation in making and maintaining good government.

Active in a host of civic and professional organizations and activities, Mrs. Orme is a member of the League of Women Voters, formerly on the board of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce, member of the Urban League, past president of both the Lincoln branch and state division of the American Association of University Women and a member of national status.

She is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Other candidates who have filed for the 20th District seat are Fred M. Waggoner, Burkett Van Kirk, Charles E. Glade and George Fenger.

Envoys Called To Washington For Consultation

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Thursday signaled a searching review of its cold war and Middle East policies by announcing that its ambassadors to Russia and Saudi Arabia are coming home for consultations.

Ambassador Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen is expected in Washington this weekend. He is in Austria on vacation from his Moscow post—recovering, in fact, from a broken shoulder he suffered while skiing in Switzerland.

Ambassador George Wadsworth already has left Jidda, capital of Saudi Arabia, and arrives Friday in New York City.

Key Questions

Bohlen is expected to stay in Washington a week or 10 days. His prime task will be to give Secretary of State Dulles and probably President Eisenhower his views on these key question marks in Russian foreign policy:

What is the meaning, and what are likely to be the results, of the Kremlin's campaign to knock the late Joseph Stalin off his pedestal?

What are the Soviet capabilities in the economic field? Can they deliver on the broad promises of industrial development aid they are making in Asia and the Middle East?

What is the future of the first feeble efforts by the United States and Russia to set up a program of cultural exchange, such as groups of artists and farm leaders?

News Conference

State Department press officer Lincoln White announced the calling home of the two ambassadors at a news conference Thursday.

White described the trips as "routine," saying it is logical and natural for ambassadors to be called home periodically for consultation.

One purpose of Wadsworth's recall is to prepare for negotiations with Saudi Arabia on extending the agreement which permits the U.S. Air Force to use the Dharan air base for its strategic bombers. This gives the Air Force a forward base less than 1,000 miles from the Soviet border.

Middle East Eyed

As far as the Middle East is concerned the review is expected to cover such questions as:

How effective have the Russian offers of economic aid been on the thinking of leaders of the Arab world?

Is the United States still to look to Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser as the leader of the Arab world? Or should U.S. policy shift behind someone else, such as King Saud of Saudi Arabia or Premier Nuri Said of Iraq?

Winter Moves Back To State

Cloudy, windy and colder weather was on its way back to Nebraska Friday as forecast snow and rain made its way into the western part of the state.

Snow was reported late Thursday and early Friday at Scottsbluff, Sidney, Chadron and Kimball and a rain shower hit Imperial. Scottsbluff had .03 of an inch of moisture and Imperial had .01, while other points reported a trace.

Snow and rain were predicted to extend over the eastern and central portions of the state Friday and high temperatures were to range the wide gap between the northwest's 30 to around 60 in the extreme southeast.

Eastern Nebraska's return to winter would take the form of occational rain or snow, said the Weather Bureau.

Highways in the west were wet from fallen snow and rain, but had not become hazardous early Friday morning.

Temperatures Thursday over the state hit highs in the 60s and lower 70s.

Women, Children Die On Eve Of Dag's Trip

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Fighting blazed along the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip of Palestine Thursday on the eve of the new top-level U.N. effort for peace between Arabs and Israelis.

The Egyptian Army reported late Thursday night that Israeli attacking forces killed 42 Arab civilians and wounded 103 in the day's battles.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the U.N. truce chief, asked both sides urgently to cease fire.

Burns set a midnight deadline for compliance.

Dag Leaves Friday

Burns hoped to have the front quiet for the arrival of his chief, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who is making the big effort for peace at the behest of the U.N. Security Council. The Council acted Wednesday and Hammarskjold is leaving New York for the Middle East Friday.

The latest outbursts between Israel and the Arabs began Wednesday in small clashes on both the Gaza Strip frontier and the Israeli border with Syria.

In the Thursday battles, an Egyptian military spokesman said, seven Egyptian soldiers were wounded in addition to the civilian casualties. Among the dead he listed were 29 men, 11 women and 2 children. Twenty-five women and 11 children were among the wounded.

The losses occurred in the towns of Gaza, Deir El Balah and Khan Yunes inside the Gaza coastal strip, the spokesman said.

Each Blames Other

Each side blamed the other for starting the clashes.

A statement issued through an Egyptian Army spokesman said:

"Israel purposely tried to provoke Egyptian outposts with small automatic fire and the exchange between the two sides was aggravated yesterday (Thursday) when Israeli artillery took part in the attacks. The artillery shelled Egyptian outposts. . . .

"It was clear that Israel's aim in doing this was to cause heavy casualties among civilians, as these towns are packed with Palestinian refugees.

"Egyptian forces repulsed the attacks and Egyptian artillery pounded the Israeli settlements of Ein Hashlosha, Kissufim and Nirim."

In Tel Aviv, an Israeli military spokesman said the incidents started with two early morning attacks from Egyptian positions on an Israeli patrol in the Kissufim area. He gave this Israeli version of ensuing events:

Egyptians crossed the demarcation line into Israeli territory in the Beeri sector and were beaten back by an Israeli patrol. At midmorning, Egyptian positions attacked another Israeli patrol in another sector . . .

Israeli artillery, in retaliation, fired on Egyptian positions. Egyptian shelling continued after sunset on two additional settlements at Yegev, south of Nahal Ozz, and Nirim.

Resistance To Incorporation, Annexation Voted

West O Group, Some Officials Await A Study

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

More than 200 West O businessmen and residents voted at a meeting Thursday night to resist either incorporation or annexation of their area pending a further study of the water problem confronting them.

It was disclosed at the meeting that petitions bearing the signatures of some 600 taxpayers within the area were obtained for incorporation. William Koehne, one of the businessmen behind the incorporation move, stated that petitions on hand were sufficient for incorporation of the area under study by the City Council for annexation to Lincoln.

"The incorporation move," Koehne said, "was started only as a move against annexation. We would prefer to remain as we are but would favor incorporation over annexation."

A Weapon

The petitions, he said, will not be submitted to the county Board of Commissioners if the City Council does not pass the annexation ordinance on second reading Monday.

The ordinance has been read once by the Council. Three readings are needed to enact the measure into law.

Those at the meeting voted in favor of appointing a committee from the West O area to meet with city officials to discuss possible means of bringing additional water into the area.

The majority of available legal opinion at the meeting was to the effect that incorporation approval would be mandatory on the county Board of Commissioners if more than 50 per cent of the taxpayers within the area to be incorporated signed in favor of such action.

Line Is Old

The water problem was set forth by City Public Works Director D. L. Erickson. The line now serving the West O area, he said, is 30 years old.

This line, he explained, can adequately serve its present 250 customers but no more. Also, he said, the line only extends as far west as the Raymond road and people living west of that point are in need of water.

Some of the property owners present explained that while good building sites close to downtown Lincoln were available in the area, no one would build on them because there was no water available. Without water, they said, the West O area will never grow.

Mayor Clark Jeary said he favored neither annexation or incorporation at this time. He said he would vote against annexation now. Additional study of the problems involved is needed, Jeary said.

The West O area, he said, would definitely be a financial loss for the city.

City Unopposed

The City of Lincoln, Jeary said, would not oppose incorporation of the West O area and in fact, "we would give you our blessing and help you all we could."

County Commissioner Chairman Russell Brehm told the group he was opposed to both annexation and incorporation but favored incorporation only "as a last resort." He said he felt the area was five to seven years away from being ready for annexation.

The group was reminded by Brehm that taxes in the West O area in School District 113 now total $48.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. If the area is annexed to Lincoln, he said, the taxes would be $69 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Annexation, he said, would take about three-fourths of the valuation of District 113 away, including the school house.

The special meeting was called by the West O Businessmen's Association and presided over by T. O. Haas, Association president. Haas emphasized that his group's only concern was to help solve the water problem, and the association took no position on either annexation or incorporation.

Plane Drops Baled Hay To Horse Trapped In Colorado Mountains

. . . Gunnison Mayor Foots The Feed And Flying Bill

GUNNISON, Colo. (AP) — A horse trapped by deep snows 17,000 feet up in the south-central Colorado mountains is being kept alive with hay dropped from a plane.

Wallace Powell, who spotted the horse in February, flies over the snow - coated ridge and drops a bale of hay to the horse. Ben Jorgensen, Gunnison mayor, is footing the bill for the hay and flight time and estimated Thursday it has cost him about $144 so far.

Jorgensen said it may be June before the horse can make its own way to lower elevations.

The hay is dropped to the horse a half a bale at a time.

Gordon Werren who operates a flying service here, makes the flights with Powell.

"He's always waiting for us," Warren said. "When we make a pass to drop the first half bale he runs around and kicks up his heels. By the time we make the second pass, he's eating and doesn't even look up."

Groundling Takes DC-3, Crashes It, Only Rips Pants

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A discharged airlines mechanic who had never flown before stole a DC-3 plane from Sao Paulo Airport Thursday and kept it in the air for three minutes.

He crash-landed in a residential neighborhood, narrowly missing a nursery packed with children, and walked away from the wrecked plane with the seat of his trousers torn.

Police said Olimpio Martins was fired Wednesday by Real-Aerovias Airlines and wanted to get even with the company. They gave this account of the incident:

Martins started drinking after he was fired. Early Thursday morning he returned to the airport and saw the empty DC-3 standing on the line ready for service. He climbed in.

Took Off

Witnesses who saw Martins board the plane said they thought he was still working for the company and had been assigned to work on the transport.

He closed the door, started the engines and took off. The plane ended its brief flight by pancaking down on the residential street, halting in front of a cluster of houses. Martins ran but gave himself up to police later.

The plane was badly damaged.

Police quoted Martins as saying he took the plane "for vengeance."

They said when he was asked if he realized the cost of the craft and the danger involved, he pointed to his torn pants and said:

"My trousers are spoiled. Who's going to pay for them? You may not realize it but I bought these trousers on installments and I just finished paying yesterday."

Some radioactivity was released and the building was evacuated. It was related by the Chicago operations office of the AEC.

An information officer of the commission said he did not know why the accident—which the AEC said occurred on Nov. 29—was not announced until now.

GRACE AND POODLE TAKE SHORT WALK, MUCH REST

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

ABOARD THE CONSTITUTION (AP)—A warm sun and mild Gulf Stream lured Grace Kelly from her shipboard suite for an hour Thursday, the second of her eight-day voyage to Monaco to become the bride of Prince Rainer III.

Aside from this afternoon excursion and a brief turn around the sundeck just before noon to walk her poodle, Oliver, Grace has remained secluded ever since the hectic embarkation of the bride and 80 members of the wedding party.

She passed the time Thursday having a shampoo and, with the aid of secretary Nadia Woods, tackling a huge pile of correspondence. The princess-to-be has received thousands of letters from well-wishers throughout the world and plans to spend an hour each day of the ocean voyage trying to answer as many as possible.

At a meeting with the two dozen reporters and photographers making the voyage on the Constitution, Morgan Hudgens of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who is acting as a sort of buffer between Grace and the eager press, revealed she and Rainer will have only three companions on their honeymoon. When they sail from Monaco on April 20, they will be accompanied on Rainier's yacht only by Rainier's two favorite pug dogs and Oliver.

Just now, Oliver, by special permission, is sharing Miss Kelly's suite instead of being quartered in the liner's kennel.

Friday she is to hold an informal news conference.

Meanwhile, in Monaco, uncertainty has arisen over just where Rainier will meet Grace. He plans to take his yacht, Deo Juvante III out to meet the Constitution, but just where depends on the weather and the captain of the liner.

She said Ray left the house last March 27.

More U.S. Aid Asked By Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany has called on the United States to provide an additional two billion dollars for the buildup of its new armed forces, Western Allied and German officials said Thursday.

The Germans want to receive one billion dollars as an outright gift and a second billion as a long-term credit, these sources said.

The billion-dollar credit would be repaid only when the Bundeswehr—federal armed forces—has been established at full strength in 1960.

$3 Billion

The German request, if granted, would bring the U. S. financial contribution to German rearmament to almost three billion dollars.

Officials said the United States already is committed to supply West Germany with approximately 833 million dollars worth of heavy weapons.

The timing and size of the new German request astonished Western authorities in Bonn. It came as the West German government was locked in controversy with the Western Powers over German financial aid to Allied troops stationed here.

3 Hurdles RemainOn Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional compromisers worked Thursday on final details of a catch all election year farm bill that still faced three big hurdles approval of the House, Senate and President Eisenhower.

"We have just about buttoned up everything. Sen. Ellender (D-La), chairman of the Senate-House conference committee said after two more closed-door sessions.

"I think the entire bill will be approved tomorrow—Friday—and be ready for the House first thing Monday," he added.

Eisenhower's statement at his news conference Wednesday that he will not insist on perfection raised hopes of compromise-seekers that he will sign the omnibus bill. There had been repeated warnings from Secretary of Agriculture Benson and other administration supporters that any return to higher rigid farm price supports would mean a veto.

The bulky bill now contains the broad $1,200,000,000 soil bank payment proposal asked on Jan. 9 by the President plus many higher price support provisions he and Benson have opposed.

Before it reaches his desk, the compromise bill must win approval of first the House and then the Senate. House Republican Leader Martin (Mass) and others have said efforts would be made to reshape the measure again on the House and Senate floors.

But Rep. Andresen (R-Minn), one of the conferees, said he knew of no such move and from what the President said yesterday I think he will sign it."

Benson Warns Of Bad Features In New Farm Bill

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (INS)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson charged Thursday night that political opportunists want to saddle the President's soil bank plan with unsound measures.

The farm chief, speaking before a home-town audience in the Latter-Day Saints Church Assembly Hall, warned that many bad features in the farm bill must be removed if the farmer is to be helped.

He said "If Congress delays too long, farmers face another year under the lengthening shadow of nearly nine billion dollars in surplus farm products."

Among items which Benson listed as unsound actions which have received support in Congress were:

1. Mandatory 90 per cent of parity supports for basic commodities.

2. Dual parity for wheat, corn, cotton and peanuts.

3. A multiple price plan for wheat.

4. Mandatory price supports for feed grains.

5. A boost in price supports for dairy products.

NEW ORLEANS (INS) — Four attractive New Orleans women active in Parent-teacher Association work, and the husbands of two of them refused Thursday to tell the U. S. Senate probers about alleged Communist affiliations.

All the witnesses except one woman invoked the Fifth Amendment.

One of the men, Richard Feise, told committee chairman Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss), "you might say that my position is one of interposition—you have taken that position yourself, sir, on another question."

Feise referred to Eastland's position on the segregation issue. The Mississippi Democrat is the acknowledged leader of the southern pro-segregationists.

Resistance To Incorporation, Annexation Voted

West O Group, Some Officials Await A Study

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

More than 200 West O businessmen and residents voted at a meeting Thursday night to resist either incorporation or annexation of their area pending a further study of the water problem confronting them.

It was disclosed at the meeting that petitions bearing the signatures of some 600 taxpayers within the area were obtained for incorporation. William Koehne, one of the businessmen behind the incorporation move, stated that petitions on hand were sufficient for incorporation of the area under study by the City Council for annexation to Lincoln.

"The incorporation move," Koehne said, "was started only as a move against annexation. We would prefer to remain as we are, but would favor incorporation over annexation."

A Weapon

The petitions, he said, will not be submitted to the county Board of Commissioners if the City Council does not pass the annexation ordinance on second reading Monday.

The ordinance has been read once by the Council. Three readings are needed to enact the measure into law.

Those at the meeting voted in favor of appointing a committee from the West O area to meet with city officials to discuss possible means of bringing additonal water into the area.

The majority of available legal opinion at the meeting was to the effect that incorporation approval would be mandatory on the county Board of Commissioners if more than 50 per cent of the taxpayers within the area to be incorporated signed in favor of such action.

Line Is Old

The water problem was set forth by City Public Works Director D. L. Erickson. The line now serving the West O area, he said, is 30 years old.

This line, he explained, can adequately serve its present 250 customers but no more. Also, he said, the line only extends as far west as the Raymond road and people living west of that point are in need of water.

Some of the property owners present explained that while good building sites close to downtown Lincoln were available in the area, no one would build on them because there was no water available. Without water, they said, the West O area will never grow.

Mayor Clark Jeary said he favored neither annexation or incorporation at this time. He said he would vote against annexation now. Additional study of the problems involved is needed, Jeary said.

The West O area, he said, would definitely be a financial loss for the city.

City Unopposed

The City of Lincoln, Jeary said, would not oppose incorporation of the West O area and in fact, "we would give you our blessing and help you all we could."

County Commissioner Chairman Russell Brehm told the group he was opposed to both annexation and incorporation but favored incorporation only "as a last resort." He said he felt the area was five to seven years away from being ready for annexation.

The group was reminded by Brehm that taxes in the West O area in School District 113 now total $48.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. If the area is annexed to Lincoln, he said, the taxes would be $69 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Annexation, he said, would take about three-fourths of the valuation of District 113 away, including the school house.

The special meeting was called by the West O Businessmen's Association and presided over by T. O. Haas, Association president. Haas emphasized that his group's only concern was to help solve the water problem, and the association took no position on either annexation or incorporation.

Plane Drops Baled Hay To Horse Trapped In Colorado Mountains

. . . Gunnison Mayor Foots The Feed And Flying Bill

GUNNISON, Colo. (AP) — A horse trapped by deep snows 13,000 feet up in the south-central Colorado mountains is being kept alive with hay dropped from a plane.

Wallace Powell, who spotted the horse in February, flies over the snow - coated ridge and drops a bale of hay to the horse. Ben Jorgensen, Gunnison mayor, is footing the bill for the hay and flight time and estimated Thursday it has cost him about $144 so far.

Jorgensen said it may be June before the horse can make its own way to lower elevations.

The hay is dropped to the horse a half a bale at a time.

Gordon Warren, who operates a flying service here, makes the flights with Powell.

"He's always waiting for us," Warren said. "When we make a pass to drop the first half bale he runs around and kicks up his heels. By the time we make the second pass, he's eating and doesn't even look up."

Groundling Takes DC-3, Crashes It, Only Rips Pants

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — A discharged airlines mechanic who had never flown before stole a DC-3 plane from Sao Paulo Airport Thursday and kept it in the air for three minutes.

He crash-landed in a residential neighborhood, narrowly missing a nursery packed with children, and walked away from the wrecked plane with the seat of his trousers torn.

Police said Olimpio Martins was fired Wednesday by Real-Aerovias Airlines and wanted to get even with the company. They gave this account of the incident:

Martins started drinking after he was fired. Early Thursday morning he returned to the airport and saw the empty DC-3 standing on the line ready for service. He climbed in.

Took Off

Witnesses who saw Martins board the plane said they thought he was still working for the company and had been assigned to work on the transport.

He closed the door, started the engines and took off. The plane ended its brief flight by pancaking down on the residential street, halting in front of a cluster of houses. Martins ran but gave himself up to police later.

The plane was badly damaged.

Police quoted Martins as saying he took the plane "for vengeance."

They said when he was asked if he realized the cost of the craft and the danger involved, he pointed to his torn pants and said:

"My trousers are spoiled. Who's going to pay for them? You may not realize it but I bought these trousers on installments and I just finished paying yesterday."

AEC Announces Mishap Damaged Idaho A-Reactor

CHICAGO (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission reported Thursday that a mishap at its reactor testing station in Idaho last November damaged the core of its experimental breeder reactor No. 1.

Some radioactivity was released and the building was evacuated, it was related by the Chicago operations office of the AEC.

An information officer of the commission said he did not know why the accident—which the AEC said occurred on Nov. 29—was not announced until now.

GRACE AND POODLE TAKE SHORT WALK, MUCH REST

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

ABOARD THE CONSTITUTION (AP)—A warm sun and mild Gulf Stream lured Grace Kelly from her shipboard suite for an hour Thursday, the second of her eight-day voyage to Monaco to become the bride of Prince Rainier III.

Aside from this afternoon excursion and a brief turn around the sundeck just before noon to walk her poodle, Oliver, Grace has remained secluded ever since the hectic embarkation of the bride and 80 members of the wedding party.

She passed the time Thursday having a shampoo and, with the aid of secretary Nadia Woods, tackling a huge pile of correspondence. The princess-to-be has received thousands of letters from well-wishers throughout the world and plans to spend an hour each day of the ocean voyage trying to answer as many as possible.

At a meeting with the two dozen reporters and photographers making the voyage on the Constitution, Morgan Hudgens of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who is acting as a sort of buffer between Grace and the eager press, revealed she and Rainer will have only three companions on their honeymoon. When they sail from Monaco on April 20, they will be accompanied on Raiier's yacht only by Rainier's two favorite pug dogs and Oliver.

Just now, Oliver, by special permission, is sharing Miss Kelly's suite instead of being quartered in the liner's kennel.

Friday she is to hold an informal news conference.

Meanwhile, in Monaco, uncertainty has arisen over just where Rainier will meet Grace. He plans to take his yacht, Deo Juvante III out to meet the Constitution, but just where depends on the weather and the captain of the liner.

Seeks Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jeff Donnell, George Goebel's television wife, announced her second final separation from her husband in real life, actor Aldo Ray.

"I'm very unhappy," the actress said, "I'll file for divorce this time."

The couple were married Sept. 30, 1954, and separated late last summer. Then they reconciled just before Christmas.

She said Ray left the house last March 27.

Feverish Marilyn Sent Home To Take Rest

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A virus infection, accompanied by a temperature of 101 degrees, sent Marilyn Monroe home from picture work at 20th Century Fox Studio Thursday.

Dr. Lee Siegel, studio physican, ordered her to bed and to remain away from work for the rest of the week.

More U.S. Aid Asked By Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany has called on the United States to provide an additional two billion dollars for the buildup of its new armed forces, Western Allied and German officials said Thursday.

The Germans want to receive one billion dollars as an outright gift and a second billion as a long-term credit, these sources said.

The billion-dollar credit would be repaid only when the Bundeswehr—federal armed forces—has been established at full strength in 1960.

$3 Billion

The German request, if granted, would bring the U. S. financial contribution to German rearmament to almost three billion dollars.

Officials said the United States already is committed to supply West Germany with approximately 833 million dollars worth of heavy weapons.

The timing and size of the new German request astonished Western authorities in Bonn. It came as the West German government was locked in controversy with the Western Powers over German financial aid to Allied troops stationed here.

Trike-Car Mishap Hurts 5-Year-Old

Patrick F. Crogan, 5, of 3016 Woodsdale, suffered hand lacerations and a loose tooth, in a tricycle-car collision between 30th and 31st on Woodsdale early Thursday evening.

He was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital where he was treated and later discharged.

Police said the boy was going from a private drive when his trike collided with a car traveling west on Woodsdale. The driver was Mrs. Mary C. Maguire, 34, of 1141 D.

3 Hurdles RemainOn Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional compromisers worked Thursday on final details of a catch-all election year farm bill that still faced three big hurdles: approval of the House, Senate and President Eisenhower.

"We have just about buttoned up everything," Sen. Ellender (D-La), chairman of the Senate-House conference committee said after two more closed-door sessions.

"I think the entire bill will be approved tomorrow—Friday—and be ready for the House first thing Monday," he added.

Eisenhower's statement at his news conference Wednesday that he will not insist on perfection raised hopes of compromise-seekers that he will sign the omnibus bill. There had been repeated warnings from Secretary of Agriculture Benson and other administration supporters that any return to higher rigid farm price supports would mean a veto.

The bulky bill now contains the broad $1,200,000,000 soil bank payment proposal asked on Jan. 9 by the President plus many higher price support provisions he and Benson have opposed.

Before it reaches his desk, the compromise bill must win approval of first the House and then the Senate. House Republican Leader Martin (Mass) and others have said efforts would be made to reshape the measure again on the House and Senate floors.

But Rep. Andresen (R-Minn), one of the conferees, said he knew of no such move and from what the President "said yesterday I think he will sign it."

Flurry Of Last-Minute Filings Fills Ballot For May Primary

...Many Demos File; Candidate List Longest Recently

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

In a flurry of heavy filings right up to the 5 p.m. deadline Thursday, Nebraska Democrats recovered much of the lead that early filings for the primary had given the Republicans. The May 15 ballot will carry more names than in any recent year.

The total number of filings reached 508, compared with 465 in the 1952 presidential year and 434 in 1948. There are always more candidates in presidential years because of the election of delegates to the national conventions.

For the Legislature there were 122 filings compared with the high of 185 in 1940. The 122 exceeded all years since 1940.

Sorrell

Most excitement followed the filing of a petition for Sorrell, Syracuse, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Probably ranking next in interest was the filing of Councilwoman Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, who seeks the 20th District Legislature seat. Mrs Orme filed, then withdrew the filing, resigned her city council post, and then refiled for the Legislature. The action was taken because of a possibility that her holding of city office might cause a protest against the filing.

Candidate Twice

Sorrell was the party nominee for governor in 1946 and 1948. The petitions filed for him carried Douglas County names and the filing fee was paid in Nebraska City.

In a telephone conversation, Sorrell expressed surprise and said he would "have to think it over first" before deciding whether to accept the filing. He has five days to make the decision.

Former state Sen. J V Benesch filed for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 2nd District. Four others are seeking the district's Demo nomination.

'No Commitments'

"I made no pledges or commitments to anyone for support," Benesch said. "No special interest can come between me and the voters."

He was born on a Nebraska farm and educated at the University of Nebraska and Creighton University. He is married and has one daughter. He is a veteran of World War I and a member of veterans organizations.

He has practiced law in Omaha for 13 years and was elected and re-elected to the Legislature. He invites "inspection" of his record.

Two Omaha Democrats filed for a place on the ticket as lieutenant governor, George E Cornwell and P A McPherson. Julius Peterson, and Alfred J. Anzalone both of Omaha, filed as Democrats for auditor. Stanley Long, Grand Island, who in the past has sought office as a Democrat, also filed for lieutenant governor.

Donald E Larson and Albert L. Geissinger, both Omaha Democrats, filed for the post of treasurer and V C Havorka, Sr., Randolph, filed as a Democrat for secretary of state. K A "Mac" McPherson, Omaha, filed for the Demo nomination as railway commissioner.

Griswold Files

Marvin Griswold, Lincoln, filed for the Republican nomination as lieutenant governor. Three others had previously filed.

Dean Nordin, Omaha insurance executive, filed petitions, which were accepted, for alternate delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Candidates filing for the Legislature on the last day included:

H M Burke, Omaha, 6th
Owen A Giles, Omaha, 6th
[illegible] Imperial, 47th
Arthur W [illegible], Omaha, 9th
[illegible] Sherman, Omaha, 9th
[illegible] Orme, Lincoln, 20th
Raymond S Johnson, Bradshaw, 31st
Hugh C Secor, Butte, 38th
Fred S [illegible], Craig, 21st
Robert V Ross, Cordova, 46th
Peter H Clausen, Fremont, 26th
Joseph John Soudrick, Omaha, 5th
Louis H Hester, Lincoln, 19th
Roswell B Storm, Jr, Lincoln, 20th
Thomas H Adams, Lincoln, 19th
Tom Dooley, Papillion, 43rd
C V Keller, Lincoln, 19th

Fred P Komarek, Hebron, filed for district judge in the 7th district and George W Dettrick, Norfolk in the 9th district. This office is non-partisan.

Wayne R Swanson, Omaha, filed as a Republican for the state railway commission.

Navy Puts Five New Jet Planes Through Paces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy put five of its newest jet planes through their paces Thursday aboard the huge aircraft carrier Forrestal off the coast of Virginia.

Initial catapult launchings from the world's largest warship were made by the Chance Vought supersonic Crusader fighter, the Douglas Sky Warrior heavy attack bomber, and the Grumman Tiger supersonic fighter.

The Skywarrior is the heaviest and most powerful airplane that has ever been flown from the deck of an aircraft carrier, the Navy said. Five of these nuclear weapon planes were delivered to the fleet early this week to start formation of the Navy's first heavy attack squadron.

Two other aircraft, the Douglas Skyray, a bat winged supersonic fighter, and a new version of the Grumman Cougar equipped to fire air-to-air missiles were given a workout off the Virginia coast.

The tests got under way Wednesday and continued Thursday, the Navy said.

Tax Case Dismissed

Star Farmer Wants To Own Dairy, 40 Cows In Indiana

By AL EDEE
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's most successful Future Farmer, Dale Groskurth of Pender, needs a little coaxing to stay on Nebraska soil.

His goal 120-acre dairy farm in Indiana with 40 head of Purebred Milking Shorthorns. He hopes to get this in "about a dozen years."

Being named Star Farmer for Nebraska by the state Future Farmers of America Thursday night at the FFA state convention on the ag college campus is evidence of Dale's farm record. Here are a few more impressive facts.

He has a $5,158 investment in a 190-acre farm, part of which he rents from his father, Clarence, six and three-fourths miles south of Pender.

24 Cows

He takes care of 24 dairy cows, 10 Hampshire and Duroc sows and litters, 20 acres of corn, 34 acres of pasture, 13 acres of oats and five acres of alfalfa.

He is winner of a blue ribbon with a Shorthorn shown at Aksarben and he took third place in showmanship and second place in judging at the State Fair. He was chapter Star Farmer and an officer in the local FFA.

Now, a year out of high school, Dale is earnest about developing a dairy herd for marketing Grade A milk.

"Dairying is the most profitable," he said, "and beef is the least profitable."

He added that he usually fed his beef for show, which cut the profit margin for him.

As for the future in farming Dale says "it has its ups and downs."

He believes that one must farm 120 acres at a minimum to make a profit, and "you couldn't make it then in diversified farming."

As for the $100 award Dale received for selection as the Nebraska Star Farmer, the highest award given by the state FFA—that money is to be plowed into his growing dairy herd.

Etna's New Blast May Start Worst Trouble In Years

CATANIA, Sicily (AP)—Volcanologists expressed fears Thursday flame-spouting Mt Etna's new eruption may become its most violent in many years.

Tongues of fire, visible along 40 miles of the famed Sicilian tourist coast from Catania to Taormina, shot 500 feet into the sky as the 10,705-foot-high volcano spewed out lava with explosions every second.

Experts from the University of Catania's Etna observatory said there was no immediate danger to villages at the foot of the mountain. But they added, "There could be danger if the violence of the eruption bursts open a new crater farther down the mountainside."

Apparently one such lava-spouting new mouth was ripped open 1,000 feet down the southeast slope in a terrific explosion. It was below the previous southeast crater, which burst into activity Wednesday for the first time in many years.

Flurry Of Last-Minute Filings Fills Ballot For May Primary

...Many Demos File; Candidate List Longest Recently

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

In a flurry of heavy filings right up to the 5 p.m. deadline Thursday, Nebraska Democrats recovered much of the lead that early filings for the primary had given the Republicans. The May 15 ballot will carry more names than in any recent year.

The total number of filings reached 508, compared with 465 in the 1952 presidential year and 434 in 1948. There are always more candidates in presidential years because of the election of delegates to the national conventions.

For the Legislature there were 122 filings compared with the high of 185 in 1940. The 122 exceeded all years since 1940.

Sorrell

Most excitement followed the filing of a petition for Sorrell, Syracuse, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Probably ranking next in interest was the filing of Councilwoman Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, who seeks the 20th District Legislature seat Mrs. Orme filed, then withdrew the filing, resigned her city council post, and then refiled for the Legislature. The action was taken because of a possibility that her holding of city office might cause a protest against the filing.

Candidate Twice

Sorrell was the party nominee for governor in 1946 and 1948. The petitions filed for him carried Douglas County names and the filing fee was paid in Nebraska City.

In a telephone conversation, Sorrell expressed surprise and said he would "have to think it over first" before deciding whether to accept the filing. He has five days to make the decision.

Former state Sen. J. V. Benesch filed for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 2nd District. Four others are seeking the district's Demo nomination.

'No Commitments'

"I made no pledges or commitments to anyone for support," Benesch said. "No special interest can come between me and the voters."

He was born on a Nebraska farm and educated at the University of Nebraska and Creighton University. He is married and has one daughter. He is a veteran of World War I and a member of veterans organizations.

He has practiced law in Omaha for 13 years and was elected and re-elected to the Legislature. He invites "inspection" of his record.

Two Omaha Democrats filed for a place on the ticket as lieutenant governor, George E. Cornwell and R. A. McPherson. Julius Peterson, and Alfred J. Anzalone both of Omaha, filed as Democrats for auditor. Stanley Long, Grand Island, who in the past has sought office as a Democrat, also filed for lieutenant governor.

Donald E. Larson and Albert L. Geissinger, both Omaha Democrats, filed for the post of treasurer and V.C. Havorka, Sr., Randolph, filed as a Democrat for secretary of state. K. A. "Mac" McPherson, Omaha, filed for the Demo nomination as railway commissioner.

Griswold Files

Marvin Griswold, Lincoln, filed for the Republican nomination as lieutenant governor. Three others had previously filed.

Dean Nordin, Omaha insurance executive, filed petitions, which were accepted, for alternate delegate to the Democratic national convention.

Candidates filing for the Legislature on the last day included:

B. M. Bernie Burke, Omaha 6th.
Owen A. Giles, Omaha, 4th.
J. P. McLain, Imeperial, 37th.
Arthur W. O'Leary, Omaha, 9th.
John McKernan, Omaha, 9th.
Fern Hubbard Orme, Lincoln, 20th.
Raymond S. Johnson, Beatrice, 21st.
Hugo C. Sieler, Butte, 28th.
Francis E. Craig, Crete, 23rd.
Robert Y. Ross, Gordon, 40th.
Peter H. Claussen, Leigh, 16th.
Joseph John Skudlarek, Omaha, 8th.
Louis H. Hester, Lincoln, 19th.
Russell R. Strom, Jr., Lincoln, 20th.
Thomas H. Adams, Lincoln, 19th.
Tom Dooley, Papillion, 3rd.
C. V. Keller, Lincoln, 19th.

Fred P. Komarek, Hebron, filed for district judge in the 7th district and George W. Dettrick, Norfolk in the 9th district. This office is non-partisan.

Wayne R. Swanson, Omaha, filed as a Republican for the state railway commission.

Navy Puts Five New Jet Planes Through Paces

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy put five of its newest jet planes through their paces Thursday aboard the huge aircraft carrier Forrestal off the coast of Virginia.

Initial catapult launchings from the world's largest warship were made by the Chance-Vought supersonic Crusader fighter, the Douglas Sky Warrior heavy attack bomber, and the Grumman Tiger supersonic fighter.

The Skywarrior is the heaviest and most powerful airplane that has ever been flown from the deck of an aircraft carrier, the Navy said. Five of these nuclear weapon planes were delivered to the fleet early this week to start formation of the Navy's first heavy attack squadron.

Two other aircraft, the Douglas Skyray, a bat-winged supersonic fighter, and a new version of the Grumman Cougar equipped to fire air-to-air missiles were given a workout off the Virginia coast.

The tests got under way Wednesday and continued Thursday, the Navy said.

Tax Case Dismissed

To Be Envied

It is easy to attribute formidable powers to an adversary and in that vein it is becoming too popular to point to Communist successes, especially in the field of influencing people.

It was a poor showing of the hands when the Reds of Eastern Europe decided to woo for the return of its expatriates.

Lincoln has 700 Latvians whose homeland is Communist dominated. When they received urging to return home there was no mass exodus. The invitations rather drew a laugh. As one of the Latvians explained that was one of the reasons for rejection. One can laugh in this free country, which is worth more than all the yearnings for the familiar sights of a far off homeland where laughing has ceased.

Native-born Lincolnites are happy to learn of the contentment of the local Latvians and the thoughtful envy them, too. Their experience with Communism has given them a rich and living lesson in the deep significance of the freedom and liberties. One who has had such things taken away and then has regained them in full abundance feels and knows just a little more than one without the experience. We doubt that the contented Lincoln Latvians are nearly so worried about the so-called Red propaganda successes as the rest of us.

In The Name Of Consistency

Nebraska boasts of more than 5,000 enthusiastic clean-handed, clear-minded young men holding an ardent interest in agriculture.

They belong to the Future Farmers of America.

Their representatives are in Lincoln for their 1956 state convention and 107 of the number are here for an even more distinguished purpose. They will receive the degree of State Farmer. It is an award of special distinction, limited to 2 per cent of the membership and based on outstanding agricultural achievement. It is interesting to note that to become eligible for the distinction an FFA boy must have earned at least $500 from an authorized but self-propelled farming program. And at least $500 of such earning must be actively reinvested in farming. There are other requirements, too, such as active participation in FFA together with searching tests touching on the lad's general knowledge of agriculture.

Nebraska rejoices in a young citizenry so able and so well schooled in the state's principle activity. It bodes well for the future. And it reminds, in these days of so much discussion of delinquency, that youth for the most part is living enlightened and constructive lives, becoming better fitted for adult responsibilities than many of earlier generations.

We hope that by the measure of wisdom and citizenship the present adult generation will not lose too much by comparison. We are reminded that as these young farmers give their impressive demonstration of fitness to carry on agriculture, we are currently giving them a picture of poor farm economics leading to threat of future industrialization of vast acreages at the expense of the vital small acreage farm. In short we are honoring tomorrow's small unit farmer while permitting a drift that could deny him the farm he dreams about. We wonder what he has to say about that?

So Kind Of Him

On this page yesterday, the heads of two national farm organizations—Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, and James G. Patton, president of the Farmers Union—made public their views on the farm bill which is now being given the final pats by a conference committee of the United States Senate and the House.

It is no surprise that Mr. Patton insists that the conference committee is doing a very difficult job in a very creditable fashion, or that he is gratified with the tentative decisions which the conferees have approved thus far. Mr. Patton deserves a great deal of credit for his fight on behalf of the American farmer in insisting that the farmer receive a fair share of the national income. Whatever may have been the understanding between President Eisenhower and his secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, we doubt that the President will go through with his previously announced determination to veto any bill carrying a provision for price supports at 90 per cent of parity. And a Congress under pressure may be inclined to think a second time before it gives Mr. Benson the flexible price support program he has demanded.

The surprise comes in the magnificent statement by the master of the National Grange, Newsom. He says that the Agricultural Act of 1956, now shaping up in the conference committee, will have the support of the Grange. The organization which he heads not only will push for its passage in both houses of Congress, but will urge strongly that the President sign it.

"It is not a perfect bill," Newsom writes for INS. "It is a good bill. It's definitely not a bad bill . . . The decline in 1955 farm income in most areas and in many communities is far more serious than opponents to the bill realize. This decline clearly dictates a necessity of appropriate emergency action. The bill, as it is now taking shape, embraces such action . . . Obviously the bill will not solve the farm problem, but it will bolster agricultural income for the next two years. Many who oppose the bill have called it 'unworkable,' a 'catch-all,' and 'a hodge-podge' measure. These are unwarranted and tricky charges."

These in at least one instance are charges voiced by President Eisenhower, no doubt on the advice of his secretary of agriculture, who has shown no hesitation in describing the legislation being drawn by Congress as "unworkable."

And when it comes to voting upon the measure, we trust that Nebraska's Carl Curtis, Nebraska's Roman Hruska and Nebraska's House delegation, with the single exception of Rep. Weaver, will take a tumble to themselves and listen to the master of the Grange. Rep. Chase already has indicated his intention to vote for the farm bill emerging from the conference committee.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Beg pardon, Dear Reader, but this is a most abject, shamefaced apology for a most grievous mistake. Through the years the old saw has had it that the rich were getting richer, and the poor are getting poorer. Seems as how the figures establish the fact that directly the opposite statement could be true. The rich are getting poorer.

★

There is nothing to become too much excited over. This is not a national emergency. But a news service imparts the information that Uncle Sam could be running short of millionaires. The word "could" is used advisedly. In this case, it applies solely to an annual income of a million dollars, not to the aggregate wealth which the individual possesses. The internal revenue service reported that in 1952, the year Ike took over the White House, there were only 148 individuals income tax returns computed in terms of seven figures. That compared with 171 in 1951, and the all-time high of 219 in 1950, the year which found Harry S. Truman in mid-stream. Still, these later millionaires were not doing too badly. One hundred forty-eight were reported in 1952, compared to 71 in 1945, 94 in 1946, 114 in 1947, 149 in 1948, the year the little man from Missouri gave Congress a real tongue-lashing, and 120 in 1949. Now, who are these lucky Americans with annual incomes of a million or more? That is a secret—a carefully guarded secret. It is against both the rules and the practices of the Internal Revenue Bureau to make names public. But the bureau did reveal that in the year of 1952, nearly 18,000 American business men and industrial leaders reported taxable earnings of more than $100,000. That was out of a total of 56 million tax returns filed in a presidential year four years ago, of which only 44 million called for the payment of any taxes. In the aggregate, they called for $28 billion in income taxes, an average of $649 each.

No National Emergency

But the plight of these 148 millionaire incomes in 1952 was so touching—so utterly heart-breaking. Their aggregate income after generous big business deductions was $289 million, on which they paid a tax of $180 million for an average of $1,217,541 each. Even if they didn't have anything left over to pay for dinner, they did not have to worry about cakes and coffee for breakfast. And how did they get their dough? Only five millions of it was in the nature of wages and salaries. Dividends accounted for $132 million, while smaller items such as business profits and rents accounted for the rest.

★

New York state, following its long custom, led all of the 48 states of the Union in the reports revealing million-dollar incomes yearly. It had 43. Pennsylvania was second with 17, Illinois with 13. Believe it or not, oil-and-gas-impoverished Texas had only 11; California, for all of its Tidelands, only nine. Then there was tiny Delaware, Florida, Michigan and Ohio, which used to boast of being the "Mother of Presidents," with six each. Connecticut reported five; Indiana and Virginia, three; New Jersey, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Oklahoma, two apiece — and Arizona, Maryland, Minnesota, Nevada, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Wyoming, the District of Columbia—and more important, Nebraska—one each. Who is this fabulous Nebraskan? It's a secret. Only the Bureau of Internal Revenue knows and under rigid provisions of the income tax law, the bureau isn't telling.

Knickerbocker Old Father

Still another far-right revolution. The Nebraskan listed in the bureau's report is not the editor of this column.

Chance To Learn

An ill-starred America experienced two major commercial air crashes within a week, one in Pittsburgh, the other over the Puget Sound.

Fortunately both spared a great number of passengers due to the nature of the crashes and to the proximity of rescue facilities.

It was noteworthy in both that a minimum of panic contributed substantially to th saving of life. Able-bodied survivors inside the ships worked to save the less fortunate—a good reminder to all who survive accidents where others are seriously injured.

If there is a bright side to tragedy such as the two plane accidents this one will be in the survival of so many who went through the experience. Their description when given to the board of inquiry may throw considerable new light on the nature of air accidents and in that way contribute to future safety. A great deal of flying knowledge has come by trial and error which has extracted its price in lives. It is a difficult way to pioneer, but reminds one that if the present survivors can point to one new fact influencing accidents they will extend their life-saving beyond the scene of the recent accidents, projecting it into the unlimited future.

WASHINGTON — U. S. Ambassador Chip Bohlen took a trip from Moscow to Rome the other day, officially on a vacation. Real reason behind his trip, however, was to send a secret cablegram to Eisenhower on the turmoil inside Russia. He went to Rome in order to use the high speed transmitter of the American embassy there so the Russians under no circumstances could interfere with his message.

Nubbin of Bohlen's report was that Marshal Georgi Zhukov, co-commander of Germany with Eisenhower after V-E day, May emerge as the most powerful man in Russia.

Unrest has spread through the Soviet, Bohlen wired. How serious it is is difficult to guess, and American observers have to do just that — guess. However, Bohlen indicated he was not guessing when he reported the army is solidly behind Zhukov and that Zhukov has become the No. 2 man in Russia, second only to party Boss Khrushchev.

Bohlen reported that Khrushchev can probably consolidate his power despite the turmoil over Stalin and remain in office for the time being, depending upon when and if Marshal Zhukov wants to strike.

Note — Even in Moscow, old men and women openly cry in front of Stalin's tomb, refusing to believe he was the tyrant and blunderer he is now pictured.

HATE-MONGERS

You won't read about them in the headlines, but some of the hate groups so active in the 1952 campaign are already maneuvering to snipe at Eisenhower, Ketauver and Stevenson.

The reason you won't read about them is because they have adopted the technique of latching on to some of the splinter party groups who want to get away from the American two-party system and veer over to the French system of myriad parties and myriad confusion.

For some reason or other, retired admirals and generals seem to be the easiest prey for these splinter movements. Perhaps it's because they don't understand politics. Some of them are also naively putting themselves in the position of opposing their own ex-military man in the White House.

One of these splinter movements is led by Clarence Manion, ex-dean of the Notre Dame law school, whom Ike fired as chairman of the Commission on Inter-Governmental Relations and who has now organized "for America." Manion is no hatist, but a lot of hatists are clinging to his coattails.

Allied with Manion is Gen. Robert Wood of Sears, Roebuck, former head of "America First."

Manion, Wood, et al are trying to get enough independent slates of presidential electors picked to break the weight of the two major parties and throw the final election into the House of Representatives. There they hope anti-Eisenhower Republicans and Dixiecrats could swing the balance of power.

Gen. George Stratemeyer, retired, is part of this movement. Adm. John Crommelin, who was eased out of the Navy during its B-36 row with the Air Force, is another malcontent. He is trying to run against veteran Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama.

Note — a secret meeting held in Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel on January 27 to discuss ways of stopping Ike included Gregory Hart of New York, Myron Fagan of Los Angeles, and West Hooker of Larchmont, N. Y. They agreed on various tactics, both open and underground, aimed at the candidates of the two major parties.

Williams Hits At Shadow Authority

NEW YORK — Michigan's bowtied Gov. S. Mennen Williams was a late starter in our recent special series of interviews with leading Democrats on how they would go about beating President Eisenhower next November. But he has just made a strong finish with a strong statement, and we fell it deserves an airing. We asked for it.

The youthful governor's point is that the Democrats can beat Ike only if the party puts forward a man of vigor and a wielder of bold policies.

"If the voters are presented with a choice between Tweedledum and Tweedledee they may well choose to bear the ills they now have," he wired this reporter. "The Eisenhower administration can be beaten — but only by a militant Democratic party offering the people an opportunity for a better future.

"There are more Democrats in this country than Republicans. The Republicans can sometimes win by pretending to be like Democrats, which they successfully did in 1952. But I don't think the Democrats can win by pretending to be like Republicans. That's why I've been critical of so-called moderation and compromise on issues."

Williams, who would have strong labor backing if the nomination drops in his lap at Chicago in August, feels that the Republicans' "one great strength" is the personal popularity of the President.

"But I don't believe that popularity will be the determining factor, in view of the fact that the presidency already has been made a parttime job under Mr. Eisenhower, and a vote for him will be a vote to continue that dangerous condition," Williams states.

"The voters may like him personally as much as they ever did, but it is quite another thing, in the privacy of the polling booth, to turn over the nation's destiny to the crew of presidential subordinates who will continue to run the country if he is re-elected."

Williams, like the other Democratic hopefuls, sounds off on the Eisenhower-Benson farm program, calls the President's administration one devoted to "big business, and predicts that the small businessman and labor will be "given the same treatment the farmers got" if the President is returned to the White House.

He touches one point not noted by Messrs. Kefauver, Stevenson, Harriman, Truman, Meyner and Butler in the aforementioned series.

"Unquestionably the strongest Republican argument in 1952 was the claim that Democrats were the party of war," Williams states. "People were wearied and shocked by the sacrifices of the Korean war — the first war the United States has fought simply to keep its commitments to other nations and preserve international order—and it was easy for the Republicans to exploit the nation's desire for peace.

"But this is beginning to wear thin as the public reads daily of increased tension in the Near East, the Far East, North Africa, and the other danger spots. It is becoming apparent that we have escaped war not because of, but in spite of, the blundering administration foreign policy. The spectacle of a so-called 'peace party' boasting of the occasions on which it was led an unsuspecting nation to the brink of war is not a spectacle which will impress those who want a lasting peace."

Farm Revolt Was Felt In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON — A swelling farm revolt has rubbed off on President Eisenhower in traditionally Republican Wisconsin.

The state's primary vote both confirms the trend established in Minnesota and suggests that Republicans are unduly complacent about the President's invulnerability to ordinary political considerations.

Since both Senator Estes Kefauver and the President were for all practical purposes, unopposed in the Wisconsin primaries, the voting was viewed as a popularity contest. Both parties belatedly realized this after the Minnesota upset.

The Democrats did little and spent no money. Republicans staged a last minute pro-Eisenhower barrage. This, plus a $300,000 expenditure by the National committee in farm state advertising, had the effect of moving the President into the line of fire, a place he hitherto had managed to avoid.

Now it appears that Kefauver has polled 47 per cent of the total Wisconsin primary vote as against 27.7 per cent in 1952. Most of his gains came from the farming areas of the state.

The Milwaukee Journal pointed out last Sunday that in recent presidential primaries. Republican vote totals had been two and three times as large as the Democratic total.

It suggested that Republicans might crow about getting 75 per cent of Tuesday's total for the President. Instead, he got 55.4 per cent while a right wing GOP candidate got only 2.6 per cent.

According to the Journal, the Democrats might justly claim a victory if Kefauver polled 40 per cent, a figure he slightly exceeded.

Had traditionally Democratic Milwaukee returned its usual majorities, Kefauver might have done better and even reached the halfway mark. But that city, with a hot mayoralty campaign on its hands, voted heavily and still gave the President a 25,000-vote edge over the senator.

This is an upset possibly indicating an Eisenhower appeal in the cities. The two Milwaukee congressional districts in the past have sent Democrats to the House with substantial majorities. Their fences may need mending.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

On Worm-Digging, Ducks, Spring And Yokels

By MONA B. PARKER

The only kind of iron curtain the Orleans Chronicle favors would be one to be erected "between Old Winter and Miss Spring to keep them from trespassing upon each other's territory."

☆ ☆ ☆

Summerlike temperatures a week ago brought out a rash of fishermen in the Spalding neighborhood, all eager to try their hand at snaring the wary bass. From all reports to reach the Enterprise, only one of the ambitious anglers had fish to show for his efforts. But did the others feel that the afternoon had been a waste of time? Not a bit of it . . .

"Didn't their lines get a good soaking? And didn't they get a good taste of early, extremely warm sunshine and a lazy afternoon spent in their favorite sport?"

Howard Hamilton of the Nebraska Signal has given a bait-formula to fellow Genevans that seems to be meeting with high favor and good results. To secure the necessary worms with a minimum of effort, "you shove the spade into the ground and then tap it or wiggle it. The worms are supposed to crawl to the surface."

Thus, also, Mr. Hamilton explains, you can dig right in the middle of a flower bed and never have a family argument over it.

Editor Ken McCormick of Stanton noted the above-ground meanderings of other of nature's creatures. In a country drive, he saw so many ducks in flight that "the sky was black with them. . . . There ought to be a spring season on ducks. Somehow, they must take a different route when they go back south in the fall."

Four young gilts on the Leonard Lautenschlager farm near Palmer apparently have never heard of Secretary Benson and his theory on farm surpluses. The four farrowed a total of 51 pigs. Sire of the pigs is a Landrace male hog, a breed brought to this country from Norway and Sweden a few years ago.

Looking to next November there were 750 Thanksgiving tables which took a bit of a jolt in brooder house fires at the Allen Reimers farm. The West Point raiser lost 500 turkery in one early-morning blaze, and again 250 of the birds plus a season's profits went up in smoke.

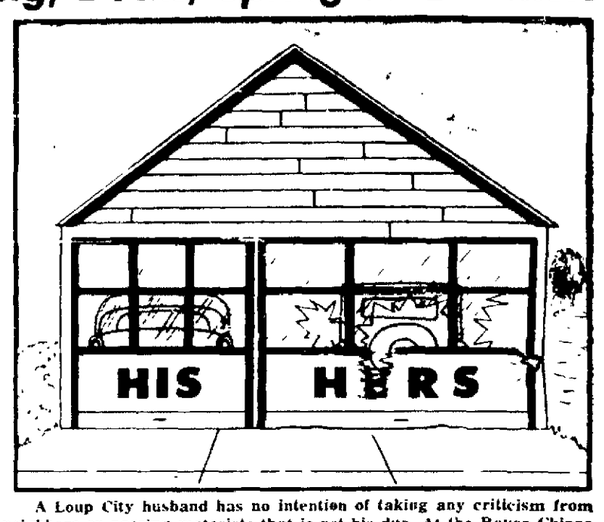
Henry Trysla hasn't much patience with the easterners who chuckle at the individual with hayseed in his hair who is so easily identified in Chicago or New York "by the way we stand in awe at the sight of skyscraper buildings."

But the tables were turned when the Dakota County Star editor saw a couple stop their Pennsylvania-licensed car and stand gawking along the fence of a feed lot full of fat Hereford cattle.

"Dern easterners, make fun of us, will they? They haven't even seen a full-grown steer."

The Hooper Sentinel's "Mrs." is glad to see April put in an appearance, not alone because it means spring but because "March was certainly a hectic month on the pocketbook." What with various drives and taxes and new outfits and graduation expense and soon, as one man put it, "when you put your hand in your pocket, there was nothing there."



A Loup City husband has no intention of taking any criticism from neighbors or passing motorists that is not his due. At the Royce Chipps home in the east part of the city, the two doors of the double garage are distinctly and carefully labeled "His" and "Hers." The Sherman County Times made a point of relating that of the two cars owned by the family—one a 1931 Model A Ford and the other a 1950 Roadmaster Buick—it is the aged vehicle which is parked behind the door. "Hers."

On Good Government

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Republicans are lucky in one way—that they have no issue to divide them before the national convention. The Democrats, on the other hand, have a very divisive issue. Some may regret the condition but it is well to have it so because it gives them the opportunity to settle an important question leading to good government. It is the question of whether the people can select the party candidates or whether city and party bosses select them. This issue appeals to independent voters as well as to regulars of either party. The people's interest is in good government only. The bosses want selfish favors.

Stevenson now finds his position distasteful, and would like to soft-pedal the idea that he is the candidate of the bosses. However, he cannot when all the papers say he is. One Washington forecast says:

"Stevenson is still the choice of the behind-the-scenes wire-pullers."

The forecast also says:

"Kefauver is definitely out despite his obvious popularity in primary balloting."

It is really fortunate that there is a candidate with the ability and the untiring energy and determination that Estes Kefauver displays. His is the promise of a government without corruption and if elected he will be indebted only to the electorate. His principles speak for themselves and I predict that he will be nominated in spite of opposing forces. Other party candidates may pussy-foot but they are going to want a vote-getter to head the ticket.

CHARLES R. HERRICK

Hoover And Congress

Stanton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I noticed an article recently by a Lincoln man, telling us that Hitler brought prosperity to this country by starting World War II.

A Democratic Congress now is doing for Ike what a Democratic Congress did for Mr. Hoover. Hoover was elected by a landslide, had a majority of 100 in the lower house of Congress; also a majority in the Senate was given him in 1928. Things went to pieces after he took charge, so the people decided they had better call his Republican Congress home and replace it with Democrats. Don't think for a minute that Hoover did not start out with all the equipment a President was entitled to. Even the Supreme Court was composed of a majority of his party affiliation.

OLD-TIMER

Forgotten Man

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: News headlines recently said that the conferees on the agricultural bill agreed on a gift to the needy of $17 billion. Just who are the "needy" in this USA? We will wait and see how these gentlemen vote on the revision of the social security bill when it comes up for passage. Both houses have voted high parity for domestic wheat used for human food. It's a poor rule that sees only one element of citizens in this country. Let's have a little thought for the forgotten man on social security.

"STAY FOR SUPPER"

We were a numerous family in the good old days of yore,
But no matter how crowded the table seemed there was always room for more.
And Saturday was baking day for cookies and cakes and pies,
When mother was loading the pantry shelves and tempting our greedy eyes.
For Sunday brought in a merry group and for supper they always stayed.
Till the table grew to a banquet board with places for twenty laid.

"Stay for supper!" Is that phrase lost? So seldom I hear it now.
Can't the tables be stretched, as we used to do, or have we forgotten how?
Don't the mothers cook as our mothers did? Don't they load up the pantry shelves
At the end of the week with a little more good food than they'll need themselves?
When Sunday comes don't the friends drop in, in that good old-fashioned way
Just for a visit; but, deep in their hearts, don't they know they'll be asked to stay?

Why, Sunday brought us the sister's beaus and my brothers' friends and mine.
'Twas a stormy day and a dull one, too, that we didn't feed eight or nine.
And I think of the mother and think of the dad who looked to the day of rest
With food for an army, if one should call, at a time that they loved the best.
Then none was the merriest place of all, those days that have gone before,
For no matter how crowded the table grew we always had room for more.

To Be Envied

It is easy to attribute formidable powers to an adversary and in that vein it is becoming too popular to point to Communist successes, especially in the field of influencing people.

It was a poor showing of the hands when the Reds of Eastern Europe decided to woo for the return of its expatriates.

Lincoln has 700 Latvians whose homeland is Communist dominated. When they received urging to return home there was no mass exodus. The invitations rather drew a laugh. As one of the Latvians explained that was one of the reasons for rejection. One can laugh in this free country, which is worth more than all the yearnings for the familiar sights of a far off homeland where laughing has ceased.

Native-born Lincolnites are happy to learn of the contentment of the local Latvians and the thoughtful envy them, too. Their experience with Communism has given them a rich and living lesson in the deep significance of the freedom and liberties. One who has had such things taken away and then has regained them in full abundance feels and knows just a little more than one without the experience. We doubt that the contented Lincoln Latvians are nearly so worried about the so-called Red propaganda successes as the rest of us.

In The Name Of Consistency

Nebraska boasts of more than 5,000 enthusiastic clean-handed, clear-minded young men holding an ardent interest in agriculture.

They belong to the Future Farmers of America.

Their representatives are in Lincoln for their 1956 state convention and 107 of the number are here for an even more distinguished purpose. They will receive the degree of State Farmer. It is an award of special distinction, limited to 2 per cent of the membership and based on outstanding agricultural achievement. It is interesting to note that to become eligible for the distinction an FFA boy must have earned at least $500 from an authorized but self-propelled farming program. And at least $500 of such earning must be actively reinvested in farming. There are other requirements, too, such as active participation in FFA together with searching tests touching on the lad's general knowledge of agriculture.

Nebraska rejoices in a young citizenry so able and so well schooled in the state's principle activity. It bodes well for the future. And it reminds, in these days of so much discussion of delinquency, that youth for the most part is living enlightened and constructive lives, becoming better fitted for adult responsibilities than many of earlier generations.

We hope that by the measure of wisdom and citizenship the present adult generation will not lose too much by comparison. We are reminded that as these young farmers give their impressive demonstration of fitness to carry on agriculture, we are currently giving them a picture of poor farm economics leading to threat of future industrialization of vast acreages at the expense of the vital small acreage farm. In short we are honoring tomorrow's small unit farmer while permitting a drift that could deny him the farm he dreams about. We wonder what he has to say about that?

So Kind Of Him

On this page yesterday, the heads of two national farm organizations—Herschel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, and James G. Patton, president of the Farmers Union—made public their views on the farm bill which is now being given the final pats by a conference committee of the United States Senate and the House.

It is no surprise that Mr. Patton insists that the conference committee is doing a very difficult job in a very creditable fashion, or that he is gratified with the tentative decisions which the conferees have approved thus far. Mr. Patton deserves a great deal of credit for his fight on behalf of the American farmer in insisting that the farmer receive a fair share of the national income. Whatever may have been the understanding between President Eisenhower and his secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, we doubt that the President will go through with his previously announced determination to veto any bill carrying a provision for price supports at 90 per cent of parity. And a Congress under pressure may be inclined to think a second time before it gives Mr. Benson the flexible price support program he has demanded.

The surprise comes in the magnificent statement by the master of the National Grange, Newsom. He says that the Agricultural Act of 1956, now shaping up in the conference committee, will have the support of the Grange. The organization which he heads not only will push for its passage in both houses of Congress, but will urge strongly that the President sign it.

"It is not a perfect bill," Newsom writes for INS. "It is a good bill. It's definitely not a bad bill . . . The decline in 1955 farm income in most areas and in many communities is far more serious than opponents to the bill realize. This decline clearly dictates a necessity of appropriate emergency action. The bill, as it is now taking shape, embraces such action . . . Obviously the bill will not solve the farm problem, but it will bolster agricultural income for the next two years. Many who oppose the bill have called it 'unworkable,' a 'catch-all,' and 'a hodge-podge' measure. These are unwarranted and tricky charges."

These in at least one instance are charges voiced by President Eisenhower, no doubt on the advice of his secretary of agriculture, who has shown no hesitation in describing the legislation being drawn by Congress as "unworkable."

And when it comes to voting upon the measure, we trust that Nebraska's Carl Curtis, Nebraska's Roman Hruska and Nebraska's House delegation, with the single exception of Rep. Weaver, will take a tumble to themselves and listen to the master of the Grange. Rep. Chase already has indicated his intention to vote for the farm bill emerging from the conference committee.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Beg pardon, Dear Reader, but this is a most abject, shamefaced apology for a most grievous mistake. Through the years the old saw has had it that the rich were getting richer, and the poor are getting poorer. Seems as how the figures establish the fact that directly the opposite statement could be true. The rich are getting poorer.

★

There is nothing to become too much excited over. This is not a national emergency. But a news service imparts the information that Uncle Sam could be running short of millionaires. The word "could" is used advisedly. In this case, it applies solely to an annual income of a million dollars, not to the aggregate wealth which the individual possesses. The internal revenue service reported that in 1952, the year Ike took over the White House, there were only 148 individuals income tax returns computed in terms of seven figures. That compared with 171 in 1951, and the all-time high of 219 in 1950, the year which found Harry S. Truman in mid-stream. Still, these later millionaires were not doing too badly. One hundred forty-eight were reported in 1952, compared to 71 in 1945, 94 in 1946, 114 in 1947, 149 in 1948, the year the little man from Missouri gave Congress a real tongue-lashing, and 120 in 1949. Now, who are these lucky Americans with annual incomes of a million or more? That is a secret—a carefully guarded secret. It is against both the rules and the practices of the Internal Revenue Bureau to make names public. But the bureau did reveal that in the year of 1952, nearly 18,000 American business men and industrial leaders reported taxable earnings of more than $100,000. That was out of a total of 56 million tax returns filed in a presidential year four years ago, of which only 44 million called for the payment of any taxes. In the aggregate, they called for $28 billion in income taxes, an average of $649 each.

But the plight of these 148 millionaire incomes in 1952 was so touching—so utterly heart-breaking. Their aggregate income after generous big business deductions was $289 million, on which they paid a tax of $180 million for an average of $1,217,541 each. Even if they didn't have anything left over to pay for dinner, they did not have to worry about cakes and coffee for breakfast. And how did they get their dough? Only five millions of it was in the nature of wages and salaries. Dividends accounted for $132 million, while smaller items such as business profits and rents accounted for the rest.

★

New York state, following its long custom, led all of the 48 states of the Union in the reports revealing million-dollar incomes yearly. It had 43. Pennsylvania was second with 17, Illinois with 13. Believe it or not, oil-and-gas-impoverished Texas had only 11; California, for all of its Tidelands, only nine. Then there was tiny Delaware, Florida, Michigan and Ohio, which used to boast of being the "Mother of Presidents," with six each. Connecticut reported five; Indiana and Virginia, three; New Jersey, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Oklahoma, two apiece — and Arizona, Maryland, Minnesota, Nevada, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Wyoming, the District of Columbia—and more important, Nebraska—one each. Who is this fabulous Nebraskan? It's a secret. Only the Bureau of Internal Revenue knows and under rigid provisions of the income tax law, the bureau isn't telling.

Knickerbocker Old Father

Still another forthright revelation. The Nebraskan listed in the bureau's report is not the author of this column.

Chance To Learn

An ill-starred America experienced two major commercial air crashes within a week, one in Pittsburgh, the other over the Puget Sound.

Fortunately both spared a great number of passengers due to the nature of the crashes and to the proximity of rescue facilities.

It was noteworthy in both that a minimum of panic contributed substantially to th saving of life. Able-bodied survivors inside the ships worked to save the less fortunate—a good reminder to all who survive accidents where others are seriously injured.

If there is a bright side to tragedy such as the two plane accidents this one will be in the survival of so many who went through the experience. Their description when given to the board of inquiry may throw considerable new light on the nature of air accidents and in that way contribute to future safety. A great deal of flying knowledge has come by trial and error which has extracted its price in lives. It is a difficult way to pioneer, but reminds one that if the present survivors can point to one new fact influencing accidents they will extend their life-saving beyond the scene of the recent accidents, projecting it into the unlimited future.

Williams Hits At Shadow Authority

NEW YORK — Michigan's bow-tied Gov. S. Mennen Williams was a late starter in our recent special series of interviews with leading Democrats on how they would go about beating President Eisenhower next November. But he has just made a strong finish with a strong statement, and we fell it deserves an airing. We asked for it.

The youthful governor's point is that the Democrats can beat Ike only if the party puts forward a man of vigor and a wielder of bold policies.

"If the voters are presented with a choice between Tweedledum and Tweedledee they may well choose to bear the ills they now have," he wired this reporter. "The Eisenhower administration can be beaten — but only by a militant Democratic party offering the people an opportunity for a better future.

"There are more Democrats in this country than Republicans. The Republicans can sometimes win by pretending to be like Democrats, which they successfully did in 1952. But I don't think the Democrats can win by pretending to be like Republicans. That's why I've been critical of so-called moderation and compromise on issues."

Williams, who would have strong labor backing if the nomination drops in his lap at Chicago in August, feels that the Republicans' "one great strength" is the personal popularity of the President.

"But I don't believe that popularity will be the determining factor, in view of the fact that the presidency already has been made a parttime job under Mr. Eisenhower, and a vote for him will be a vote to continue that dangerous condition," Williams states.

"The voters may like him personally as much as they ever did, but it is quite another thing, in the privacy of the polling booth, to turn over the nation's destiny to the crew of presidential subordinates who will continue to run the country if he is re-elected."

Williams, like the other Democratic hopefuls, sounds off on the Eisenhower-Benson farm program, calls the President's administration one devoted to "big business, and predicts that the small businessman and labor will be "given the same treatment the farmers got" if the President is returned to the White House.

He touches one point not noted by Messrs. Kefauver, Stevenson, Harriman, Truman, Meyner and Butler in the aforementioned series.

"Unquestionably the strongest Republican argument in 1952 was the claim that Democrats were the party of war," Williams states. "People were wearied and shocked by the sacrifices of the Korean war — the first war the United States has fought simply to keep its commitments to other nations and preserve international order—and it was easy for the Republicans to exploit the nation's desire for peace.

"But this is beginning to wear thin as the public reads daily of increased tension in the Near East, the Far East, North Africa, and the other danger spots. It is becoming apparent that we have escaped war not because of, but in spite of, the blundering administration foreign policy. The spectacle of a so-called 'peace party' boasting of the occasions on which it was led an unsuspecting nation to the brink of war is not a spectacle which will impress those who want a lasting peace."

Farm Revolt Was Felt In Wisconsin

WASHINGTON — A swelling farm revolt has rubbed off on President Eisenhower in traditionally Republican Wisconsin.

The state's primary vote both confirms the trend established in Minnesota and suggests that Republicans are unduly complacent about the President's invulnerability to ordinary political considerations.

Since both Senator Estes Kefauver and the President were for all practical purposes, unopposed in the Wisconsin primaries, the voting was viewed as a popularity contest. Both parties belatedly realized this after the Minnesota upset.

The Democrats did little and spent no money. Republicans staged a last minute pro-Eisenhower barrage. This, plus a $300,000 expenditure by the National committee in farm state advertising, had the effect of moving the President into the line of fire, a place he hitherto had managed to avoid.

Now it appears that Kefauver has polled 42 per cent of the total Wisconsin primary vote as against 27.7 per cent in 1952. Most of his gains came from the farming areas of the state.

The Milwaukee Journal pointed out last Sunday that in recent presidential primaries, Republican vote totals had been two and three times as large as the Democratic total.

It suggested that Republicans might crow about getting 75 per cent of Tuesday's total for the President. Instead, he got 55.4 per cent while a right wing GOP candidate got only 2.6 per cent.

According to the Journal, the Democrats might justly claim a victory if Kefauver polled 40 per cent, a figure he slightly exceeded.

Had traditionally Democratic Milwaukee returned its usual majorities, Kefauver might have done better and even reached the halfway mark. But that city, with a hot mayoralty campaign on its hands, voted heavily and still gave the President a 25,000-vote edge over the senator.

This is an upset possibly indicating an Eisenhower appeal in the cities. The two Milwaukee congressional districts in the past have sent Democrats to the House with substantial majorities. Their fences may need mending.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

On Worm-Digging, Ducks, Spring And Yokels

By MONA B. PARKER

The only kind of iron curtain the Orleans Chronicle favors would be one to be erected "between Old Winter and Miss Spring to keep them from trespassing upon each other's territory."

Summerlike temperatures a week ago brought out a rash of fishermen in the Spalding neighborhood, all eager to try their hand at snaring the wary bass. From all reports to reach the Enterprise, only one of the ambitious anglers had fish to show for his efforts. But did the others feel that the afternoon had been a waste of time? Not a bit of it . . .

"Didn't their lines get a good soaking? And didn't they get a good taste of early, extremely warm sunshine and a lazy afternoon spent in their favorite sport?"

Howard Hamilton of the Nebraska Signal has given a bait-formula to fellow Genevans that seems to be meeting with high favor and good results. To secure the necessary worms with a minimum of effort, "you shove the spade into the ground and then tap it or wiggle it. The worms are supposed to crawl to the surface."

Thus, also, Mr. Hamilton explains, you can dig right in the middle of a flower bed and never have a family argument over it.

Editor Ken McCormick of Stanton noted the above-ground meanderings of other of nature's creatures. In a country drive, he saw so many ducks in flight that "the sky was black with them. . . . There ought to be a spring season on ducks. Somehow, they must take a different route when they go back south in the fall."

Four young gilts on the Leonard Lautenschlager farm near Palmer apparently have never heard of Secretary Benson and his theory on farm surpluses. The four farrowed a total of 51 pigs. Sire of the pigs is a Landrace male hog, a breed brought to this country from Norway and Sweden a few years ago.

Looking to next November, there were 750 Thanksgiving tables which took a bit of a jolt in brooder house fires at the Allen Reimers farm. The West Point raiser lost 500 turkery in one early-morning blaze, and again 250 of the birds plus a season's profits went up in smoke.

Henry Trysla hasn't much patience with the easterners who chuckle at the individual with hayseed in his hair who is so easily identified in Chicago or New York "by the way we stand in awe at the sight of skyscraper buildings."

But the tables were turned when the Dakota County Star editor saw a couple stop their Pennsylvania-licensed car and stand gawking along the fence of a feed lot full of fat Hereford cattle.

"Dern easterners, make fun of us, will they? They haven't even seen a full-grown steer."

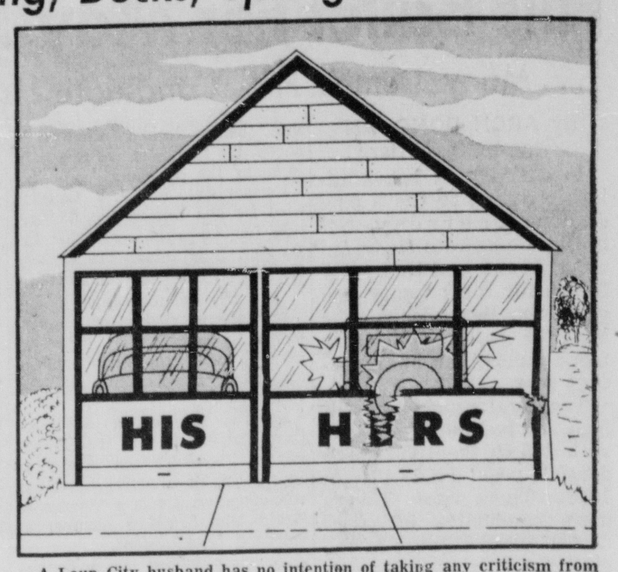
The Hooper Sentinel's "Mrs." is glad to see April put in an appearance, not alone because it means spring but because "March was certainly a hectic month on the pocketbook." What with various drives and taxes and new outfits and graduation expense and soon, as one man put it, "when you put your hand in your pocket, there was nothing there."



A Loup City husband has no intention of taking any criticism from neighbors or passing motorists that is not his due. At the Royce Chipps home in the east part of the city, the two doors of the double garage are distinctly and carefully labeled "His" and "Hers." The Sherman County Times made a point of relating that of the two cars owned by the family—one a 1931 Model A Ford and the other a 1950 Roadmaster Buick—it is the aged vehicle which is parked behind the door, "Hers."

On Good Government

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Republicans are lucky in one way—that they have no issue to divide them before the national convention. The Democrats, on the other hand, have a very divisive issue. Some may regret the condition but it is well to have it so because it gives them the opportunity to settle an important question leading to good government. It is the question of whether the people can select the party candidates or whether city and party bosses select them. This issue appeals to independent voters as well as to regulars of either party. The people's interest is in good government only. The bosses want selfish favors.

Stevenson now finds his position distasteful, and would like to soft-pedal the idea that he is the candidate of the bosses. However, he cannot when all the papers say he is. One Washington forecast says:

"Stevenson is still the choice of the behind-the-scenes wire-pullers."

The forecast also says:

"Kefauver is definitely out despite his obvious popularity in primary balloting."

It is really fortunate that there is a candidate with the ability and the untiring energy and determination that Estes Kefauver displays. His is the promise of a government without corruption and if elected he will be indebted only to the electorate. His principles speak for themselves and I predict that he will be nominated in spite of opposing forces. Other party candidates may pussy-foot but they are going to want a vote-getter to head the ticket.

Hoover And Congress

Stanton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I noticed an article recently by a Lincoln man, telling us that Hitler brought prosperity to this country by starting World War II.

A Democratic Congress now is doing for Ike what a Democratic Congress did for Mr. Hoover. Hoover was elected by a landslide, had a majority of 100 in the lower house of Congress; also a majority in the Senate was given him in 1928. Things went to pieces after he took charge, so the people decided they had better call his Republican Congress home and replace it with Democrats. Don't think for a minute that Hoover did not start out with all the equipment a President was entitled to. Even the Supreme Court was composed of a majority of his party affiliation.

Forgotten Man

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: News headlines recently said that the conferees on the agricultural bill agreed on a gift to the needy of $17 billion. Just who are the "needy" in this USA? We will wait and see how these gentlemen vote on the revision of the social security bill when it comes up for passage. Both houses have voted high parity for domestic wheat used for human food. It's a poor rule that sees only one element of citizens in this country. Let's have a little thought for the forgotten man on social security.

"STAY FOR SUPPER"

We were a numerous family in the good old days of yore,
But no matter how crowded the table seemed there was always room for more.
And Saturday was baking day for cookies and cakes and pies,
When mother was loading the pantry shelves and tempting our greedy eyes.
For Sunday brought in a merry group and for supper they always stayed.
Till the table grew to a banquet board with places for twenty laid.

"Stay for supper!" Is that phrase lost? So seldom I hear it now.
Can't the tables be stretched, as we used to do, or have we forgotten how?
Don't the mothers cook as our mothers did? Don't they load up the pantry shelves
At the end of the week with a little more good food than they'll need themselves?
When Sunday comes don't the friends drop in, in that good old-fashioned way
Just for a visit: but, deep in their hearts, don't they know they'll be asked to stay?

Why, Sunday brought us the sister's beaus and my brothers' friends and mine.
'Twas a stormy day and a dull one, too, that we didn't feed eight or nine.
And I think of the mother and think of the dad who looked to the day of rest
With food for an army, if one should call, at a time that they loved the best.
Then home was the merriest place of all, those days that have gone before,
For no matter how crowded the table grew we always had room for more.

Twister-Hit Michigan Tagged Disaster Area

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower Thursday declared tornado-stricken parts of Michigan a major disaster area eligible for emergency federal aid.

The first such conference of its kind in Nebraska, it is sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Colleges and Universities and the North Central Association Committee on Liberal Arts Education. Participants at the gathering come from five mid-western states—Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, and Missouri.

At the evening dinner Dr. John Jamrich of Doane will preside and Dr. D. M. Fiper, President of Doane, will greet the conferees. Evening sessions scheduled are sectional discussion meetings divided into the humanities, science and mathematics, social sciences, professional group, and teacher education.

100 College Officials, Teachers To Attend Doane Instruction Meet

Lincoln Star Special

CRETE, Neb.—One hundred college teachers and administrators are expected to attend the two-day regional conference on instruction in higher education at Doane College Friday and Saturday.

The first such conference of its kind in Nebraska, it is sponsored by the Nebraska Association of Colleges and Universities and the North Central Association Committee on Liberal Arts Education. Participants at the gathering come from five mid-western states—Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, and Missouri.

Said Dr. John X. Jamrich, Dean of Doane College, and general chairman of the Conference Planning Committee: "This is the first such regional conference of faculties in higher education. A conference of this sort represents deliberate effort to increase the effectiveness of our higher education efforts in this area. It is hoped that the NACAU will make this a regular conference in our state."

Special feature of the meet are the guest consultants, Dr. Paul Dressel of Michigan State University and Dr. Marjorie Carpenter of Stephens College.

Participants register Friday morning, and the Conference opens with lunch in the Doane College dining rooms. Afternoon sessions on Friday are devoted to consideration of two topics. Dr. Dressel will speak on "Current Instructional Practices and Purposes in Higher Education" and Dr. Carpenter's address will be "Stimulating Students through Classroom Instruction."

At the evening dinner Dr. John Jamrich of Doane will preside and Dr. D. M. Typer, President of Doane, will greet the conferees. Evening sessions scheduled are sectional discussion meetings divided into the humanities, science and mathematics, social sciences, professional group, and teacher education.

The Saturday session ends with a luncheon at which Dr. Walter Militzer, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at NU, will preside.

The conference planning committee is comprised of Dr. Jamrich, chairman, and Dr. Sam Dahl, NWU; Mr. Don Maclay, Fairbury College; Dr. Walter Militzer, University of Nebraska; Dr. Andrew Weresh, Peru State Teachers College.

Members of the Doane faculty and staff are handling all local arrangements.

CONFERENCE TO PROBE GOODNESS AND GOLD—

Church Brows Wrinkle At Man's Money-Chasing

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

A worried churchly frown today looks out on man's avid pursuit of the dollar.

In almost every pulpit, the troubled concern is voiced regularly, 'Be careful lest money become your idol'

It's the old cross-current of God and mammon

In modern America, the world's richest land in all history, the ancient ethical issues assume their keenest pitch

100 Leaders

Confronting this fact 400 religious minded leaders of industry, labor, agriculture and government will meet next week to appraise the relative evils in this country of goodness and gold—of commerce and conscience.

Both are human drives summed up in the two Scriptural phrases, 'Give us this day our daily bread' and 'Man does not live by bread alone.'

The full life, this suggests partakes of both.

The difficulties of striking a right balance are discussed in voluminous studies prepared for the national conference to be held in Pittsburgh, Pa., April 12 to 15 on 'The Christian Conscience and the Economy of Abundance.'

It's a delicate feel for the mixed human desires for material satisfactions—for property, production, superior methods and more wealth, and for spiritual satisfactions — for charity, service to others and selflessness.

The tensions are magnified in the United States, where 6 per cent of the world's people produce and consume 40 per cent of the world's goods in the most glittering atmosphere of material prosperity ever known.

Nobody argues the merit of productivity, but they do question its emphasis, aims and effects.

In an advance analysis made for the conference, Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, professor of applied Christianity at Union Theological Seminary, said it is a misconception to think Christianity teaches that "the 'spirit' is good and 'matter' is evil."

"The Christian faith neither denies the physical bases of human well-being nor equates the good life with standards of comfort," he said.

But he points out a subtly complicating factor — that spiritual greatness often comes through the kind of tragic experiences that America's technological greatness tries to prevent. He added:

"It would be foolish nevertheless to encourage poverty because poverty is frequently a better discipline of character than is wealth.

"But in a wealthy culture it is necessary to constantly call attention to the limits of comfort and security in the attainment not only of happiness but of the deepest joys of life."

He said that Christianity, while recognizing "two dimensions of human life" — the physical base and a "superstructure of meaning"—It insists that "life consisteth not in the abundance of things a man possesses."

In America with its towering prosperity, "We are in the rather difficult position where the means to an end threatens to become an end in itself."

The end of production, he added, is the "satisfaction of human desires which presumably produces happiness, but the truth is that happiness cannot be guaranteed by high standards of comforts.

'Production Slaves'

"Our chief problem is to find ways and means by which we can enjoy high living standards to prevent the productive process from slowing up. We are in danger, as a result of developing a technique which is enslaved to its productive process.

"Our productive efficiency is so great that we are tempted to consume excessively, to buy cars even though we do not need a new model, because the competitive sales pressure impels us to this step.

"Yet the sales pressure is inevitable in a competitive economy, and furthermore our production requires high levels of consumption, if unemployment is to be avoided."

Laymen Delegates

This is one aspect of the subject to be tackled by the conference of which most delegates will be laymen. They'll include top business figures committed both to the profit motive and church principles as well as clergymen and officials of labor and government.

The meeting is sponsored by the Department of Church and Economic Life of the National Council of Churches.

"Let me list a few of the" and D. Eugene Carson Blake, Council president, to go ahead at direct conference between responsible leaders in economic life and responsible leaders of the churches.

Dr. Leland Gordon, Denison University economics professor in another study report, documents the unprecedented growth of America's wealth, but he notes 'serious problems of inequality and its effects on persons."

These, he said, include discrimination against some groups, a large number of remaining families with inadequate income, pockets of unemployment and economic distress in some regions, and the impoverished condition of many other countries.

"As we stand on our high plateau and survey the world about us we see most people in other lands struggling with the problems of scarcity," he said.

Discussing this phase, Dr. Niebuhr said: We must reconcile ourselves to the fact that the moral position of the wealthiest and most powerful nation on earth is not an enviable one and will be subject to many misunderstandings."

Because the disparities of wealth and poverty are so great, he said, "we will never be as generous as we think we are" — especially if compared with the Scriptural parable of the widow's mite — and other nations won't ever be as grateful as 'we think we deserve."

Another pitfall, he said, is the American tendency to regard good fortune as 'proof of our virtue and to assume "a mood of self-congratulation and pride." But, he added, American economic power has brought world responsibilities.

'The sacrifices entailed by our responsibilities have truly saved us insofar as we have been saved, from being morally overwhelmed by our great wealth."

Red Cross P'ea Backed By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appealed Thursday for contributions to the American Red Cross to help tornado-stricken areas.

E. Roland Harriman, national chairman, sent the White House a message saying the agency's disaster relief funds were "just about wiped out" recently in helping flood victims.

Harriman said the current annual drive of the Red Cross for new funds is meeting generous response, "but not sufficiently so as yet."

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen the President asked him to say he is "confident the American people as always will respond to this new appeal of the American Red Cross for contributions so they in turn can aid people in the distressed areas."

Many Features In Bradfield Drug Store Opening Saturday

The new Bradfield Drug Store at Winthrop Road and Ryons will open Saturday at 9 a.m.

Gifts including marbles for boys, jacks sets for girls, gardenias for women and cigar sundries for men will be given out Saturday and Sunday according to store owner-manager Frank Zajic.

The store will be open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. It will have a staff of 14 persons. Two registered pharmacists and one assistant will be on duty at all times, Zajic said.

Store features include an enlarged prescription room and greeting card section, a flower nook, and camera, gift, cosmetics, hardwares and hardware departments in addition to the post office substation. The store occupies 4,700 feet of floor space.

Zajic said the old store, at 2792 South, is now being used for storage. The store was operated at that location for 15 years.

Don Svoboda is owner of the one-story L-Shaped building in which the drug store and the Skyline Fountain and Luncheonette are located.

Zajic said parking for about 35 cars is available in the lot for patrons. He said flowers for the flower nook will come from the stock of the Rosewell Floral Co.

Aged Man Bows To His Neighbors' Belief That He And Family Are Negroes

By BEN PRICE

DETROIT (AP) — Aged John W. Rouse bowed Thursday to his neighbors' belief that he and his family are Negroes.

Rouse said he had decided to sell and move—if the price is right—after a near race riot by nearly 500 people Wednesday night on quiet, tree-lined Robson Ave. in northwest Detroit. Two windows in the modest brick home were broken by rocks before police broke up the growing demonstration.

Rouse, a retired private policeman, insists that he and all of his family, wife, daughter and two grandchildren, are white. The 70-year-old former watchman and members of the Belmont Sub-division Assn. were to meet again to settle details of the projected sale.

Mrs. Rouse, also 70, cried "how do they know we are Negro? They haven't even seen us. We didn't even get out here until after dark Tuesday. I think there is something very wrong I could expect something like this in a foreign country."

Protection

While Mrs. Rouse talked, her two grandchildren, a boy, 7, and a girl, 10, were playink with a baseball in the backyard under police protection.

"You know how children are," she said. "They don't know about things like this and I couldn't keep them in the house all day.

"I did not want them in the front yard where the other kids could make hasty remarks."

Off and on all day little girls in Bermuda shorts and long hose passed in front of the Rouse house giggling and occasionally yelling, "There's a Negro in the crowd."

Large numbers of teen-agers gathered in knots across the street from time to time while house wives sat on porches in the warm sun gossiping about the neighborhood affair.

Oddly, a reporter ranging the street could find no one who admitted having seen or known the Rouse family but all insisted they knew they were Negro.

Sgt. Thomas Nickerson and Detective Ed Boggs, members of the Special Investigation Bureau which deals with racial problems, tried all day to trace the source of the rumor which set off the demonstration.

"As near as we can determine," said Boggs, "it started with the movers. One of the workmen moving furniture into the house told a boy, 'you might to tell your folks there is a Negro moving in.' It apparently started from there."

The grey-haired Mrs. Rouse said "I guess you know how all this started. I wish they had broken my dishes instead."

Boggs and the sergeant, in tracing the rumor, found it passed by word of mouth mostly from one agitated neighbor to another.

Part Indian

The two officers said also their investigation showed that both grandchildren were registered at birth as white. Rouse said he is part Cherokee Indian and that his wife is Scotch Irish and French Canadian.

Mr. and Mrs. Rouse and their daughter, Mrs. Merle Evelyn Hickman, who is separated from her husband, are buying the house jointly. The original price was $16,500.

Robson Street is composed mostly of small residences of no specific architecture. Many of the houses are in the 15-year old or older class and all are carefully tended.

There is nothing to distinguish the street from any of a thousand similar ones throughout the United States, except possibly the unusually large number of late model automobiles.

It is a street filled with children. The nearest non-white neighborhood is 3½ miles.

The Rouse family moved to the Robson home from a mixed neighborhood on American Ave.

Marine Ends 3 Years In Service, Begins Jail Term

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Marine Pfc. Gilman E. Day, recently returned from Korea, was discharged Thursday upon completion of a three-year enlistement and soon afterward was sentenced to a year in jail.

The 20-year-old Indianapolis veteran, whose car struck and killed a woman Monday night, pleaded guilty in St. Louis County Magistrate's Court to careless and reckless driving. He also was fined $500.

Magistrate Raymond I. Harris said he had been advised Day twice had been convicted in Indiana for speeding. A state trooper testified Day was speeding at 65 to 70 miles and hour at the time of the fatal accident and that he told officers he had been drinking that day.

A coroner's jury Wednesday returned a verdict of accident in the case.

"I cannot agree with the coroner's jury because you were drinking, speeding, and because of your past convictions," the magistrate told Day. "I will not tolerate repeat violators."

Aged Man Bows To His Neighbors' Belief That He And Family Are Negroes

By BEN PRICE

DETROIT (AP) — Aged John W. Rouse bowed Thursday to his neighbors' belief that he and his family are Negroes.

Rouse said he had decided to sell and move—if the price is right—after a near race riot by nearly 500 people Wednesday night on quiet, tree-lined Robson Ave. in northwest Detroit. Two windows in the modest brick home were broken by rocks before police broke up the growing demonstration.

Rouse, a retired private policeman, insists that he and all of his family, wife, daughter and two grandchildren, are white. The 70-year-old former watchman and members of the Belmont Sub-division Assn. were to meet again to settle details of the projected sale.

Mrs. Rouse, also 70, cried "how do they know we are Negro? They haven't even seen us. We didn't even get out here until after dark Tuesday. I think there is something very wrong. I could expect something like this in a foreign country."

Protection

While Mrs. Rouse talked, her two grandchildren, a boy, 7, and a girl, 10, were playink with a baseball in the backyard under police protection.

"You know how children are," she said. "They don't know about things like this and I couldn't keep them in the house all day.

"I did not want them in the front yard where the other kids could make hasty remarks."

Off and on all day little girls in Bermuda shorts and long hose passed in front of the Rouse house giggling and occasionally yelling, "There's a Negro in the crowd."

Large numbers of teen-agers gathered in knots across the street from time to time while housewives sat on porches in the warm sun gossiping about the neighborhood affair.

Oddly, a reporter ranging the street could find no one who admitted having seen or known the Rouse family, but all insisted they knew they were Negro.

Sgt. Thomas Nickerson and Detective Ed Boggs, members of the Special Investigation Bureau which deals with racial problems, tried all day to trace the source of the rumor which set off the demonstration.

"As near as we can determine," said Boggs, "it started with the movers. One of the workmen moving furniture into the house told a boy, 'you ought to tell your folks there is a Negro moving in.' It apparently started from there."

The grey-naired Mrs. Rouse said "I guess you know how all this started. I wish they had broken my dishes instead."

Boggs and the sergeant, in tracing the rumor, found it passed by word of mouth mostly from one agitated neighbor to another.

Part Indian

The two officers said also their investigation showed that both grandchildren were registered at birth as white. Rouse said he is part Cherokee Indian and that his wife is Scotch-Irish and French Canadian.

Mr. and Mrs. Rouse and their daughter, Mrs. Merle Evelyn Hickman, who is separated from her husband, are buying the house jointly. The original price was $16,500.

Kefauver Attacks Filthy Literature

Effects Cited To Nebraska NFWC Meeting

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

OMAHA — Sen. Estes Kefauver said Thursday that pornographic literature can swing the balance between a normal and abnormal life in the future of American girls and boys.

He made the statement Thursday afternoon in a non-political talk to the annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs.

The talk was preceeded by a round of political conferences with Democratic leaders in Nebraska. Included were a morning press conference and talk at noon to the Douglas County Democratic Central Committee.

As chairman of the senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee, the senator has, as he told the NFWC, been trying to get "at the roots, the causes," to determine what can be done about juvenile delinquency.

He termed pornographic literature and the black market in babies as two of the worst offenses against society. He said he had been "sickened" by some of the pornographic "filth" peddled around the nation to teen-agers.

"In their formative, impressionable years, where the balance hangs very tenuously between a normal and an abnormal life, this filth can ruin the future of American boys and girls."

The senator said "we find that too much crime and violence in movies and television all have a disturbing effect on children of impressionable age."

He said there is plenty of opportunity for "all of us to work together." The greatest effectiveness, he said, is at the local level. One of the most important needed changes, he said, is the reorganization of the Department of Health, education, and Welfare. Under he new plan, he pointed out, all children's and youth work would be brought into one division headed by a person of sub-cabinet rank.

There is no one cause and no one cure of juvenile delinquency, the senator pointed out. "We find," he said, "that the very climate of the world in which we live, with unstable conditions in international affairs and frequently uncertain conditions in the home — all are contributing causes toward juvenile delinquency."

Murders and crimes have been traced to comic books as a source, the senator said, however the situation is a "great deal better now, although there still are some corrections needed."

In the black market baby business, several thousands of cases are handled by "unscrupulous lawyers and doctors preying on unwed mothers."

There, in addition, is too much crime on TV and radio and in the movies, the senator pointed out.

"One shooting on TV would be all right," he said, "but when they pile one on another, that's too much."

The senator said he thinks the Federal Communications Commission should take these things into consideration when considering license renewels.

'Shrinkers' Attacked By Women's Leader

OMAHA, Neb —What this country needs is a system to sanforize people so they won't shrink from their responsibilities, Mrs. Charles O. Smith of Holcomb, Kan., told the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"So many feel that the world's problems have nothing to do with them," Mrs. Smith, General Federation affairs chairman, said.

She defined three types of clubwomen:

The wishbones. They wish things would get done but usually are too busy to make it to meetings.

The jawbones: They criticize, gossip and cause dissension among the group.

The backbones: These are the leaders whom the others must lean against.

"It is our responsibility to encourage leadership," she said. "A member will become valuable to you when she feels she is needed."

Sharp said the animal was a 70-pound red male answering to the name of "Red." Anybody finding "Red" is asked to contact the sheriff's office.

The suspect got away too.

NAGOYA, Japan (INS) — Twenty-nine persons were injured in a train collision at the Inuyama Yuen station near Nagoya in central Japan. Police blamed faulty brakes.

Twister Hits Bryan, Texas

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — A tornado struck this town Thursday, unroofed more than 100 homes and destroyed half a dozen warehouses and other commercial buildings. No one was killed and no injuries were reported.

The twister narrowly missed Stephen F. Austin High School. Children there got on their knees and prayed as the twister smashed a three-quarter-mile-wide swath only a few blocks away.

Damage was estimated at well over a million dollars.

The tornado passed between Bryan and nearby College Station, home of Texas A&M College with 7 000 or so students. It did not strike the college.

The twister passed through the southern part of this south-central Texas city of 20,000.

Power lines were torn down and communications were disrupted. Some power was being restored, but persons were warned of danger from fallen power lines.

Police advised all travel into Bryan be curtailed, and asked that only emergency telephone calls be made to the city.

Massive Airpower Only Way NATO Could Stop Aggressor—Gen. Gruenther

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said Thursday that Western Europe's forces still were not strong enough to stop short an all-out ground attack but that massive airpower would defeat an aggressor.

The supreme commander of the Allied powers in Europe added, however, that forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would still "fight hard and valiantly for any NATO territory threatened by an aggressor."

Gruenther spelled out his position in the wake of an interview quoted him as saying NATO would have to give up all West Germany in the event of Soviet attack. The remark drew criticism in West Germany and Holland. Gruenther's headquarters headquarters said he had been misquoted.

New Statement

Thursday he gave a statement to a group of broadcasters who visited that headquarters (SHAPE) near Paris. An article appeared under his signature in the weekly newspaper Rheinischer Merkur in Cologne, Germany.

The two statements clearly showed Gruenther did not feel his forces could defend all of Europe on the ground. Yet he drew no actual line that he felt could be successfully held against a Soviet attack.

Speaking at his headquarters Gruenther said

Not That Strong

"The question is frequently asked 'Are we yet strong enough to give a guarantee that we could resist successfully an all out act of aggression?' I think that in all frankness we must admit that in spite of our great progress during the past five years we are still not that strong.

"However we will have that strength when the German contribution is effective and we estimate that this will be in about three to four years from now."

Gruenther's Cologne article supplied to the paper by the U S Information Agency in Diesseldorf, Germany was titled 'Can Europe Be Defended?'

It said

"We are in a position to destroy the enemy if he attacks on a large scale even if we may not be able to protect certain areas against an invasion."

Air Weapon Best

In that article and in his headquarters statement, Gruenther said Western air superiority now constituted the major deterrent to aggression and would insure the defeat of an aggressor.

Speaking to the broadcasters he added

"In this stage in the technological development of defense against offensive aircraft, the offense has a tremendous advantage over the defense. In other words, the B47 airplane (the U S six-jet engine atomic bomber) and the 'V' bombers (Britain's jet bomber series) can fly so fast and so high that there is as of now no defensive answer to this type of attack.

"This means that if certain parts of Europe should be overrun our retaliatory attacks would insure the defeat of the Soviet bloc. Now mind you, I am not saying we would win because I am convinced there would be no such thing as a winner in a third world war. But the Soviets would be defeated and I am sure that this reality weighs heavily in the minds of the Soviet war planners."

While this constitutes a major deterrent, Gruenther said, SHAPE feels that air power in itself is not a good enough answer and consequently advocates a German contribution to NATO "so that we shall be able to state positively that we will be able to prevent the overrunning of all NATO territory. We believe we will reach this situation in from three to four years."

Jones Farm Home Destroyed By Fire

Lincoln Star Special

ORD, Neb.—Flames totally destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doro Jones, just outside the Ord city limits. The home is owned by Mr. Jones father, Russell Jones of Burwell, and was recently remodeled extensively.

The Ord fire department received a call at 5:30 p.m. to extinguish a fire caused by an oil stove and from which a considerable amount of smoke damage resulted. The blaze was discovered by the father, Russell Jones, when he returned to the house after doing some chores. The younger Jones family was not at home.

Later that night a neighbor, Mrs. Carl Young phoned in a second alarm when the roof was seen ablaze. Lack of water hampered the firemen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U S Sen. Kerr Scott (D-NC) will receive 366 roses for his lapel this year. The six girls on his Washington staff ordered a bud a day as his Christmas gift.

New Skyline Luncheonette, Fountain To Open Saturday

The new Skyline Fountain and Luncheonette at Winthrop Road and Ryons, which opens at 9 a.m. Saturday, will specialize in fancy ice cream dishes, according to Lawrence Liebers, secretary-treasurer of Skyline Farms Co. Inc.

He said balloons and ice cream cones will be given out Saturday and Sunday during the store's "open house." Regular luncheonette service will begin Monday.

The new store, the sixth Skyline store in Lincoln, will be open seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Liebers said the closing hour may be extended if needed.

The store has a 36-foot stainless steel fountain. The luncheonette will seat 52 persons — 16 at the counter and 36 at tables.

Everett Hilbink, who will manage the store, has been with Skyline nine years and was formerly at the 15th and South Street store.

Mrs. Dorothy W. Becker will supervise food preparation. A two-shift staff of 15 persons will be employed.

Liebers said "I think that the combination of our store with the new Bradfield Drug (located adjacent to the luncheonette) will work out nicely for everyone concerned."

Plan Readied To Evaluate Results Of Cloud-Seeding

Five Counties Included In 'Target Area'

ALBION, Neb. (AP) — A method of evaluating cloud - seeding results is being set up by the five-county Cornhusker Weather Modification Assn., Jim Wolf of Albion, association president, said Thursday.

Evaluation of results, he explained, will be based on official U. S. Weather Bureau precipitation records from reporting stations in and around the 1½ million acre "target area" embracing Boone, Platte and Madison Counties and parts of Antelope and Nance Counties.

Cumulative Figures Best

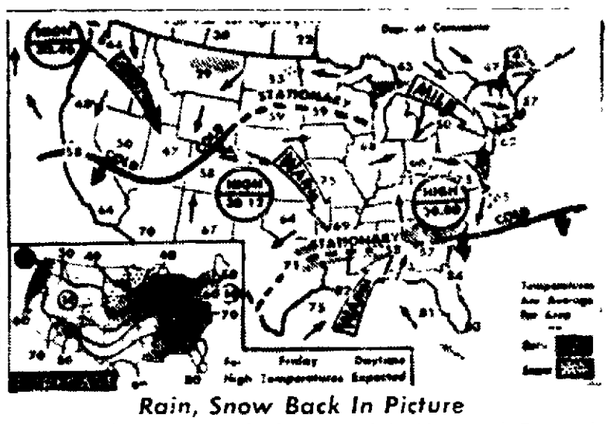
Plans now being formulated call for five official weather bureau observers inside the "target area to report precipitation every morning that they record a tenth of an inch or more, he said. These will be compared with rainfall recorded by official stations in the area.

Cumulative rainfall is the only figure that is significant, according to Lou Grant, operations chief for the Denver weather modification firm which has the cloud seeding contract. Frequently, he said, there will be more rain at points outside the district, but over a period of two or three years a comparison of cumulative rainfall during the seeding season will indicate the results obtained.

No Claims Made

Grant reported that during the storm Monday and Tuesday of this week, silver iodide generators were operated at Oakdale, Ord, Boelus, Hastings and St. Edward. Grant, however, made no claims about the results obtained. Among the larger moisture reports were Meadow Grove 1.31, Albion 1.09, Columbus .85 and Genoa .82.

He said cloud - seeding generators now were located at Ansley, Boelus, Burwell, Central City, Crofton, Hastings, Laurel, Oakdale, O'Neill, Ord, St. Edward, Scribner, Sutton, Seward, Verdigre Wisner, and Wahoo.



Rain, Snow Back In Picture

Except for New England, showers and thunderstorms are forecast for Friday for the area east of the Mississippi. Rain and snow are expected over the western Lakes and northern Plains, and widely scattered in western mountain states. Rain is expected also for western Oregon and Washington. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Chief Of Police Minnick Quits

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) Police Chief Charles Minnick resigned Thursday, effective Saturday but agreed to stay on the job until a new chief is appointed by the incoming mayor.

Minnick tendered his resignation to E. H. Cordes, acting city manager since Otis Barbarick left that post last month. Minnick listed no reason for his action.

The city manager plan of government was turned out by voters last year and the council-mayor form is effective next Monday, when officers elected in this week's election take over.

Minnick joined the Grand Island Police Department as chief in October of 1954. Previously he had shore patrol duty in the Navy, was a member of the North Platte Police Department and was chief of guards at the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant.

Anderson Assumes Sherman County Post

LOUP CITY, Neb. — Frank Anderson has assumed his new duties as assistant Sherman County agent. He is a native of Furnas County.

Plan Readied To Evaluate Results Of Cloud-Seeding

Five Counties Included In 'Target Area'

ALBION, Neb. (AP) — A method of evaluating cloud - seeding results is being set up by the five-county Cornhusker Weather Modification Assn., Jim Wolf of Albion, association president, said Thursday.

Evaluation of results, he explained, will be based on official U. S. Weather Bureau precipitation records from reporting stations in and around the 1½ million acre "target area," embracing Boone, Platte and Madison Counties and parts of Antelope and Nance Counties.

Cumulative Figures Best

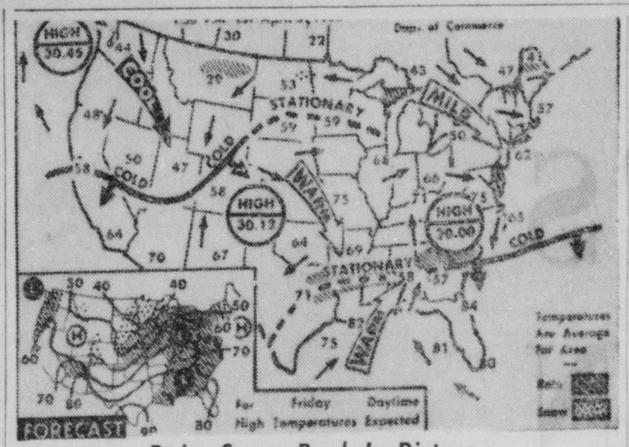
Plans now being formulated call for five official weather bureau observers inside the "target area" to report precipitation every morning that they record a tenth of an inch or more, he said. These will be compared with rainfall recorded by official stations in the area.

Cumulative rainfall is the only figure that is significant, according to Lou Grant, operations chief for the Denver weather modification firm which has the cloud seeding contract. Frequently, he said, there will be more rain at points outside the district, but over a period of two or three years a comparison of cumulative rainfall during the seeding season will indicate the results obtained.

No Claims Made

Grant reported that during the storm Monday and Tuesday of this week, silver iodide generators were operated at Oakdale, Ord, Boelus, Hastings and St. Edward. Grant, however, made no claims about the results obtained. Among the larger moisture reports were Meadow Grove 1.31, Albion 1.09, Columbus .85 and Genoa .82.

He said cloud - seeding generators now were located at Ansley, Boelus, Burwell, Central City, Crofton, Hastings, Laurel, Oakdale, O'Neill, Ord, St. Edward, Scribner, Sutton, Seward, Verdigre Wisner, and Wahoo.



Rain, Snow Back In Picture

Except for New England, showers and thunderstorms are forecast for Friday for the area east of the Mississippi. Rain and snow are expected over the western Lakes and northern Plains, and widely scattered in western mountain states. Rain is expected also for western Oregon and Washington. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Chief Of Police Minnick Quits

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Police Chief Charles Minnick resigned Thursday, effective Saturday but agreed to stay on the job until a new chief is appointed by the incoming mayor.

Minnick tendered his resignation to E. H. Cordes, acting city manager since Otis Barbarick left that post last month. Minnick listed no reason for his action.

The city manager plan of government was turned out by voters last year and the council-mayor form is effective next Monday, when officers elected in this week's election take over.

Minnick joined the Grand Island Police Department as chief in October of 1954. Previously he had shore patrol duty in the Navy, was a member of the North Platte Police Department and was chief of guards at the Cornhusker Ordnance Plant.

Dale Groskurth, Pender Youth, Given FFA Star Farmer Award

A Pender youth, Dale Groskurth, was selected Star Farmer of Nebraska at the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Nebraska Future Farmers of America Thursday night at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groskurth, Dale is presently engaged in farming with his father on a 190-acre farm near Pender.

During his four years of vocational agriculture instruction under Al Sick, Dale developed a well-rounded supervised farming program which presently includes 9 sows, 14 dairy cows and 6 calves, 13 acres of oats, 13 acres of corn, 4 acres of pasture, 4 acres of alfalfa, and 34 acres of pasture.

The Star Farmer was president and treasurer of his FFA chapter while in high school. He plans to continue farming and go into partnership with his father on crops and hogs. He plans to up-grade his dairy herd and sell Grade A milk in the future.

Area star farmer awards were also presented to Carl York of Cozad; Harold Dunn of Harrison; and Roger Watke of Columbus.

An Ogallala youth, Dan Wujek, won top honors in the creed speaking contest.

Other blue ribbon winners were Jerry Adler of Red Cloud and Roger Dodson of Nehawka.

Red ribbon winners were Theodore Jergens of Filley, Burton Echtenkamp of Wayne; and Don Koltermann of Pierce.

White ribbon winners were Joe Pauley of Mitchell and Richard Ziller of St. Paul.

Gov. Victor E. Anderson was among 10 persons awarded an honorary state farmer degree.

The honorary degrees were presented in a ceremony conducted by Harold F. Duis, Nebraska FFA advisor, and state FFA officers for each individual's contributions to the organization.

Other persons receiving honorary degrees besides Governer Anderson were Cecil E. Stanley, assistant commissioner in Charge of the Division of Vocational Education; Edwin Schultz, secretary of the Nebraska State Fair Board; Mead Rogers, Sears Roebuck Foundation; Jack Gilbert, program director of KHOL-TV, Holdrege; and Roy Equall, vocational agriculture instructor at Superior.

Following presentation of the four area star farmers, . . . honorary state farmer degrees were presented to their fathers. Fathers receiving the degree were Clarence Groskurth, Pender; Percy A. York, Cozad; Vernon Dunn, Harrison; and Edward Watke, Columbus.

Near 2,500 youths are in Lincoln to attend the FFA convention which will continue through Saturday.

The theme: "The Successful Farmer of Tomorrow is the Future Farmer of Today."

At a luncheon Thursday, the 107 members from the 58 FFA chapters who were advanced to the degree of state farmer Thursday night were honored. Only two per cent of the state membership is permitted to receive this degree.

The convention is featuring judging contests in farm mechanics, animal husbandry, crops and farm management, plus contests in public speaking and other forensic activities.

Judging Cattle On FFA Meet Agenda

Valentine Creeping Back To Normal From Effects Of Big Ice-Wind Storm

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP)—Although cut off from telephone communication with the outside from early Tuesday until Thursday, Valentine rode out this week's storm without apparent serious effect.

Between 700 and 900 power line poles in the area went down under the weight of ice and strong winds, leaving much of the countryside and smaller towns without power. But Valentine proper has a power plant and was able to maintain electric service.

Two-Way Radio Used

Mrs. William Freeman, wife of the Cherry County sheriff, said emergency messages were handled over the two-way radio.

She said there was not much more than an inch of snow, but there was lots of rain and ice formed on the power lines when snapped under the lash of the wind.

Mrs. Freeman said she had not heard of any excessive stock damage in the country and there had been no hardship cases reported in the area.

She said she did not expect that all rural power lines would be back in service before the first of the week.

Dale Groskurth, Pender Youth, Given FFA Star Farmer Award

A Pender youth, Dale Groskurth, was selected Star Farmer of Nebraska at the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Nebraska Future Farmers of America Thursday night at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Groskurth, Dale is presently engaged in farming with his father on a 190-acre farm near Pender.

During his four years of vocational agriculture instruction under Al Sick, Dale developed a well-rounded supervised farming program which presently includes 9 sows, 14 dairy cows and 6 calves, 13 acres of oats, 18 acres of corn, 4 acres of alfalfa, and 34 acres of pasture.

The Star Farmer was president and treasurer of his FFA chapter while in high school. He plans to continue farming and go into partnership with his father on crops and hogs. He plans to up-grade his dairy herd and sell Grade A milk in the future.

Area star farmer awards were also presented to Carl York of Cozad; Harold Dunn of Harrison; and Roger Watke of Columbus.

An Ogallala youth, Dan Wujek, won top honors in the creed speaking contest.

Other blue ribbon winners were Jerry Adler of Red Cloud and Roger Dodson of Nehawka.

Red ribbon winners were Theodore Jergens of Filley, Burton Echtenkamp of Wayne; and Don Koltermann of Pierce.

White ribbon winners were Joe Pauley of Mitchell and Richard Ziller of St. Paul.

Gov. Victor E. Anderson was among 10 persons awarded an honorary state farmer degree.

The honorary degrees were presented in a ceremony conducted by Harold F. Duis, Nebraska FFA advisor, and state FFA officers for each individual's contributions to the organization.

Other persons receiving honorary degrees besides Governor Anderson were Cecil E. Stanley, assistant commissioner in Charge of the Division of Vocational Education; Edwin Schultz, secretary of the Nebraska State Fair Board; Mead Rogers, Sears Roebuck Foundation; Jack Gilbert, program director of KHOL-TV, Holdrege; and Roy Equall, vocational agriculture instructor at Superior.

Following presentation of the four area star farmers, . . . honorary state farmer degrees were presented to their fathers. Fathers receiving the degree were Clarence Groskurth, Pender; Percy A. York, Cozad; Vernon Dunn, Harrison; and Edward Watke, Columbus.

Near 2,500 youths are in Lincoln to attend the FFA convention which will continue through Saturday.

The theme: "The Successful Farmer of Tomorrow is the Future Farmer of Today."

At a luncheon Thursday, the 107 members from the 58 FFA chapters who were advanced to the degree of state farmer Thursday night were honored. Only two per cent of the state membership is permitted to receive this degree.

The convention is featuring judging contests in farm mechanics, animal husbandry, crops and farm management, plus contests in public speaking and other forensic activities.

The festivals are scheduled variously for Wednesday through Saturday at 10 cities, Secretary C. C. Thompson of the Nebraska School Activities Assn. reported Thursday.

The state has eight music contest districts but in some, competition will be at two different sites.

Contest sites and dates include:

Geneva—Friday and Saturday.
Peru—Friday and Saturday.
Fremont—Thursday and Friday.
O'Neill — Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.
Wayne — Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
Grand Island—Friday.
Cozad—Saturday.
McCook—Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
Chadron—Thursday and Friday.
Central City—Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Under Nebraska's setup, the youthful musicians compete for classification ratings superior, excellent etc. rather than against each other.

Valentine Creeping Back To Normal From Effects Of Big Ice-Wind Storm

VALENTINE, Neb. (AP)—Although cut off from telephone communication with the outside from early Tuesday until Thursday, Valentine rode out this week's storm without apparent serious effect.

Between 700 and 900 power line poles in the area went down under the weight of ice and strong winds, leaving much of the countryside and smaller towns without power. But Valentine proper has a power plant and was able to maintain electric service.

Two-Way Radio Used

Mrs. William Freeman, wife of the Cherry County sheriff, said emergency messages were handled over the two-way radio.

She said there was not much more than an inch of snow, but there was lots of rain and ice formed on the power lines when snapped under the lash of the wind.

Mrs. Freeman said she had not heard of any excessive stock damage in the country and there had been no hardship cases reported in the area.

She said she did not expect that all rural power lines would be back in service before the first of the week.

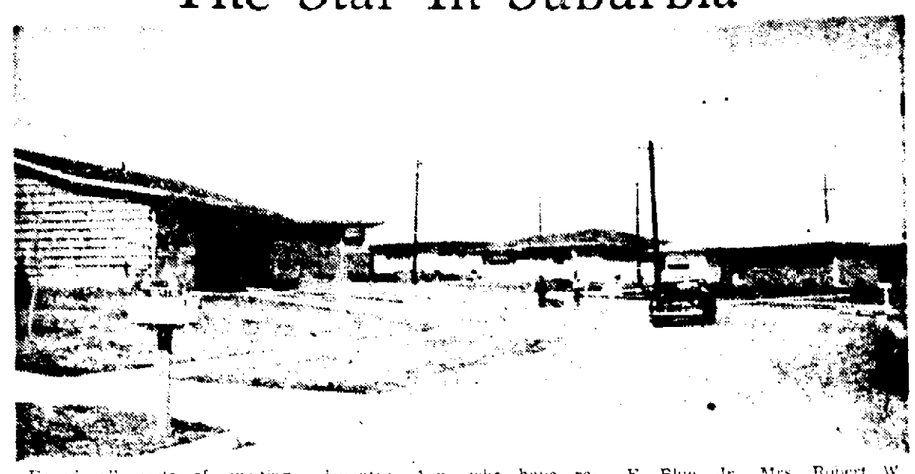
The Star In Suburbia



Found all sorts of exciting things in South Hills this morning: news of a successful artist —parties, birthday celebrations —and guests — We loved the news about Mrs. John Weaver—Mrs. Weaver is the artist we mentioned and she exhibited in the Mid-West show at Joslyn Memorial. But that is by far the least important part of the story —Joslyn Memorial purchased one of Mrs. Weaver's oils, "Crucifixion" for its permanent collection — and we consider that quite a feather—not only in Mrs. Weaver's cap—but in Lincoln's, as well.

When Mrs. Robert Kissinger and Mrs. Loren Belker entertained at a morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Kissinger on Wednesday, it was a birthday surprise for Mrs. Richard Kuebler and Mrs. Ernest Weir. The guest list included women from the immediate neighborhood in which the hostesses and honorees reside.

The guest that we mentioned is Mrs. Margaret Hill who came from San Diego, Calif., to spend some time with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnson. Mrs. Hill, who has been in town a week or two, plans to return to the west coast sometime next week.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Don Miltner and their two months-o'd son, Don, Jr., will be in York this week-end where they will celebrate Mr. Miltner's birthday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miltner. Attending the birthday celebration will be Mrs. Miltner's parents, Mr. and Mrs William Swartz; and Mr. Miltner's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Skaden.

Hear that quite a group from South Hills will be attending the 307th Bomb Wing dinner dance this evening at Italian Village—In the South Hills contingent will be Lt. Col. and Mrs. Wilmot Paxton, Maj. and Mrs. John Bibo, Maj. and Mrs. William Holden Maj. and Mrs. Glenn J. Lally, Capt and Mrs. George Fletcher, Capt. and Mrs. Paul Petyo, and Capt. and Mrs. Frank Bath.

Among the recent homecomers out South Hills way are Dr. and Mrs. Harold Harvey and their daughter, Ann, who have returned from Ardmore, Okla., where they spent the Easter holiday as the guests of Mrs. Harvey's brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. F. N. Satterlee.

Also heard that Mrs. Lyle Knight was a hostess on Thursday when she entertained at bridge—In the eightsome group, in addition to the hostess, were Mrs. Russell Bowling, Mrs. Warren G. Van Houten, Mrs. Charles E. Blue, Jr., Mrs. Robert W. Haston, Mrs Don M. Grimwood, Mrs. Charles Gove and Mrs. Harry J. Willis. In the afternoon play Mrs. Grimwood made the high score, and Mrs. Gove, low score.

And speaking of bridge parties —Mrs. Harold Harvey will entertain at a dessert luncheon and bridge on Monday when her guests will include Mrs. James Kissell, Mrs. W. H. Ress and Mrs. Ray Knapp.

PTA Council Elects

The Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers elected Mrs. Howard Deems president of the organization at the monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon, at which Richard Johnson, field officer of the Nebraska Educational Association, and Deputy County Attorney Dale Fahrnbruch were guest speakers.

Acid-Thrower Partly Blinds Newsman; Columnist Had Warred On Racketeers

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — A stealthy assailant, without a word of warning, hurled sulphuric acid into the eyes of newspaper labor columnist Victor Riesel early Thursday. Riesel's eyesight was imperiled, possibly lost.

Only a short time earlier the nationally syndicated columnist had finished a radio attack on racketeers within the notorious International Union of Operating Engineers. He said he believed the broadcast provoked the attack.

Riesel

Riesel reportedly had been threatened in an anonymous telephone call three weeks ago against writing any more stories about convicted extortioners within the union.

Asked if Riesel would lose his eyesight, Dr. Geralimo Bonaccolto, chief eye surgeon at St. Clare's Hospital, told reporters:

Guarded Diagnosis

"The diagnosis is guarded. We will not know for one week. He can see now. He has vision now. He can make out objects and light. It will take, however, about one week before we can tell what the results will be to his vision.

"Both eyes were damaged, perhaps the right eye more than the left. It is quite serious but I have hope for the best."

Riesel was attacked just after he left Lindy's restaurant at 51st St. and Broadway with Betty Nevins, a blonde who assists him in his newspaper and radio work.

"A man called to me but did not call my name," Riesel said. "Then he threw something."

Miss Nevins told police:

"I saw this man standing on the sidewalk. He walked over to Mr. Riesel and suddenly threw something at him without saying a word. I thought it was water."

Sulphuric Acid

However, it was sulphuric acid, an oily, searing liquid.

The attack left Riesel reeling on the sidewalk, clasping his hands to his face and moaning:

"My gosh. My gosh."

The FBI, the U.S. attorney and the district attorney's office all joined police in investigating the assault. Miss Nevins picked out several police photographs of men who resembled the assailant. They were being sought.

Miss Nevins described the assailant as a "clean-cut" man, about 26, of medium height, slim, dark-haired and hatless. Riesel recalled the acid thrower as "a clean-cut looking fellow — looked just like a typical American boy."

Gave Information

The U. S. attorney's office said Riesel recently gave information in connection with a federal grand jury probe of labor racketeering in the New York area.

In Washington, AFL-CIO President George Meany called the acid attack a "challenge to all decent elements in our society and specifically a challenge to those entrusted with the task of law enforcement."

An associate said Riesel's father was an anti-racketeering union leader who died as a result of a brutal beating, presumably provoked by his crusading nature.

"Victor has been caught in the same sort of thing," added the associate, Alton Levy.

In 10 years of labor reporting, Riesel has built up a national reputation. The Hall Syndicate distributes his column to the New York Daily Mirror and 192 other newspapers across the nation.

He is 41, married and has two children, Susan 9, and Michael, 14. His wife, Evelyn, and the two youngsters kept vigil at the hospital. So did Riesel's mother, Sophia.

Riesel had been subbing in recent nights for radio commentator Barry Gray, vacationing in California. Gray's program of controversial comment and interview is broadcast nightly beginning at midnight from Hutton's restaurant at 47th St. and Lexington Ave. It is carried by WMCA.

Rewards totaling $13,000 were offered by various newspaper organizations for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the acid thrower.

The Hall Syndicate, which handles Riesel's column, and the Daily Mirror, which prints it here, offered a $10,000 reward. The Newspaper Guild of New York, to which Riesel belongs, and the Overseas Press Club offered $1,000 each. The New York Newspaper Reporters Assn. offered $500.

A similar $500 reward was offered by the Society of Silurians, made up of veterans of 25 years of New York newspaper work.

Griswold

Griswold, 39, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law. For several years he was affiliated with local radio stations as a newscastor.

Floral Bombing

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The headquarters of Nationalist China's Air Force announced that planes had dropped flowers and propaganda leaflets the last two nights on four mainland cities. They were Shanghai, Nanking, Canton and Swatow.

The leaflets called on the mainland Chinese to join Thursday in a minute of silence for the victims of the Peiping regime. Thursday was the Ching Ming festival, on which Chinese yearly tend their ancestors' graves. President Chiang Kai-shek joined in the Formosa observance.

Girl Stabbed During School

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. — A 13-year-old eighth grade girl was stabbed Thursday as she walked along a corridor of Walnut Junior High School in Grand Island. She was cut with a switchblade knife.

Police later arrested a ninth grade boy they identified as Raymond L. Johnston, 16. He was picked up attempting to hitch a ride. He was booked for investigation.

The girl, Norma Semm, was treated for a puncture type wound on the hip and sent home. Her condition was described as "good."

Walnut Junior High Principal Howard Finley said, "I have been asking for a psychiatrist for this boy for some time."

Johnston was reported to have disappeared from school Thursday morning and was not seen until he reappeared walking down the hall with the Semm girl.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Semm of Grand Island.

Hall County attorney W. G. Blackburn said the boy will be taken into juvenile court Friday and the court will be asked to send him to Hastings State hospital for an examination. Blackburn said he had not talked to the boy and did not know the cause of the stabbing.

Acid-Thrower Partly Blinds Newsman; Columnist Had Warred On Racketeers

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — A stealthy assailant, without a word of warning, hurled sulphuric acid into the eyes of newspaper labor columnist Victor Riesel early Thursday. Riesel's eyesight was imperiled, possibly lost.

Only a short time earlier the nationally syndicated columnist had finished a radio attack on racketeers within the notorious International Union of Operating Engineers. He said he believed the broadcast provoked the attack.

Riesel

Riesel reportedly had been threatened in an anonymous telephone call three weeks ago against writing any more stories about convicted extortioners within the union.

Asked if Riesel would lose his eyesight, Dr. Geralimo Bonaccolto, chief eye surgeon at St. Clare's Hospital, told reporters:

Guarded Diagnosis

"The diagnosis is guarded. We will not know for one week. He can see now. He has vision now. He can make out objects and light. It will take, however, about one week before we can tell what the results will be to his vision.

"Both eyes were damaged, perhaps the right eye more than the left. It is quite serious but I have hope for the best."

Riesel was attacked just after he left Lindy's restaurant at 51st St. and Broadway with Betty Nevins, a blonde who assists him in his newspaper and radio work.

"A man called to me but did not call my name," Riesel said. "Then he threw something."

Miss Nevins told police:

"I saw this man standing on the sidewalk. He walked over to Mr. Riesel and suddenly threw something at him without saying a word. I thought it was water."

Sulphuric Acid

However, it was sulphuric acid, an oily, searing liquid.

The attack left Riesel reeling on the sidewalk, clasping his hands to his face and moaning:

"My gosh. My gosh."

The FBI, the U.S. attorney and the district attorney's office all joined police in investigating the assault. Miss Nevins picked out several police photographs of men who resembled the assailant. They were being sought.

Miss Nevins described the assailant as a "clean-cut" man, about 26, of medium height, slim, dark-haired and hatless. Riesel, recalled the acid thrower as "a clean-cut looking fellow — looked just like a typical American boy."

Gave Information

The U. S. attorney's office said Riesel recently gave information in connection with a federal grand jury probe of labor racketeering in the New York area.

In Washington, AFL-CIO President George Meany called the acid attack a "challenge to all decent elements in our society and specifically a challenge to those entrusted with the task of law enforcement."

An associate said Riesel's father was an antiracketeering union leader who died as a result of a brutal beating, presumably provoked by his crusading nature.

"Victor has been caught in the same sort of thing," added the associate, Alton Levy.

In 10 years of labor reporting, Riesel has built up a national reputation. The Hall Syndicate distributes his column to the New York Daily Mirror and 192 other newspapers across the nation.

He is 41, married and has two children, Susan 9, and Michael, 14. His wife, Evelyn, and the two youngsters kept vigil at the hospital. So did Riesel's mother, Sophia.

Riesel had been subbing in recent nights for radio commentator Barry Gray, vacationing in California. Gray's program of ontroversial comment and interview is broadcast nightly beginning at midnight from Hutton's restaurant at 47th St. and Lexington Ave. It is carried by WMCA.

Rewards totaling $13,000 were offered by various newspaper organizations for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the acid thrower.

The Hall Syndicate, which handles Riesel's column, and the Daily Mirror, which prints it here, offered a $10,000 reward. The Newspaper Guild of New York, to which Riesel belongs, and the Overseas Press Club offered $1,000 each. The New York Newspaper Reporters Assn. offered $500.

A similar $500 reward was offered by the Society of Silurians, made up of veterans of 25 years of New York newspaper work.

Griswold

Griswold, 39, is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law. For several years he was affiliated with local radio stations as a newscastor.

Floral Bombing

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The headquarters of Nationalist China's Air Force announced that planes had dropped flowers and propaganda leaflets the last two nights on four mainland cities. They were Shanghai, Nanking, Canton and Swatow.

The leaflets called on the mainland Chinese to join Thursday in a minute of silence for the victims of the Peiping regime. Thursday was the Ching Ming festival, on which Chinese yearly tend their ancestors' graves. President Chiang Kai-shek joined in the Formosa observance.

Girl Stabbed During School

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. — A 13-year-old eighth grade girl was stabbed Thursday as she walked along a corridor of Walnut Junior High School in Grand Island. She was cut with a switchblade knife.

Police later arrested a ninth grade boy they identified as Raymond L. Johnston, 16. He was picked up attempting to hitch a ride. He was booked for investigation.

The girl, Norma Semm, was treated for a puncture type wound on the hip and sent home. Her condition was described as "good."

Walnut Junior High Principal Howard Finley said, "I have been asking for a psychiatrist for this boy for some time."

Johnston was reported to have disappeared from school Thursday morning and was not seen until he reappeared walking down the hall with the Semm girl.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Semm of Grand Island.

Hall County attorney W. G. Blackburn said the boy will be taken into juvenile court Friday and the court will be asked to send him to Hastings State hospital for an examination. Blackburn said he had not talked to the boy and did not know the cause of the stabbing.

Lyndon Johnson Willing To Lead 'United' Texas Delegation To Demo Convention

JOHNSON CITY, Tex (INS) — Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson said Thursday that he is willing to accept leadership of a "united" Texas delegation to the Democratic convention as a favorite son candidate for President.

He said he will announce a firm decision in a statewide radio-television speech at 9:30 p.m. CST Tuesday.

Johnson told a news conference at his Texas ranch

If I can lead a united delegation and the evidence is overwhelming that Texas can speak with one voice then that is certainly a situation that would make me very reluctant to turn it down."

But he firmly reiterated that he will not go to the convention as a "stop anybody" candidate or even as a serious contender.

No Battle

"A candidate for President doesn't come to a metropolis like this and ride around and tend to his Herefords," he said

Johnson avoided getting into a word battle with Gov. Allan Shivers, whose conservative forces are geared for a no quarter fight with "Loyalist" Democrats for control of the delegation

But he said he has received thousands of letters from Texans since speaker Sam Rayburn—unofficial leader of the Texas Loyalists—suggested that Johnson be a favorite son candidate and delegation chairman.

Johnson said the letters indicate one thing — "that the people are tired of factionalism and want reasonable men to take a united delegation to the convention, speak the voice of the great majority of Texas, and fight to nominate the best candidate, and come back and do everything we can to elect him in November."

Factions Poked

In a poke at both factions in the Texas party fight, he declared

"The extremists are always loud and noisy, but the people pay little attention This is no time to divide our nation, our state or our party, and the people know it Anybody can knock down a house with a sledge hammer or divide our nation by inflaming tensions, but it takes constructive people to build a house and men dedicated to unity to preserve our nation

"Our people are looking for constructive paths They have had enough of leaders who promise what they cannot perform, and who do not perform what they promise"

Johnson sniped sharply at the Republicans, contending that the administration has "disappointed nearly everybody" in Texas.

The airmen have posted $2,000 appearance bonds, according to a deputy U.S. marshall.

Dolly Varden's 'Treasure Trove' Valued At $5.25

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The "treasure trove" discovered in the trunk of Dolly Varden, a circus queen of yesteryear, was appraised Thursday—at $5.25

Jeweler Thomas J. Tobin, the court-appointed appraiser, examined the "trunk full of jewels" and found it to be nothing more than broken costume jewelry and other imitation gems

The former circus queen died in poverty last December at 84, victim of cancer, and the discovery of the trunk's contents was announce this week by her attorney, W. W. Sleater III

Sleater had said the trunk contained diamonds, rubies, emeralds, gold and silver—and he estimated their value at possibly $100,000.

At the peak of her career, during which she was called the "Goddess of the Tanbark Trail," Dolly traveled in her own private railroad car and clothing and candies were named after her. She retired about 45 years ago.

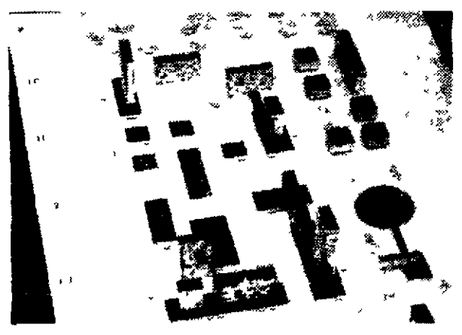
Designs for an "ideal" downtown Lincoln as it might appear 25 years from now have been prepared by University of Nebraska seniors in architecture.

They stress a metropolitan atmosphere. It's interesting reading as it portrays the trend of ideas by these young students.



This downtown area plan for Lincoln by a team of N.U. students features a civic center between 12th and 14th and Q and R. This group's commercial area extends from 10th to 14th and O to Q, and has no intersecting streets.

Violence Against Crusading U.S. Newsmen Has Long History

...Some Have Paid With Their Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — The use of physical violence against crusading newspapermen has a long and dishonorable history. Some dedicated newsmen have paid with their lives for exposing crime and corruption.

The sulphuric acid attack on New York Mirror labor columnist Victor Riesel on Broadway early Thursday recalled many similar cases. Riesel may lose his sight.

In the south Texas town of Alice on July 29, 1949, W. H. (Bill) Mason, a radio commentator and former newspaperman, was shot to death by Deputy Sheriff Sam Smithwick.

Mason had named Smithwick as being connected with a night club where prostitutes plied their trade. Smithwick gave himself up and was sentenced to life imprisonment. He hanged himself in prison.

Shot To Death

Don R. Mellett, a crusading publisher of the Canton, Ohio, Daily News was shot to death July 16, 1926 as he stepped from a garage at the rear of his home.

He had been publishing exposes of bootlegging, prostitution, and gambling, and charged the racketeers were booked up with police officials.

Pat McDermott, an imported gunman, and a number of others, including a police detective and the Canton chief of police, were convicted and sent to prison. The police chief later won a new trial and acquittal, but McDermott is still in prison.

At Fifth Avenue and 15th Street in New York City on Jan. 11, 1943, Carlo Tresca, editor of an anti-Fascist journal, was cut down by a hail of bullets.

The murder of the Italian-born Tresca, a leader in several radical political movements, caused Socialist leader Norman Thomas and the American Civil Liberties Union to press for its solution. They offered rewards and kept the case alive for years, but Tresca's killers never were caught.

Never Caught

Radio commentator Jerry Buckley in 1930 made many bitter attacks on gambling and corruption in Detroit. On July 23 of that year he was shot to death by three gunmen in the lobby of a downtown Detroit hotel. The murderers never were caught.

The morning of Jan. 25, 1929, Peter Campbell, a reporter for the Mamaroneck, N. Y., Daily Times, was beaten by two hired thugs because of his stories on a police vice crusade. A local hoodlum, Henry (Foot and a Half) Gironda, was convicted of planning the beating and sentenced to Sing Sing prison for second-degree assault.

Last May 25, Shawnee, Okla., News-Star reporter Jim Bradshaw charged that Sheriff Jim Harrington beat him up after he wrote news stories critical of Harrington's enforcement of the liquor laws. Harrington was indicted but a jury cleared him.

Dick Wilbur, a reporter for the Carlsbad, N. M., Current-Argus, several years ago was beaten up by unknown attackers for a series on a labor dispute in the Carlsbad potash mines.

A year ago Managing Editor Bob Brown of the Albuquerque, N. M., Journal, was socked by a prominent political figure who didn't like the stories Brown's paper was printing.

Like Father

NEW YORK (AP)—The story of Victor Riesel is one of "like father, like son."

Nathan Riesel, the father, a fighter for clean unionism, died in 1947 of injuries attributed to a beating by "the mobs."

Now the son, 5-feet-4-inch anti-rackets and anti-Communist labor writer and lecturer, lies fighting for his sight in a hospital after a sneak sulphuric acid attack.

Fiancee Gets Life Insurance Instead Of Mother—Court

Federal Judge John W. Delehant has entered a $10,436.40 judgment in favor of Lillian R. Martin of Seattle, Wash., interpleaded defendant, in a suit involving a National Service Life Insurance policy.

In a suit against the United States, John Ferneau of Auburn, as executor of the Grace Turner estate, had asked that Mrs. Turner be declared sole beneficiary of the NSLI policy of her son.

Her son, Joseph L. Turner was killed Feb. 3, 1951, in the Korean War.

The Veteran's Administration had disallowed the mother's claim on an appeal. Miss Martin, who was Turner's fiancee, had interpleaded that she was the designated beneficiary of the policy.

Mrs. Turner had contended her son intended to designate her as beneficiary before his death.

The seven Lincoln companies are host to the meeting, the first of its kind to be held here. Two other ALC regional meetings will be held this year—one in Dallas, Tex., Apr. 16-17 and one in Atlanta, Ga., Apr. 23-24.

Ava Going To Wedding

ROME (AP)—Film star Ava Gardner flew here from Spain en route to the Grace Kelly wedding—and almost didn't get into Italy. Immigration officials found her American passport had expired. After an exchange of words they finally granted the brunette beauty provisional entry.

Actress Gabor, Dr. Williams Get Marriage License

NEW YORK (AP) — Blonde actress Eva Gabor and Dr. John E Williams, a Beverly Hills, Calif. physician, Thursday got a license to marry—but only after a two-hour wait for checks on her marital record.

Miss Beatrice Dunn, of the city corporation counsel's office, said it was routine to require those married before to furnish evidence of legal divorce and that Miss Gabor at first did not have enough evidence.

The couple was kept waiting for two hours during which several telephone calls to Hollywood turned up the needed information.

Miss Gabor has been married twice previously, and Williams once before. He told reporters he first met Miss Gabor backstage after a play in California in 1952, and hadn't seen her again until three months ago. They plan to be married here Sunday.

Clean It Up

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP)—The Rev. Tom Richardson said people who throw confetti at weddings in his church hereafter have got to clean it up.

"Confetti-throwing is a ludicrous custom," said a notice he posted in St. Margaret's Anglican church. From now on, the vicar ruled, bridal couples who want to be showered with the stuff must:

Arrange for their guests to bring along brooms and dust pans to tidy up the mess, or

Use some kind of vanishing confetti which will disappear after being thrown, or Use confetti which birds will eat.

Norfolk Optimistic About Its Industrial Potential

. . . See Banner Year In 1956

Norfolk is optimistic about the industrial development potential with more eastern industry considering the city than ever before. What the city offers and what is being done to attract the industry is told in this article, one of a series.

By NELSON BARTH
Norfolk Daily News

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — Norfolk's industrial development potential for 1956 is better than it has been in any year in the past.

Forrest Swoboda, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, says the city is being considered by more eastern industry than heretofore.

Norfolk's two most important assets for industry are the quantity and quality of labor, and a favorable tax structure. The public schools have no bonded indebtedness, and haven't had any for 10 years.

Bond Debt Low

The bonded indebtedness of the City of Norfolk is only $105,000 which is low in comparison to that of the vast majority of towns the same size. Both school and city taxes are low compared to cities of comparable size.

Norfolk is attempting to get industries whose finished products are small, thereby cutting down the cost of shipping to markets.

Working with the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee in an effort to attract industry in this city are the Norfolk Industrial Corp., Greater Norfolk Corp., the city administration and the newly reated City Planning Commission.

Building Ready

The Greater Norfolk Corp., has on an industrial site a new building suitable for several types of industries. The corporation also is ready to construct buildings that will meet the needs of good and reliable industries desiring to locate in Norfolk, Swoboda states.

In addition to three railways that serve Norfolk, the Chicago and North Western, Union Pacific and M. & O., the city has excellent highways in all directions, U.S. 275 to the east and west, and U.S. 81 to the north and south.

With the Decatur bridge over the Missouri River now in use, the traveling distance to Chicago from Norfolk has been cut to 504 miles, 100 less than by other routes.

Norfolk is one hour's drive from Gavins Point Dam where one of the largest industrial areas in the Middlewest is expected to be developed in the next several years.

$ THE TRUTH ABOUT FOOD PROFITS $

The following is taken from an article that recently appeared in issue No. 3 of the BOOKLET RACK DIGEST, a Western Electric Booklet Rack Service for Employees written by Sherman Rogers, Author and Public Opinion Analyst.

Mr. Rogers asked his secretary "just how much net profit after taxes do you think a supermarket makes on every dollar of sales?" and was dumbfounded when she answered "Oh—25 or 30 cents." A dozen more answered—from 25 to 30 cents! 4000 customers were polled in Cleveland as they left various supermarkets and the answers varied from 5 to 50 cents with the average opinion of 19 cents net profit on every dollar of sales.

Surveys were then made in San Francisco, Denver, Dallas, Butte, Duluth, Minneapolis, Chicago, Akron, New York City, Bridgeport and in Houston. 11,000 more customers were polled and the opinions did not vary from those as given in Cleveland.

An average gross profit of about 17 cents on a dollar of sales must cover the cost of doing business—light, heat, rent, taxes, salaries, advertising and maintenance.

The net profit of the more than 10,000 Supermarkets of the three largest corporations of supermarkets was less than one cent on every dollar of sales.

This means that on an average $10 grocery order the supermarket owners made a net profit of from 7 and 10 cents, not the average $1.90 that the American public thinks they make or the $3 to $5 that thousands of people believe they make.

Beechners Ask You—how can a supermarket GIVE 100 trading stamps on a $10 grocery order when those stamps cost from 15 to 25 cents and the profit before stamps is less than a dime?

Beechners cannot absorb the cost of trading stamps and will not issue them, for to do so would unnecessarily raise the cost of living for Beechner customers.

Norfolk Optimistic About Its Industrial Potential

. . . See Banner Year In 1956

Norfolk is optimistic about the industrial development potential with more eastern industry considering the city than ever before. What the city offers and what is being done to attract the industry is told in this article, one of a series.

By NELSON BARTH
Norfolk Daily News

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — Norfolk's industrial development potential for 1956 is better than it has been in any year in the past.

Forrest Swoboda, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, says the city is being considered by more eastern industry than heretofore.

Norfolk's two most important assets for industry are the quantity and quality of labor, and a favorable tax structure. The public schools have no bonded indebtedness, and haven't had any for 10 years.

Bond Debt Low

The bonded indebtedness of the City of Norfolk is only $105,000 which is low in comparison to that of the vast majority of towns the same size. Both school and city taxes are low compared to cities of comparable size.

Norfolk is attempting to get industries whose finished products are small, thereby cutting down the cost of shipping to markets.

Working with the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee in an effort to attract industry in this city are the Norfolk Industrial Corp., Greater Norfolk Corp., the city administration and the newly reated City Planning Commission.

Building Ready

The Greater Norfolk Corp., has on an industrial site a new building suitable for several types of industries. The corporation also is ready to construct buildings that will meet the needs of good and reliable industries desiring to locate in Norfolk, Swoboda states.

In addition to three railways that serve Norfolk, the Chicago and North Western, Union Pacific and M. & O., the city has excellent highways in all directions, U.S. 275 to the east and west, and U.S. 81 to the north and south.

With the Decatur bridge over the Missouri River now in use, the traveling distance to Chicago from Norfolk has been cut to 504 miles, 100 less than by other routes.

Norfolk is one hour's drive from Gavins Point Dam where one of the largest industrial areas in the Middlewest is expected to be developed in the next several years.

STANTON DELAPLANE

POSTCARD

When the Ford stock went on the market, I bought myself three shares and sat down to live the rest of my life on the dividends. I bought a new pair of nail scissors and prepared to clip coupons.

It was a sort of wild gesture. I knew nothing about stocks and I had an idea that a V - 8 motor was something they used to can vegetable juice.

However, it opened a whole new field of literature to me. And I have spent some happy hours on the exchange rundown sheet.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, the first dividend check has arrived in the mail. It is a handsome document. It entitles me to $1.80 from the Ford bank account.

This will just about buy me one haircut. As I figure it, on this basis I will be pretty shaggy. One haircut every three months. As a matter of fact, $1.80 seems mighty slim pickings from a company as rich as Ford.

I have been going over the financial page carefully to find out if everything is OK.

The other morning the Ford company gave a report on what they call "a decade of growth."

It is an interesting document. But I wish Mr. Ford II would come out to the house and discuss it. If all the growth in 10 years only amounts to a buck eighty, this is pretty meager growth.

The company is rich as can be apparently. They are worth nearly two billion dollars. A billion more than they were worth in 1946.

Over that time they spent a billion and a half for modernization and expansion. Now they say they are holding another billion for the same purpose during the next two-and-a-half years.

Well, I have not been out to River Rouge for a number of years. But it seemed to me then it was quite expansive and modern too. If they are going to keep throwing billions into a plant as expensive and modern as that, no wonder we can only get $1.80.

It is my idea that Ford should start expanding and modernizing the stockholder. Namely me. I am not expanded and am old-fashioned as can be. You could spend a lot of money modernizing me. It would take more than $1.80. But it might be worth it.

I wonder what people say when they see me walking down the street.

"There goes an unexpanded, old-fashioned Ford Stockholder," they say.

And that kind of talk does a company no good.

I could be modernized into a new pair of pants, for instance. The kind of pants I am wearing now have pleats. Pleats are square these days. Everybody else is wearing stovepipes.

The other day I ran into an American Can stockholder. Dressed to kill. Had that nubby look.

Most stockholders I know have completely modern coupon-clipping outfits. With a little pocket for the nail scissors. I honestly cannot afford this on a measly $1.80 per quarter. And I advise the Ford people to raise the ante. Nobody looks at the plant. They look at the stockholders.

☆ ☆ ☆

I could be modernized into a pretty dashing fellow. Instead of a shaggy-haired Model-T person in a last year's coonskin coat.

All the power there, under the hood. But you have to dress me up with a little chrome finishing. Undersling me and extend the tail lights.

Frankly, Ford people, this cannot be accomplished on the present rate of dividends. Never mind the reports that dealer profits were "up substantially." Consider who is down substantially. Sitting here clipping paper dolls with his new nail scissors.

Going Places!

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A sixth grader's essay at Point Loma elementary school on his plan to go to the moon when he is 25 concluded: "After going to the moon, I would like to travel."

EASTER SEAL DRIVE SHORT OF GOAL

The almost completed Easter Seal campaign total has reached $7,756, far short of the announced goal of $20,000.

Dr. Leroy Laase, Lancaster County chairman, noted in making the announcement that much more is needed to meet the county goal.

That goal was set, he said, to allow the county group to continue its aid to crippled individuals and to allow for new projects already planned for this year, including the first Lancaster County recreation camp fire for crippled children.

"We must raise considerably more money in the final days of the campaign to prevent having to curtail our assistance to the handicapped," Dr. Laase said.

"We want to thank those who have already sent in their contributions, and ask other to be as generous as they can," he added.

Easter Seal funds are used almost entirely for the support of local projects of the Society for Crippled Children, Dr. Laase noted. The drive ends formally April 10.

On The Job!

BRADLEY BEACH, N.J. (AP)— Members of the volunteer fire company had just finished a roast beef dinner served by the auxiliary when the alarm sounded for a fire. "That was the biggest and fastest turnout we've ever had," one fireman said. A small blaze in an automobile was extinguished quickly.

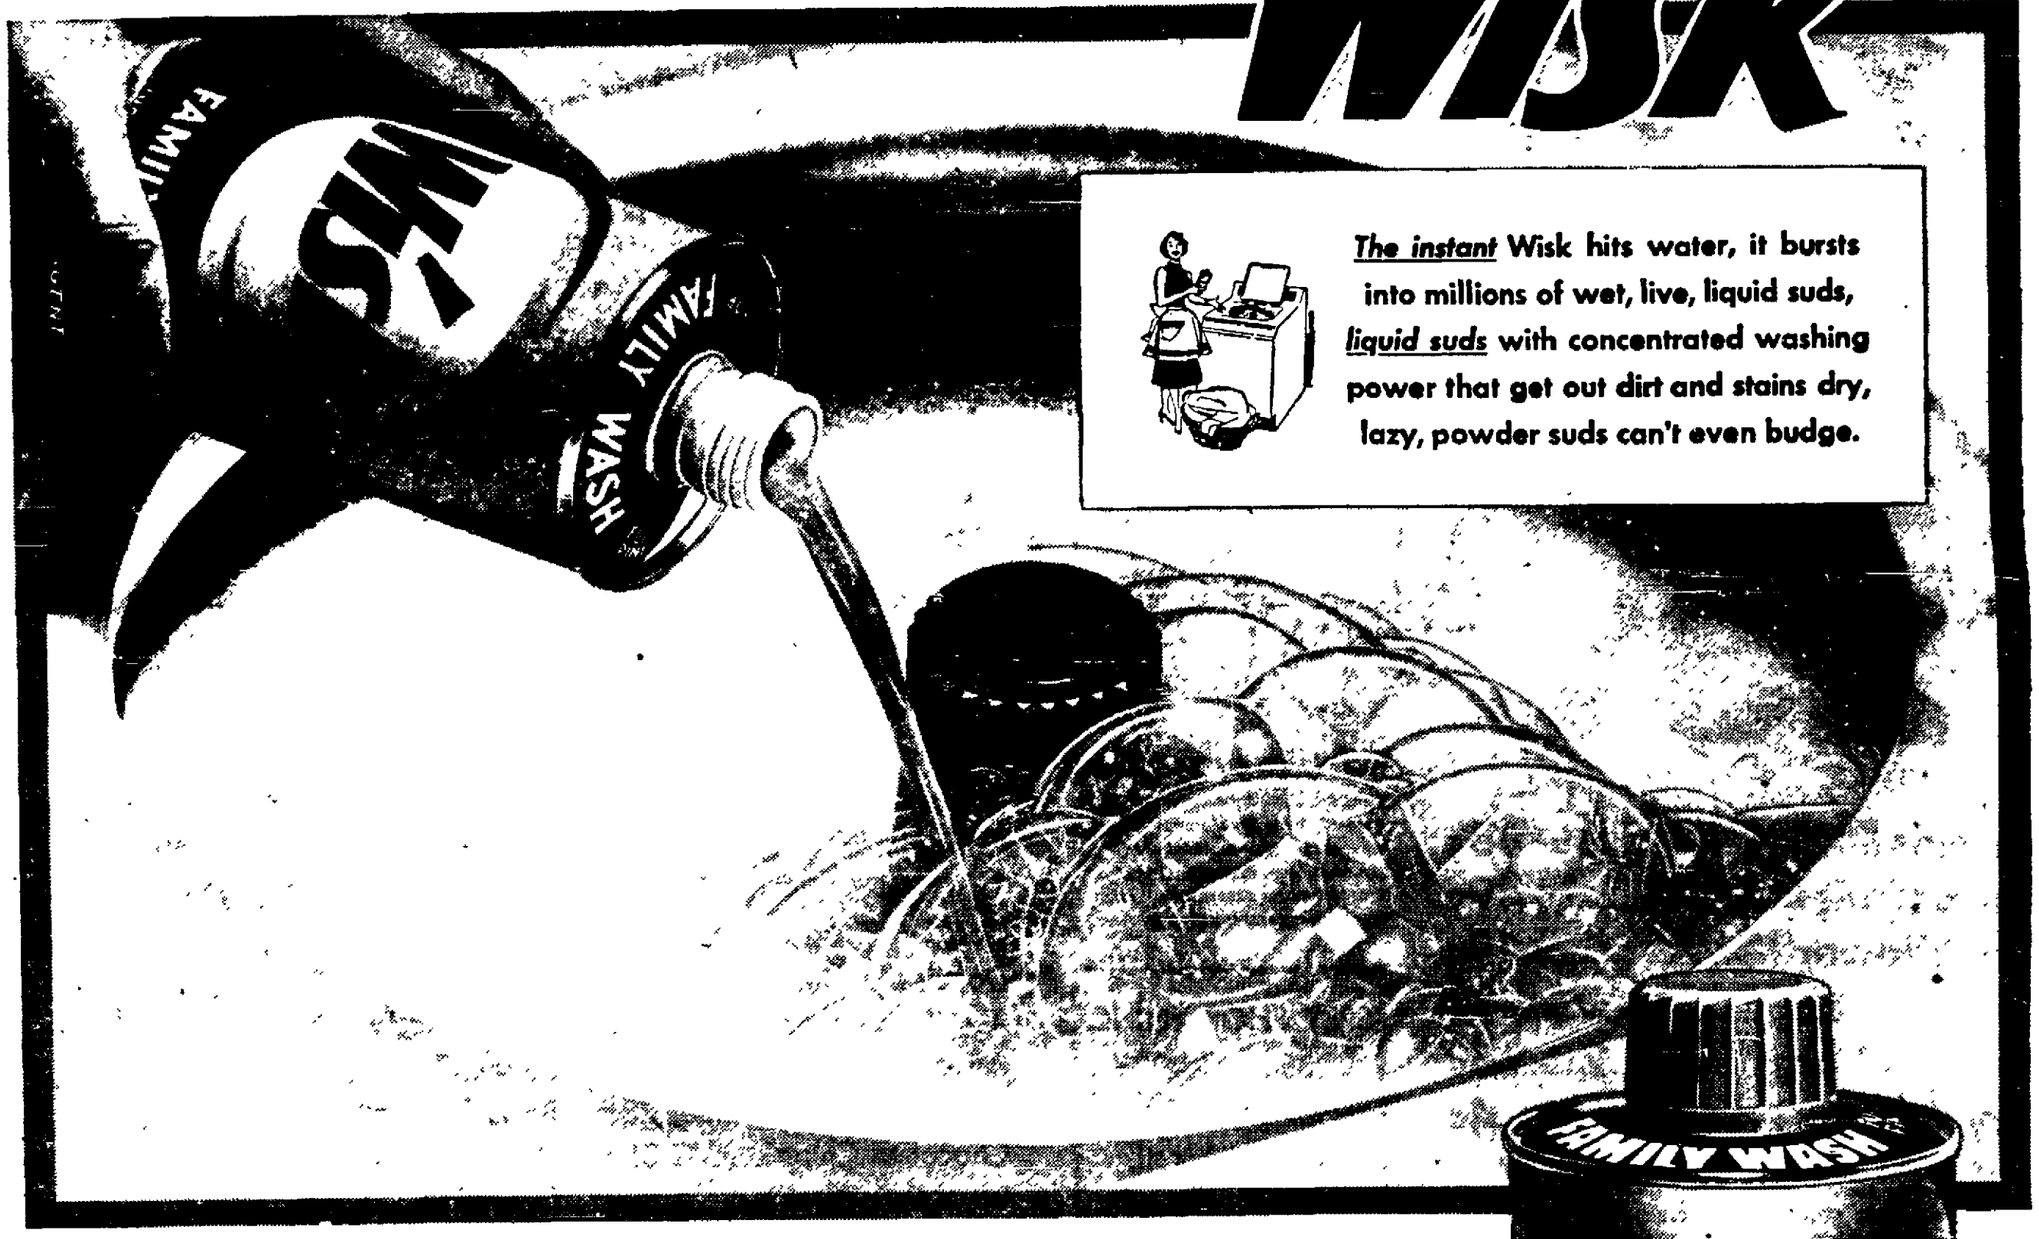
Liquid Miracle! No washday powder ever made can give you the concentrated washing power of new blue instant liquid Wisk



The instant Wisk hits water, it bursts into millions of wet, live, liquid suds, liquid suds with concentrated washing power that get out dirt and stains dry, lazy, powder suds can't even budge.

You will pour Wisk into your washer. It will get your family wash so clean and white that you will never use a powder detergent again!

LIQUID MIRACLE! WISK washes clothes whiter than any powder ever made! Without bluing or bleach, it gets white things up to three shades whiter with the first wash!

LIQUID MIRACLE! WISK removes more stains than any powder! Wet stain with water. Spread WISK directly on stain. Put in machine with rest of wash. WISK gets everything clean.

LIQUID MIRACLE! WISK is safer, much safer, than any powder ever made! WISK is safe as only a liquid can be. Safe for delicate fabrics, colors. Safe for hands. And no sneezes!

New, blue WISK is different from anything you ever tried. In the first place, it is a liquid you pour into your washer. It goes to work instantly. No waiting for powders to dissolve.

But, more important, new WISK is concentrated. It does three times as much wash as the same amount of powder. And does it better, too. For it gives you a concentrated washing power unequaled by any powder. Besides, new WISK is safe for hands, safe for fabrics — safe as only a liquid can be.

MAKES ANY WASHER TURN OUT A CLEANER AND A WHITER FAMILY WASH

Never again need you find a gravy spot left in a just-washed napkin, or a lipstick stain in a hand towel, or a grease spot in a suit of coveralls. For concentrated liquid WISK penetrates deep into cloth fibers in a way no powder can. Safely, but thoroughly, it pulls out stubborn stains, removes hidden dirt, gets everything clean.

And wait till you see what WISK does for shirt collars and cuffs! Without bluing or bleach, it gets white things up to three shades whiter with the first wash. In fact, WISK gets all your family wash so clean it even smells clean.

FIRST REALLY ALL-PURPOSE DETERGENT!

You will use WISK for just about every cleaning job in your home! It makes quick work of dishes. Soaks them clean. Concentrated WISK wipes grease off a stove or kitchen wall. It makes old, discolored linoleum look new. It gets yellowed kitchen cabinets white and shiny again.

WISK does the toughest jobs quicker, easier, more safely than products designed for these tasks. Now you can throw away those harsh and dangerous chemicals!

NO MORE MESSY, SNEEZY POWDERS!

And what a blessing WISK is! It does away with "washday hay fever"... with clumsy, soggy boxes . . . with messy powders that spill. And because WISK does so many jobs so well, you don't have to clutter your shelves with all those boxes and bottles you used to need.

WISK IS UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED!

We've promised a good deal for WISK and we mean it. In fact, we guarantee it! If you don't agree that WISK is the best detergent you've ever used — not just as good, but the BEST! — we at Lever Brothers will return the purchase price to you . . . plus postage!

STANTON DELAPLANE

POSTCARD

When the Ford stock went on the market, I bought myself three shares and sat down to live the rest of my life on the dividends. I bought a new pair of nail scissors and prepared to clip coupons.

It was a sort of wild gesture. I knew nothing about stocks and I had an idea that a V-8 motor was something they used to can vegetable juice.

However, I opened a whole new field of literature to me. And I have spent some happy hours on the exchange rundown sheet.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, the first dividend check has arrived in the mail. It is a handsome document. It entitles me to $1.80 from the Ford bank account.

This will just about buy me one haircut. As I figure it, on this basis I will be pretty shaggy. One haircut every three months. As a matter of fact, $1.80 seems mighty slim pickings from a company as rich as Ford.

I have been going over the financial page carefully to find out if everything is OK.

The other morning the Ford company gave a report on what they call "a decade of growth."

It is an interesting document. But I wish Mr. Ford II would come out to the house and discuss it. If all the growth in 10 years only amounts to a buck eighty, this is pretty meager growth.

The company is rich as can be apparently. They are worth nearly two billion dollars. A billion more than they were worth in 1946.

Over that time they spent a billion and a half for modernization and expansion. Now they say they are holding another billion for the same purpose during the next two-and-a-half years.

Well, I have not been out to River Rouge for a number of years. But it seemed to me then it was quite expansive and modern too. If they are going to keep throwing billions into a plant as expensive and modern as that, no wonder we can only get $1.80.

It is my idea that Ford should start expanding and modernizing the stockholder. Namely me. I am not expanded and am old-fashioned as can be. You could spend a lot of money modernizing me. It would take more than $1.80. But it might be worth it.

I wonder what people say when they see me walking down the street.

"There goes an unexpanded, old-fashioned Ford Stockholder," they say.

And that kind of talk does a company no good.

I could be modernized into a new pair of pants, for instance. The kind of pants I am wearing now have pleats. Pleats are square these days. Everybody else is wearing stovepipes.

The other day I ran into an American Can stockholder. Dressed to kill. Had that nubby look.

Most stockholders I know have completely modern coupon-clipping outfits. With a little pocket for the nail scissors. I honestly cannot afford this on a measly $1.80 per quarter. And I advise the Ford people to raise the ante. Nobody looks at the plant. They look at the stockholders.

☆ ☆ ☆

I could be modernized into a pretty dashing fellow. Instead of a shaggy-haired Model-T person in a last year's coonskin coat.

All the power there, under the hood. But you have to dress me up with a little chrome finishing. Undersling me and extend the tail lights.

Frankly, Ford people, this cannot be accomplished on the present rate of dividends. Never mind the reports that dealer profits were "up substantially." Consider who is down substantially. Sitting here clipping paper dolls with his new nail scissors.

Going Places!

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A sixth grader's essay at Point Loma elementary school on his plan to go to the moon when he is 25 concluded: "After going to the moon, I would like to travel."

EASTER SEAL DRIVE SHORT OF GOAL

The almost completed Easter Seal campaign total has reached $7,756, far short of the announced goal of $20,000.

Dr. Leroy Laase, Lancaster County chairman, noted in making the announcement that much more is needed to meet the county goal.

That goal was set, he said, to allow the county group to continue its aid to crippled individuals and to allow for new projects already planned for this year, including the first Lancaster County recreation camp fire for crippled children.

"We must raise considerably more money in the final days of the campaign to prevent having to curtail our assistance to the handicapped," Dr. Laase said.

"We want to thank those who have already sent in their contributions, and ask other to be as generous as they can," he added.

Easter Seal funds are used almost entirely for the support of local projects of the Society for Crippled Children, Dr. Laase noted. The drive ends formally April 10.

On The Job!

BRADLEY BEACH, N.J. (AP)—Members of the volunteer fire company had just finished a roast beef dinner served by the auxiliary when the alarm sounded for a fire. "That was the biggest and fastest turnout we've ever had," one fireman said. A small blaze in an automobile was extinguished quickly.

Adlai Says South Might Destroy Demo Party In '56 Walkout

KINDSLAND, Ga. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said Thursday that the South might destroy the Democratic party if it should walk out this year.

"It would be an unmitigating disaster if the South should leave the Democratic party because of a civil rights dispute," Stevenson declared in a copyrighted interview with M. L. St. John, political editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

"If the South left the Democratic party," he continued, "the Democrats not only would lose this important election this year, but the party would be injured for years to come. The Democratic party would be destroyed as an effective instrument of the liberals of the people's government."

The candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination emphasized the importance of the South to the Democratic party and of the party to the South.

Lose Prestige

He said he did not foresee any third party out warned that "by turning to a splinter party, the South could only lose its prestige in Congress, prestige it holds with influential Democratic leadership from the South."

As for the Republican appeal to the South, Stevenson said: "Certainly the South can expect no more sympathetic view of its problems from the Republican party than it is getting from its own party, the Democratic party."

Stevenson, who speaks at Jacksonville, Fla., at noon Friday, said he was optimistic about carrying Florida in the May 29 presidential preferential primary. He will be opposed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) who is making a determined fight in that state.

"I hope I will carry the Southern states at this year's convention," Stevenson said. "I am inclined to believe I will."

Stevenson is vacationing at the nearby plantation of the Harry Guggenheims of New York.

'FineCombination'

BATON ROUGE, La. (INS) — Governor-designate Earl K. Long said he believes a "fine combination" of Democratic party nominees would be Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois for president and Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio for vice-president.

Long, who takes office May 15, emphasized this his favorite nominee for President still is Adlai Stevenson, but said some of Stevenson's statements recently "haven't done him any good."

Kingery Bids Low For NAS Contract

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—The Kingery Construction Co., of Lincoln, Neb., was announced Thursday as the apparent low bidder for a contract to build a small arms magazine at the Lincoln Naval Air Station.

The Navy's district public works office said the Kingery firm bid $19,800. The other two bids were $20,466 by Korshoj Construction Co., of Blair, Neb., and $22,927 by the Olson Construction Co., of Lincoln, the Navy said.

The small arms and pryotechnics magazine is planned as a reinforced steel and concrete building, 13 feet by 22 feet.

A Navy spokesman said the magazine contract would be awarded in 15 to 20 days. The building was scheduled for completion in about four months.

Special Formula Bread

Because Its Protein Helps Raise And Maintain The Blood Sugar Level Of Normal People To More Effectively Appease The Appetite Control Center Of The Brain—So You Eat Less

Lactalbumin—The Revolutionary New Protein "Booster" From Milk—Gives It A "Higher Protein To Calorie Ratio"

Better For All The Family Because Better In Complete Protein Than Ordinary White And Whole Wheat Breads

In the brain's hypothalamic region, the appetite control center acts, in normal people, to increase your appetite . . . or . . . to reduce your appetite.

When blood sugar level drops, appetite goes up . . . when blood sugar level goes up, appetite normally goes down.

Eating some carbohydrate and protein-containing food 30 to 60 minutes before your regular meal is an effective way to reduce your appetite.

Because protein keeps the blood sugar level up longer. Thus, appeases your appetite control center longer.

So you crave food less . . . so you eat less.

PROFILE SPECIAL FORMULA BREAD DOES JOB FOR LESS

Two slices of Profile Special Formula Bread 30 to 60 minutes before lunch and dinner should appease your appetite control center.

Four slices of Profile Special Formula Bread cost about a nickel. Many wafers, pills, and tablets, used for appetite appeasement, cost up to twice as much to take. Thus, Profile Special Formula Bread curbs appetite for half their cost!

Actually, a one-pound Profile Special Formula Loaf gives you about 24% more complete protein than ordinary whole wheat bread; about 28% more than ordinary white bread. Because it contains the new miracle protein "booster" from milk—lactalbumin.

A loaf supplies about as much complete protein as 3 lamb chops. Note chart at right for vitamin and mineral content. Be sure to eat a well-balanced diet for sufficient vitamins and minerals.

BUY PROFILE SPECIAL FORMULA BREAD FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Adlai Says South Might Destroy Demo Party In '56 Walkout

KINDSLAND, Ga. (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said Thursday that the South might destroy the Democratic party if it should walk out this year.

"It would be an unmitigating disaster if the South should leave the Democratic party because of a civil rights dispute," Stevenson declared in a copyrighted interview with M. L. St. John, political editor of the Atlanta Constitution.

"If the South left the Democratic party," he continued, "the Democrats not only would lose this important election this year, but the party would be injured for years to come. The Democratic party would be destroyed as an effective instrument of the liberals of the people's government."

The candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination emphasized the importance of the South to the Democratic party and of the party to the South.

Lose Prestige

He said he did not foresee any third party but warned that "by turning to a splinter party, the South could only lose its prestige in Congress, prestige it holds with influential Democratic leadership from the South."

As for the Republican appeal to the South, Stevenson said: "Certainly the South can expect no more sympathetic view of its problems from the Republican party than it is getting from its own party, the Democratic party."

Stevenson, who speaks at Jacksonville, Fla., at noon Friday, said he was optimistic about carrying Florida in the May 29 presidential preferential primary. He will be opposed by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) who is making a determined fight in that state.

"I hope I will carry the Southern states at this year's convention," Stevenson said. "I am inclined to believe I will."

Stevenson is vacationing at the nearby plantation of the Harry Guggenheims of New York.

'Fine Combination'

BATON ROUGE, La. (INS) — Governor-designate Earl K. Long said he believes a "fine combination" of Democratic party nominees would be Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois for president and Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio for vice-president.

Long, who takes office May 15, emphasized this his favorite nominee for President still is Adlai Stevenson, but said some of Stevenson's statements recently "haven't done him any good."

RT. 92 ASSN. SEEKING TO ADD 56 MI.

. . . To Ask Solons

BROKEN BOW, Neb. (AP) — The Highway 92 Assn. decided to ask the Legislature to add 56 miles of new road to the highway. This would be from Arthur, where the highway now terminates, to Broadwater, where it would connect with Highway 26.

There is no marked highway now between Arthur and Broadwater and association officials have been busy contacting the county boards of Arthur and Garden counties for support in the move to get the Legislature to authorize adding the stretch to the state system.

The association voted to hire a paid lobbyist during the next session of the Legislature and instructed the new officers to start a search for a suitable man. Bill Ragler of Arnold was elected as the new president, Ken Hanna of Stapleton as vice president. Paul Harm, Broken Bow, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

50 Delegates

At the business meeting 50 delegates from Arnold, Arthur, Sargent, Flats, Ansley, Loup City, Burwell, St. Paul, Wahoo, Omaha, Broken Bow and Stapleton were present.

The banquet drew a crowd of 220 persons who heard State Engineer L. N. Ress say 98.3 miles of 92 are in the highway department's critical need category. Ress estimated $4,200,000 is needed to bring the highway up to the desired standard and said that at the present rate of work on 92 this would take six and a half years.

The association has been working on a 10 mile gravel gap between Ansley and Loup City but Ress would only say this mileage was included in the 98.3 miles of critical need category.

Mural Project

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Edmund Lewandowski, a Milwaukee artist may execute a huge mosaic mural—consisting of thousands of half-inch square pieces of Italian glass—for the cafeteria of a firm here. He says the 200-color mural will depict the progress of the company since 1906. Final decision has not been made on the project, but Lewandowski has left for Italy to arrange studio space, have the glass fabricated and hire 20 to 30 artisans to work on the mural. He said he plans to go back to Italy again this summer to supervise the intricate details. Plans are for sections of the mural, in which glass is glued to paper, to be shipped here and embedded in mortar at the site and the paper washed away, the artist said.

Olson Peps Uni To Win In Dual Go

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Writer

University High, paced by J. V. Olson's 24½ points, opened its 1956 track season in winning fashion Thursday afternoon, edging Geneva, 64-54 in a dual meet on the University of Nebraska track.

Olson found the near-perfect weather to his liking and won four events, took second in another and ran a leg on the winning 880-yard relay team.

The crew-cut junior skipped past all challengers to capture the 100 and 220-yard dash titles, the only individual events he took part in on the track.

Olson sparkled in the field, too. He won the shot put with a toss of 39-8¼; found the field sadly lacking for duscus throwers and won that title with an abbreviated throw of 98-8; and was nipped by teammate Marv Bauer in the broad jump by eight inches.

Bauer leaped 20-4½, one of the better marks reported in the state this year.

Bob Hamilton, lanky Geneva thinclad, turned in two of the top marks registered in the meet. He skimmed the 60-yard high hurdles in :08.5, and sailed 5-8 in the high jump.

Ron Isely of Geneva and the Tutors' Jake Dering provided one of the best races when they battled in the mile run. Dering made a stiff challenge until late in the race when Isely, who had been conserving his strength, forged ahead and won fairly easily.

Isely was timed in 5:05 for the four-lap race. He also ran on Geneva's mile-relay team which won in 3:54.5.

Little Ted Kossack of Uni High displayed plenty of power while outrunning opponents in the 180-yard low hurdles.

The speedy hurdler—who has been practicing on the barriers indoors—never hit his strade and literally "ran through" all but three of the hurdles.

But Kossack disregarded his "interference" and won the race in :24.4.

Results:

180-yard low hurdles—Won by Ted Kossack (UH); 2—R. Koehler (G); 3—Stiers (G). Time—:24.4.

880-yard run—Won by Larry Nichols (G); 2—Parker (UH); 3—Quattrocchi (UH). Time—2:17.

100-yard dash—Won by J. V. Olson (UH); 2—McCashland (G); 3—Bauer (UH). Time—:11.0.

440-yard dash—Won by Gary Elznic (G); 2—Larsen (UH); 3—L. Koehler. Time—:58.5.

60-yard high hurdles—Won by Bob Hamilton (G); 2—Kossack (UH); 3—R. Koehler (G). Winner's time—:08.5.

220-yard dash—Won by J. V. Olson (UH); 2—Hoy (UH); 3—Bauer (UH). Time—:24.8.

Egyptian Wins

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's Hamed Mustada nosed out his compatriot, Abdel Latif Abouheif, by a single second to win the first day's leg of the Nile swimming marathon. Thursday's race was 20 miles. Mustafa's time was 8 hours, 47 minutes.

Record-Holder At 13

Sylvia Ruuska (right), 13-year-old swimmer for the Berkeley, Calif., YWCA won the 400-yard individual medley race at Daytona Beach Monday in American record time of 5:14.9. She defeated defending champion Shelley Mann (left) in the Women's National AAU swim meet. (AP Wirephoto.)

Castellani Return Match Goal

Giambra Is 7-5 Favorite Over Sullivan

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Buffalo's Joey Giambra, hoping to spring back into the middleweight title picture, was the 7-5 favorite Tuesday to beat England's John L. Sullivan in their 10-round fight tonight.

Sullivan wants a return fight with Rocky Castellani, who handed the hard-punching Englishman his only defeat in four recent fights in this country.

Giambra, long a fixture among middleweight contenders, was ranked fouth when he went in the Army for a two-year hitch that ended last December.

He had five fights while he was in service, the last with then-champion Bobo Olson in San Francisco last summer. Joey made a good showing and had a contract for a fight with Olson for the title.

Then Sugar Ray Robinson came to the peak of his comeback trail and knocked out Olson to win the title. Giambra's title contract became just another piece of paper. He wants to make it negotiable again.

Joey's last fight resulted in a decision over Al Andrews in Norfolk, Va., in January. Giambra has sharpened up through constant training and appears to be in even better condition than he was against Olson.

John L. had his last outing here against Jackie LaBua March 7 and won a split decision. He looks on the fight as a stepping stone to a return with Castellani. He said: "If I can beat Castellani, who gave both Robinson and Olson a tough time, then I'd be good enough to beat anybody."

Sullivan, 23, is a walk-in slugger with a powerful right hand. Giambra, 24, is a clever boxer who packs a tricky left hook. The Preston, England fighter has won 65, 35 by knockouts, lost 18 and been in 3 draws.

Red Cloud Squad Uses Depth To Win Big Eight Loop Meet

How They Finished

1—Red Cloud, 57½; 2—St. Cecilia, 42¼; 3—Harvard, 37; 4—Clay Center, 35; 5—Nelson, 20¾; 6—Blue Hill, 14; 7—Edgar, 10; 8—Guide Rock, 8½.

Lincoln Star Special

HASTINGS—The Red Cloud cinder team won but three events here Thursday, but used depth to grab the title in the Big Eight Conference track meet with 57½ points.

More Starts Set For Ted Williams

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugging left fielder who has participated in only five exhibition games this spring, will start in "just about all" the remaining 10 as the Red Sox move into their barnstorming tour north, Manager Mike Higgins said Thursday.

"Ted will play just about all the way, unless something unexpected should develop,' said Higgins as the squad of 33 broke camp and headed for Jacksonville, Fla.

Williams has been nursing a groin injury since the first of the Grapefruit League games the second week in March.

Defense Gets NU Attention

Warm spring weather Thursday allowed Nebraska football aspirants to get in some good licks as Head Coach Pete Elliott and staff put the emphasis on defense.

About half an hour of the afternoon session was devoted to defensive scrimmage and defense will continue to receive most of the attention, Elliott said.

In squad changes, Larry Navaiux, Lexington freshman, was boosted to second string right half and Lyle Marten of Grand Island went to the same spot on the third string.

No other changes were made in the first two lineups Thursday.

Elliott also announced Thursday that the starting time for the game-condition scrimmage scheduled for Saturday has been changed to 2 p.m. Previously it had been slated to get under way an hour earlier.

The Huskers will get one more work out—today—before the rough work Saturday.

Russian Duo Next Rassle Feature

A crowd-pleasing duo of Russian tag-team rasslers proving a top attraction in other rings will be the next feature at the Fairgrounds Arena, Promoter Adam Krieger said Thursday.

Kreiger said he will have the Russians in Lincoln the last part of this month.

There will be no rassle April 10 as previously announced. Argentina Rocca, slated to be in the main event that night, has been booked solidly in the east, Kreiger said.

When middleweight Jackie LaBua fights he ties his wife's wedding ring to his right shoelace as a good luck charm.

Chiefs' Ticket Drive Moves Into Last Day

Good progress in the Lincoln Chiefs' annual pre-season ticket sale drive was reported by Jim Ebel, general manager of the drive, late Thursday as the campaign moved into its final day.

"I am very optimistic," Ebel said. "The weather has been good, we have had more workers and the early reports have been good."

All workers will check in at the Cornhusker Hotel headquarters between 4 and 8 p.m. tonight and a "pretty good idea" of the total sale during the three-day campaign will be known late Friday night, Ebel said.

He added that special credit is being given workers in the drive for the sale of season box seats to new customers. He said George Fenger, manager of the Optimist Club team, has reported the sale of seven season box seats.

Lowell Heiliger, manager of the Sertoma Club team, reported Thursday that two members of his team, Jack Andrews and Fran Minard, have both sold their quota of 20 books of tickets and that another worker, Ced Yoder, has doubled his quota and expects to go considerably higher.

Paul Feaster, manager of the Cosmopolitan Club team, said Cosmo's Irv Peterson and Lyle Owen have also surpassed their quota.

Good sales were also reported from Bethany by Manager Rollie Bailey of the Bethany Lions.

Fenger reported that one of his workers, Jack Obbink, has checked in with his quota complete and that another, Ross Idol, has checked out more tickets.

University Place Lions Manager C. O. Mason said his group has done "exceedingly well." Both M. C. Mayo and Dr. D. M. Hunt have passed their quotas.

Middlecoff, Defending Champ, One Stroke Back

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Ken Venturi, the current idol of golf's bobby sox set, took a page from Billy Joe Patton's book of sensations Thursday and again showed that an amateur can lead the greatest pros for one round of the Masters tournament.

Venturi, a handsome young automobile salesman from San Francisco, did it with a round of 32-34—66, six under par and one of the finest scores ever made on the massive, 6,965-yard Augusta National course.

At the end of a rain-sodden opening day, that put him one stroke ahead of highly-elated Cary Middlecoff, the defending champion; two up on a pair of seasoned pros, Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt, and even farther in front of the men everyone fear, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Middlecoff Satisfied

Middlecoff, bidding to become the first Masters champion ever to repeat the next year, got off to a highly satisfactory start with a round of 35-32—67. That would have been slightly sensational in most Masters tournaments, but rain left Augusta National's big greens in condition to yield to bold putters. Par of 36-36—72 was troublesome, but not impossible to beat.

"It had to be easy when I got a 66," Venturi grinned. "If I had been hot and dry, it would have been tougher."

Middlecoff agreed, "The greens were by far the easiest to putt than they ever have been."

April Showers

Not everyone found them that way, for there were plenty of scores in the 80's as 83 handpicked pros and amateurs fired their opening rounds through intermittent April showers.

Hogan shot a sound 34-35—69 to hold fifth place, well within reach of the leaders. But Snead and Jimmy Demaret, the only three-time Masters winners, both slipped a little as they finished in the rain and posted 73's.

Patton, the amateur who showed it could be done when he grabbed the first-round lead two years ago and eventually pushed Snead and Hogan into a stirring playoff, was Venturi's playing partner Thursday. He didn't do too badly, either. Irrepressible Billy Joe, scrambling in his usual effective way, fired a 70 to tie the PGA champion Doug Ford and Bobby Rosburg.

Deadly Putter

Venturi didn't copy him in this respect. The 24-year-old Californian, who was in the Army overseas when last year's Masters was played, wielded a putter he picked up in Germany with deadly effect. He made his putts for birdies on the first four greens and from there on he hardly could do anything wrong.

The score of 66 has been beaten before in the Masters. Middlecoff shot a 65 last year enroute to the title and Lloyd Mangrum set the tournament record of 64 in 1940. But no amateur ever had a round like it at Augusta National.

13-Year-Old Sets Mark In Medley

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Shelley Mann, for two years the nation's outstanding woman swimmer, Thursday was dethroned by a 13-year-old California girl in the 400-yard individual medley of the Women's National AAU indoor swimming championships.

Sylvia Ruuska, coached by her Finnish-born father, Weikko Ruuska, and representing the Berkeley, Calif., YMCA, set a new record for the punishing medly event and easily outdistanced 18 - year - old Miss Mann.

In the 100 yards of butterfly stroke which opens the medley Miss Mann took a slight lead and increased it to 5 yards through the 100 yards of backstroke. Miss Ruuska caught up in the 100 yards of breaststroke and pulled away steadily through the final 100 of free-style.

Her winning time of 5 minutes, 14.9 seconds bettered a 5:16.8 she made at Miami a week ago and wiped out Miss Mann's old mark of 5:18.6 in this meet a year ago. Miss Mann, representing Walter Reed Swim Club of Washington, D.C., was second in 5:21.9.

Wanda Werner, 15-year-old high school sophomore representing Walter Reed, won the 100-yard freestyle championship.

The Bethesda, Md. lass surged ahead in the final 25 yards to barely edge Helen Stewart of the Canadian Amateur Swim Federation in 58.6 seconds.

The 17-year old Canadian girl from Vancouver B. C., led for 75 yards only to lose out in the stretch. She was timed at 58.9 seconds.

Defending champion Mary Jane Sears of Walter Reed retained her 250 yard breaststroke title and bettered the new record she made in a morning qualifying heat.

The 16-year-old high school junior from Chevy Chase, Md., swam the 250 yards in 3 minutes 22.1 seconds, eclipsing her morning mark of 3:25.1. The previous record was 3:27.4, set by Gail Peters in 1953.

Miss Sears, a tall blonde, led after the first 25 yards and had to be in fine form to win from her teammate, Marie Gillett, who also beat the record with a time of 3:24.8.

Carin Cone, a 15-year-old high school sophomore from Ridgewood, N. J., broke the American record in winning the 200-yard backstroke title. Her time of 2 minutes, 26.4 seconds bettered the old record of 2:27.0 by Barbara Stark of San Francisco in 1953.

Chisox Defeat Cardinals 10-7

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A five-run splurge in the sixth inning that included a three-run homer by George Kell and one good for two runs by Luis Aparicio gave the Chicago White Sox a 10-7 verdict Thursday over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The contest, marking the start of the barnstorming trip home by both clubs, produced four homers by each team.

The White Sox snapped a four-game losing streak and handed the Cardinals their third defeat in their last 15 games on the strength of an outburst against Willard Schmidt, St. Louis starter who gave up eight of the Chi-Sox runs. Sherm Lollar homered off Luis Arroyo and Minnie Minoso off Gordon Jones.

Reds Tip Senators On Temple's Hit

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Johnny Temple rapped out a ninth inning single to score Roy McMillan and the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Washington Senators again Thursday, 4-3, at nearby Camp Gordon.

The Redlegs were behind by a 3-0 count as late as the last of the seventh. Then Bob Thurman came through with a two-run homer. In the eighth, a single by Gus Bell, an error by pitcher Ted Abernathy and Ray Jablonski's sacrifice fly scored the tying run.

U.S. Olympic Cage Team May Be Stronger Scorer

By HUGH WYLIE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The newly selected U. S. Olympic basketball squad should be equal to teams that represented this country in past years and "perhaps a bit stronger in the scoring department."

That is the opinion of Gerald Tucker who will coach the squad selected early Thursday by the Olympic Basketball Committees.

"Personally, I think we can mould an excellent outfit," Tucker said. "It's difficult to make any kind of comparison with our Olympic teams in the past since the rules have changed over the years.

"However, the team is well balanced and we'll offer a strong threat from the standpoint of scoring. We've got the height, and we've also got some good small men. To go with our offense, we also have some good defenders."

The Olympic Committee made the selections following completion of a three-day, round-robin tournament here. Two AAU teams—the Bartlesville, Okla., Oilers and the Seattle Bakers—an Armed Forces team and a College All-Star squad participated. The Oilers, coached by Tucker, won the tournament on a point basis, thus qualifying five men for the Olympics. Twelve players in all were selected, plus six alternates.

Of the 12, Bill Hougland, former University of Kansas star now playing with the Oilers, is the only one repeating from the 1952 Olympics.

Hougland said he felt this year's team, which will go to Melbourne, Australia for the games in November, would be just as strong as the 1952 outfit.

Count On Russell

"In fact, we may be a bit better because of the addition of Bill Russell," he commented. "His superb shooting and height will be a tremendous asset along with the over - all good balance of the squad."

Russell, 6-10, the University of San Francisco All - America, played with the College All-Stars in the tournament.

In addition to Hougland, other Bartlesville Oilers on the team are Chuck Darling, former Iowa great; Jim Walsh, one-time Stanford star; Burdette Haldorson and Bob Jeangerard. Haldorson and Jeangerard played at the University of Colorado in their college days.

Others selected were Russell, K. C. Jones and Carl Cain of the College All-Stars; Billy Evans, Gib Ford and Ron Tomsic of the Armed Forces, and Dick Boushka of the Seattle Bakers.

Jones played at the University of San Francisco and Cain at Iowa U. Evans played at Kentucky during his college career, Ford at Texas, Tomsic at Stanford and Boushka at St. Louis.

Alternates are: Joe Dean of Bartlesville, former Louisiana State player; Hal Lear, Temple, and Willie Naulls, UCLA, both with the College All-Stars; Ray Warren of TCU and the Armed Forces; Charles Koon, University of Washington and Terry Rand, Marquette, both of Seattle Bakers.

Named Coach

Tucker became head Olympic basketball coach automatically through his team's tournament victory. Frank (Bucky) O'Connor of the University of Iowa, the College All-Stars coach, was named assistant coach.

Tucker, a former University of Oklahoma player, became head coach of the Bartlesville club in 1954. He once made a trip to the Olympics—in 1948 as an alternate—but did not get to play.

KNOW YOUR GOLF

By TOMMY ARMOUR
(Second of a series)

Altogether too many golfers especially the women players, are trying to use clubs which are too heavy or too rigid for their physical capabilities. Your clubs should give you the feeling that you are controling the speed of the club head, instead of the club head controling your swing. The heads of your irons should not be so heavy as to cause strain when bringing them thru a shot. And unless you are particularly strong, young, and limber, I recommend the use of clubs in which there is a definite feel of whip in the shafts of everything from the 6-iron up. It's true — you can't buy a good golf game, but clubs that suit you are essential to good play.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Hal Totten, the Three-I League president who was in town to speak at the Chiefs' ticket drive kickoff breakfast, happened to be in the office when the subject of Class D ball in Nebraska came up.

"I certainly remember the old Nebraska State League," he said. "It was a great league and supplied some fine players to higher baseball."

The former sportscaster — he called Chicago U. football games back in that school's hey-day before becoming a baseball broadcaster—opined that the "State League was a D League when an A League was the same as Triple A is today — and that means pretty good baseball."

Hal was given the word that Bob Finch, National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues pub man, had visited Nebraska and mentioned possibilities of the Nebraska Independent League becoming a Class D rookie loop.

"I don't know the set up here, but the plan basically is a good one," Hal said. "I've been for it for quite a while."

As a matter of fact, when Rapid City, S. D., failed to win a Western League berth, several dejected businessmen asked, "Just how do we get organized baseball?"

And Totten suggested they try to form a Class D rookie league in that neck of the woods.

"I know the major leagues will go for the program and it would be a valuable addition to organized baseball," Totten said. "A rookie league will give a lot more boys chances to play and also expand baseball to less populated areas."

But the one thing Totten emphasizes above all others is local ownership.

"I think it's true everywhere—local ownership in the minors is a must," he said. "I find in our league that we have more problems, gatewise, in the two cities that have major league ownership than in the other six. And the same applies here. You (Lincoln) couldn't and wouldn't have your enthusiastic ticket drives if somebody else owned the club.

"When towns-people don't have an active part in running the club, it's awfully easy for them to say: 'Why should we help the major league club make money? Let them sell their own tickets'."

Totten feels that the best way for a Class D rookie league to operate is also through local ownership.

"Not only will local ownership create and maintain interest in the team and the league, it will benefit financially" he said. "If the local teams have control over the players, instead of the major league team, they will be able to sell players to higher leagues and make some money."

Hal said one way to make a rookie league successful— and profitable — would be to have the clubs agree to a strict salary limit, have local ownership with player control and, for example, allow two optioned players per club.

"It's definitely an interesting field of baseball and I'll be anxious to see how it works out," he said.

Olson Peps Uni To Win In Dual Go

By RON SPEER
Star Sports Staff Writer

University High, paced by J. V. Olson's 24½ points, opened its 1956 track season in winning fashion Thursday afternoon, edging Geneva, 64-54 in a dual meet on the University of Nebraska track.

Olson found the near-perfect weather to his liking and won four events, took second in another and ran a leg on the winning 880-yard relay team.

The crew-cut junior skipped past all challengers to capture the 100 and 220-yard dash titles, the only individual events he took part in on the track.

Olson sparkled in the field, too. He won the shot put with a toss of 39-8¼; found the field sadly lacking for discus throwers and won that title with an abbreviated throw of 98-8; and was nipped by teammate Marv Bauer in the broad jump by eight inches.

Bauer leaped 20-4½, one of the better marks reported in the state this year.

Bob Hamilton, lanky Geneva thinclad, turned in two of the top marks registered in the meet. He skimmed the 60-yard high hurdles in .08.5, and sailed 5-8 in the high jump.

Ron Isely of Geneva and the Tutors' Jake Dering provided one of the best races when they battled in the mile run. Dering made a stiff challenge until late in the race when Isely, who had been conserving his strength, forged ahead and won fairly easily.

Isely was timed in 5.05 for the four-lap race. He also ran on Geneva's mile-relay team which won in 3 54.5.

Little Ted Kossack of Uni High displayed plenty of power while outrunning opponents in the 180-yard low hurdles.

The speedy hurdler—who has been practicing on the barriers indoors—never hit his strade and literally "ran through" all but three of the hurdles.

But Kossack disregarded his "interference" and won the race in :24.4.

Castellani Return Match Goal

Giambra Is 7-5 Favorite Over Sullivan

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Buffalo's Joey Giambra, hoping to spring back into the middleweight title picture, was the 7-5 favorite Tuesday to beat England's John L. Sullivan in their 10-round fight tonight.

Sullivan wants a return fight with Rocky Castellani, who handed the hard-punching Englishman his only defeat in four recent fights in this country.

Giambra, long a fixture among middleweight contenders, was ranked fouth when he went in the Army for a two-year hitch that ended last December.

He had five fights while he was in service, the last with then-champion Bobo Olson in San Francisco last summer. Joey made a good showing and had a contract for a fight with Olson for the title.

Then Sugar Ray Robinson came to the peak of his comeback trail and knocked out Olson to win the title. Giambra's title contract became just another piece of paper. He wants to make it negotiable again.

Joey's last fight resulted in a decision over Al Andrews in Norfolk, Va., in January. Giambra has sharpened up through constant training and appears to be in even better condition than he was against Olson.

John L. had his last outing here against Jackie LaBua March 7 and won a split decision. He looks on the fight as a stepping stone to a return with Castellani. He said:

"If I can beat Castellani, who gave both Robinson and Olson a tough time, then I'd be good enough to beat anybody."

More Starts Set For Ted Williams

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox slugging left fielder who has participated in only five exhibition games this spring, will start in "just about all" the remaining 10 as the Red Sox move into their barnstorming tour north, Manager Mike Higgins said Thursday.

"Ted will play just about all the way, unless something unexpected should develop," said Higgins as the squad of 33 broke camp and headed for Jacksonville, Fla.

Williams has been nursing a groin injury since the first of the Grapefruit League games the second week in March.

Chiefs' Ticket Drive Moves Into Last Day

Good progress in the Lincoln Chiefs' annual pre-season ticket sale drive was reported by Jim Ebel, general manager of the drive, late Thursday as the campaign moved into its final day.

"I am very optimistic," Ebel said. "The weather has been good, we have had more workers and the early reports have been good."

All workers will check in at the Cornhusker Hotel headquarters between 4 and 8 p.m. tonight and a "pretty good idea" of the total sale during the three-day campaign will be known late Friday night, Ebel said.

He added that special credit is being given workers in the drive for the sale of season box seats to new customers. He said George Fenger, manager of the Optimist Club team, has reported the sale of seven season box seats.

Lowell Heiliger, manager of the Sertoma Club team, reported Thursday that two members of his team, Jack Andrews and Fran Minard, have both sold their quota of 20 books of tickets and that another worker, Ced Yoder, has doubled his quota and expects to go considerably higher.

Paul Feaster, manager of the Cosmopolitan Club team, said Cosmo's Irv Peterson and Lyle Owen have also surpassed their quota.

Good sales were also reported from Bethany by Manager Rollie Bailey of the Bethany Lions.

Fenger reported that one of his workers, Jack Obbink, has checked in with his quota complete and that another, Ross Idol, has checked out more tickets.

University Place Lions Manager C. O. Mason said his group has done "exceedingly well." Both M. C. Mayo and Dr. D. M. Hunt have passed their quotas.

Defense Gets NU Attention

Warm spring weather Thursday allowed Nebraska football aspirants to get in some good licks as Head Coach Pete Elliott and staff put the emphasis on defense.

About half an hour of the afternoon session was devoted to defensive scrimmage and defense will continue to receive most of the attention, Elliott said.

In squad changes, Larry Navlaux, Lexington freshman, was boosted to second string right half and Lyle Marten of Grand Island went to the same spot on the third string.

No other changes were made in the first two lineups Thursday.

Elliott also announced Thursday that the starting time for the game-condition scrimmage scheduled for Saturday has been changed to 2 p.m. Previously it had been slated to get under way an hour earlier.

The Huskers will get one more work out—today—before the rough work Saturday.

SE Tennis Team Whips Northeast

Stan Rutsmanis (SE) defeated Bruce Sloan (NE), 7-5, 7-5, 6-1.

Gary Gibson and Dan Smith (SE) defeated Bruce Marts and Hans Burchardt (NE) 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Don White and Tom Loging (SE) defeated Jean Nibler and Carl Olson (NE), 8-2, 8-4.

Russian Duo Next Rassle Feature

A crowd-pleasing duo of Russian tag-team rasslers proving a top attraction in other rings will be the next feature at the Fairgrounds Arena, Promoter Adam Krieger said Thursday.

Kreiger said he will have the Russians in Lincoln the last part of this month.

There will be no rassle April 19 as previously announced. Argentina Rocca, slated to be in the main event that night, has been booked solidly in the east, Kreiger said.

Middlecoff, Defending Champ, One Stroke Back

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Ken Venturi, the current idol of golf's bobby sox set, took a page from Billy Joe Patton's book of sensations Thursday and again showed that an amateur can lead the greatest pros for one round of the Masters tournament.

Venturi, a handsome young automobile salesman from San Francisco, did it with a round of 32-34—66, six under par and one of the finest scores ever made on the massive, 6,965-yard Augusta National course.

At the end of a rain-sodden opening day, that put him one stroke ahead of highly-elated Cary Middlecoff, the defending champion; two up on a pair of seasoned pros, Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt, and even farther in front of the men everyone fear, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead.

Middlecoff Satisfied

Middlecoff, bidding to become the first Masters champion ever to repeat the next year, got off to a highly satisfactory start with a round of 35-32—67. That would have been slightly sensational in most Masters tournaments, but rain left Augusta National's big greens in condition to yield to bold putters. Par of 36-36—72 was troublesome, but not impossible to beat.

"It had to be easy when I got a 66," Venturi grinned. "If I had been hot and dry, it would have been tougher."

Middlecoff agreed, "The greens were by far the easiest to putt than they ever have been."

April Showers

Not everyone found them that way, for there were plenty of scores in the 80's as 83 handpicked pros and amateurs fired their opening rounds through intermittent April showers.

Hogan shot a sound 34-35—69 to hold fifth place, well within reach of the leaders. But Snead and Jimmy Demaret, the only three-time Masters winners, both slipped a little as they finished in the rain and posted 73's.

Patton, the amateur who showed it could be done when he grabbed the first-round lead two years ago and eventually pushed Snead and Hogan into a stirring playoff, was Venturi's playing partner Thursday. He didn't do too badly, either. Irrepressible Billy Joe, scrambling in his usual effective way, fired a 70 to tie the PGA champion Doug Ford and Bobby Rosburg.

Deadly Putter

Venturi didn't copy him in this respect. The 24-year-old Californian, who was in the Army overseas when last year's Masters was played, wielded a putter he picked up in Germany with deadly effect. He made his putts for birdies on the first four greens and from there on he hardly could do anything wrong.

The score of 66 has been beaten before in the Masters. Middlecoff shot a 65 last year enroute to the title and Lloyd Mangrum set the tournament record of 64 in 1940. But no amateur ever had a round like it at Augusta National.

13-Year-Old Sets Mark In Medley

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Shelley Mann, for two years the nation's outstanding woman swimmer, Thursday was dethroned by a 13-year-old California girl in the 400-yard individual medley of the Women's National AAU indoor swimming championships.

Sylvia Ruuska, coached by her Finnish-born father, Weikko Ruuska, and representing the Berkeley, Calif., YMCA, set a new record for the punishing medly event and easily outdistanced 18 - year - old Miss Mann.

In the 100 yards of butterfly stroke which opens the medley Miss Mann took a slight lead and increased it to 5 yards through the 100 yards of backstroke. Miss Ruuska caught up in the 100 yards of breaststroke and pulled away steadily through the final 100 of free-style.

Her winning time of 5 minutes, 14.9 seconds bettered a 5:16.8 she made at Miami a week ago and wiped out Miss Mann's old mark of 5:18.6 in this meet a year ago. Miss Mann, representing Walter Reed Swim Club of Washington, D.C., was second in 5:21.9.

Wanda Werner, 15 year-old high school sophomore representing Walter Reed, won the 100-yard freestyle championship.

The Bethesda, Md. lass surged ahead in the final 25 yards to barely edge Helen Stewart of the Canadian Amateur Swim Federation in 58.6 seconds.

The 17-year old Canadian girl from Vancouver B. C., led for 75 yards only to lose out in the stretch. She was timed at 58.9 seconds.

Defending champion Mary Jane Sears of Walter Reed retained her 250 yard breaststroke title and bettered the new record she made in a morning qualifying heat.

The 16-year-old high school junior from Chevy Chase, Md., swam the 250 yards in 3 minutes 22.1 seconds, eclipsing her morning mark of 3:25.1. The previous record was 3:27.4, set by Gail Peters in 1953.

Miss Sears, a tall blonde, led after the first 25 yards and had to be in fine form to win from her teammate, Marie Gillett, who also beat the record with a time of 3:24.8.

Carin Cone, a 15-year-old high school sophomore from Ridgewood, N. J., broke the American record in winning the 200-yard backstroke title. Her time of 2 minutes, 26.4 seconds bettered the old record of 2:27.0 by Barbara Stark of San Francisco in 1953.

Chisox Defeat Cardinals 10-7

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A five-run splurge in the sixth inning that included a three-run homer by George Kell and one good for two runs by Luis Aparicio gave the Chicago White Sox a 10-7 verdict Thursday over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The contest, marking the start of the barnstorming trip home by both clubs, produced four homers by each team.

The White Sox snapped a four-game losing streak and handed the Cardinals their third defeat in their last 15 games on the strength of an outburst against Willard Schmidt, St. Louis starter who gave up eight of the Chi-Sox runs. Sherm Lollar homered off Luis Arroyo and Minnie Minoso off Gordon Jones.

Reds Tip Senators On Temple's Hit

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Johnny Temple rapped out a ninth inning single to score Roy McMillan and the Cincinnati Redlegs defeated the Washington Senators again Thursday, 4-3, at nearby Camp Gordon.

The Redlegs were behind by a 3-0 count as late as the last of the seventh. Then Bob Thurman came through with a two-run homer. In the eighth, a single by Gus Bell, an error by pitcher Ted Abernathy and Ray Jablonski's sacrifice fly scored the tying run.

U.S. Olympic Cage Team May Be Stronger Scorer

By HUGH WYLIE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The newly selected U. S. Olympic basketball squad should be equal to teams that represented this country in past years and "perhaps a bit stronger in the scoring department."

That is the opinion of Gerald Tucker who will coach the squad selected early Thursday by the Olympic Basketball Committees.

"Personally, I think we can mould an excellent outfit," Tucker said. "It's difficult to make any kind of comparison with our Olympic teams in the past since the rules have changed over the years.

"However, the team is well balanced and we'll offer a strong threat from the standpoint of scoring. We've got the height, and we've also got some good small men. To go with our offense, we also have some good defenders."

The Olympic Committee made the selections following completion of a three-day, round-robin tournament here. Two AAU teams—the Bartlesville, Okla., Oilers and the Seattle Bakers—an Armed Forces team and a College All-Star squad participated. The Oilers, coached by Tucker, won the tournament on a point basis, thus qualifying five men for the Olympics. Twelve players in all were selected, plus six alternates.

Of the 12, Bill Hougland, former University of Kansas star now playing with the Oilers, is the only one repeating from the 1952 Olympics.

Hougland said he felt this year's team, which will go to Melbourne, Australia for the games in November, would be just as strong as the 1952 outfit.

Count On Russell

"In fact, we may be a bit better because of the addition of Bill Russell," he commented. "His superb shooting and height will be a tremendous asset along with the over-all good balance of the squad."

Russell, 6-10, the University of San Francisco All-America, played with the College All-Stars in the tournament.

In addition to Hougland, other Bartlesville Oilers on the team are Chuck Darling, former Iowa great; Jim Walsh, one-time Stanford star; Burdette Haldorson and Bob Jeangerard. Haldorson and Jeangerard played at the University of Colorado in their college days.

Others selected were Russell, K. C. Jones and Carl Cain of the College All-Stars; Billy Evans, Gib Ford and Ron Tomsic of the Armed Forces, and Dick Boushka of the Seattle Bakers.

Jones played at the University of San Francisco and Cain at Iowa U. Evans played at Kentucky during his college career, Ford at Texas, Tomsic at Stanford and Boushka at St. Louis.

Alternates are: Joe Dean of Bartlesville, former Louisiana State player: Hal Lear, Temple, and Willie Naulls, UCLA, both with the College All-Stars; Ray Warren of TCU and the Armed Forces; Charles Koon, University of Washington and Terry Rand, Marquette, both of Seattle Bakers.

Named Coach

Tucker became head Olympic basketball coach automatically through his team's tournament victory. Frank (Bucky) O'Connor of the University of Iowa, the College All-Stars coach, was named assistant coach.

Tucker, a former University of Oklahoma player, became head coach of the Bartlesville club in 1954. He once made a trip to the Olympics—in 1948 as an alternate—but did not get to play.

KNOW YOUR GOLF

By TOMMY ARMOUR
(Second of a series)

Altogether too many golfers especially the women players, are trying to use clubs which are too heavy or too rigid for their physical capabilities. Your clubs should give you the feeling that you are controling the speed of the club head, instead of the club head controling your swing. The heads of your irons should not be so heavy as to cause strain when bringing them thru a shot. And unless you are particularly strong, young, and limber, I recommend the use of clubs in which there is a definite feel of whip in the shafts of everything from the 6-iron up. It's true — you can't buy a good golf game, but clubs that suit you are essential to good play.

Lincoln High, Rocket Teams To Compete

Lincoln prep athletes of every spring sport but baseball are slated for competitive action today in what could be called the "unofficial opening" of the spring season.

Northeast and Lincoln High track teams travel out of town for cinder meets. Lincoln High is opening the 1956 season in the North Platte Invitational, competing against North Platte, Grand Island and Scottsbluff.

The Rockets will meet Beatrice in a dual affair. The Orangemen are slightly favored but Northeast hasn't been tested yet and may pull some surprises.

Northeast and Southeast golf teams will battle in a match at Pioneers park.

Lincoln High's golf and tennis teams will compete in North Platte. The golf team will play in the North Platte Invitational golf meet, and the tennis team will meet the Bulldogs of North Platte in a dual.

It may seem late, but the Prairie Bowmen — Lincoln field archery group—has scheduled an April Fool's Shoot Sunday, April 8, on the local field range.

★ ★ ★

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Hal Totten, the Three-I League president who was in town to speak at the Chiefs' ticket drive kickoff breakfast, happened to be in the office when the subject of Class D ball in Nebraska came up.

"I certainly remember the old Nebraska State League," he said. "It was a great league and supplied some fine players to higher baseball."

The former sportscaster — he called Chicago U. football games back in that school's hey-day before becoming a baseball broadcaster—opined that the "State League was a D League when an A League was the same as Triple A is today — and that means pretty good baseball."

Hal was given the word that Bob Finch, National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues pub man, had visited Nebraska and mentioned possibilities of the Nebraska Independent League becoming a Class D rookie loop.

"I don't know the set up here, but the plan basically is a good one," Hal said. "I've been for it for quite a while."

As a matter of fact, when Rapid City, S. D., failed to win a Western League berth, several dejected businessmen asked, "Just how do we get organized baseball?"

And Totten suggested they try to form a Class D rookie league in that neck of the woods.

"I know the major leagues will go for the program and it would be a valuable addition to organized baseball," Totten said. "A rookie league will give a lot more boys chances to play and also expand baseball to less populated areas."

But the one thing Totten emphasizes above all others is local ownership.

"I think it's true everywhere—local ownership in the minors is a must," he said. "I find in our league that we have more problems, gatewise, in the two cities that have major league ownership than in the other six. And the same applies here. You (Lincoln) couldn't and wouldn't have your enthusiastic ticket drives if somebody else owned the club.

"When towns-people don't have an active part in running the club, it's awfully easy for them to say: 'Why should we help the major league club make money? Let them sell their own tickets'."

Totten feels that the best way for a Class D rookie league to operate is also through local ownership.

"Not only will local ownership create and maintain interest in the team and the league, it will benefit financially" he said. "If the local teams have control over the players, instead of the major league team, they will be able to sell players to higher leagues and make some money."

Hal said one way to make a rookie league successful— and profitable — would be to have the clubs agree to a strict salary limit, have local ownership with player control and, for example, allow two optioned players per club.

"It's definitely an interesting field of baseball and I'll be anxious to see how it works out," he said.

Workhorse Star Eyes 30 Wins

WILSON, N.C., (INS) — With 20-game winners getting as rare as daylight ball games, it's amazing how the Phillies treat Robin Roberts just like any other baseball player—except when they hand him his $50,000 paycheck.

They take him for granted; and not without due cause.

For six years now, the bellwether of their mound corps has notched 20 victories or more with his sturdy right arm. They are confident — and his showings in the citrus circuit to date bolster their feeling — that this year will be the seventh.

The big question this season is whether Robin can reach 30 victories.

"Any guy that can make winning look so easy as Robbie should be able to get 30 wins with just a few breaks here and there," says teammate Del Ennis.

Roberts himself won't say. Mostly he confines his public activity to performing pitching magic on the mound. When he does talk, it's usually in his capacity as National League player representative, and then he's talking for others.

The closest he came to the magic 30 was in 1952, when he logged 28 victories and seven losses. This proved somewhat of a boomerang, however, because the next year he won "only" 23, and the front office wanted him to take a pay cut the following season.

Public clamor, however, forced the front office to backtrack, and Robin continued as the mainstay of the mound corps.

His astounding record has been compiled despite the team's weak batting punch. Roberts doesn't get "star" treatment, however, because he is a workhorse.

Last year, the strapping 190-pounder pitched 305 innings, tops in the league. Nearest to him in that department was the Braves' Warren Spahn, with 246.

In all, Roberts appeared in 41 games, starting 38, and finishing 26. He wound up the season with a record of 23 victories against 14 defeats. His wins were tops, but whenever someone mentions them, he quickly reminds them that his 41 home-run balls also were tops.

Along with the 30-game goal this season, Roberts also would like to pitch a no-hitter—a feat which has eluded him so far. The closest he came was last opening day when he hurled hitless ball for 8 1-3 innings before the Giants' Alvin Dark singled with one out in the ninth.

He finished with a three-hitter as the Phils won 4-2.

On Storms And Barnstorming

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league baseball clubs are traveling north by easy stages, or by stage, if you listen to the brumbling of the athletes over the herky-jerky, stuttering progress from town to town to fill exhibition dates.

They would seem to have a just complaint, at that. After weeks of training during which they loosen arms and tighten belts under most favorable weather conditions in Florida or Arizona, they are loaded onto trains for a series of one-night stands guaranteed to take the edge off the most finely-conditioned player.

Greeted often along the way by rain, cold, wind, dust storms and whatnot, and as often playing on fields which invite injury, they are the unwilling pawns of club owners who seek to pick up a few bucks to help defray expenses.

Not All Prairies

Not all of the fields are untamed prairies, naturally. The larger cities usually have first-class parks, but the whims of spring weather are unpredictable and it can rain just as hard or get just as chilly in Houston as it can in Albany, Ga.

The one redeeming feature of the itinerary is that it gives fans in communities isolated from major league baseball during the regular season a chance to see the stars perform. This, in theory at least, should enhance interest in the sport.

Except for that, the clubs would be much better off if they remained in their training areas until two or three days before the season opened, then make an uninterrupted journey northward, or eastward.

To give an example of the trials of the barnstorming clubs we have at hand accounts of a game played at Lubbock, Tex., between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants, who each spring pair up for the exhibition tour which finishes the training season, if not the players.

30-Mile Wind

The Giants won this one, 13-12, with a 30-mile wind turning pop flies into home runs and the diamond so soft and sandy that the Giant manager, Bill Rigney, took one look at it and decided right then to use his regulars sparingly to protect them from possible injury.

That was probably an extreme example of poor weather and ground conditions, but we can recall games of other spring tours which had to be called because swirling dust obscured the players, let alone the ball.

It has been fortunate that not too many serious injuries have been recorded on the exhibition tours, although minor strains and sprains, not to speak of sore arms brought on by exposure to damp or chilly weather, have been plentiful.

The most serious injury we recall was that suffered by Monte Irvin in the spring of 1952; an injury that ruined whatever chance the Giants had of repeating as National League champions.

Irvin suffered a badly broken ankle in a game at Denver, although it must be said that the playing conditions had nothing to do with the accident. Irvin caught his spikes sliding into third base, that's all, and such a misfortune could have happened on any field.

We imagine that if the players were polled as to whether or not they should make the spring exhibition tour they would vote overwhelmingly against it, but they have nothing to say about it.

Such games have been played ever since the idea of pre-season training originated, and they probably always will be played. But that still doesn't make the practice a smart idea.

Phils Break Camp, Start Trip North

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies broke training camp here Thursday and prepared to make the barnstorming trip north after assuring a favorable 12-11 Grapefruit League balance with a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday.

During the 25-game tuneup in the South, shortstop Granny Hamner dispelled all thoughts that his lame shoulder hadn't healed. In addition to playing his usually fine game in the field, Hamner compiled a .358 batting average with three home runs. He had at least one hit in 16 of the 18 games he played in.

The Phillies were off to a bad start in exhibition play but have won their last six games.

Tribe's Pitchers Stop Giants, 2-0

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—For the second straight day, brilliant Cleveland pitching stopped the New York Giants Thursday by a score of 2-0.

Just as Bob Lemon and Bob Feller did the trick Wednesday, this time Herb Score, Ray Narleski and Bud Daley collaborated on a five-hitter.

Score, sophomore southpaw ace, worked the first five innings and blanked the Giants on two hits. Right-handed reliefer Ray Narleski followed and gave up three hits. When Narleski ran into trouble in the bottom of the ninth, Bud Daley 23-year-old lefthander up from Sacramento, Calif., came in to retire the last two batters.

Al Worthington and Marv Grissom divided the pitching for the Giants with the Indians making both their runs off Worthington, who went seven innings.

Five Cub Homers Beat Orioles 16-4

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—Five Chicago homers, including two apiece by Ernie Banks and Clyde McCullough, spiced a 20-hit attack which swept the Cubs to a 16-4 exhibition triumph over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

Workhorse Star Eyes 30 Wins

WILSON, N.C., (INS) — With 20-game winners getting as rare as daylight ball games, it's amazing how the Phillies treat Robin Roberts just like any other baseball player—except when they hand him his $50,000 paycheck.

They take him for granted; and not without due cause.

For six years now, the bellwether of their mound corps has notched 20 victories or more with his sturdy right arm. They are confident — and his showings in the citrus circuit to date bolster their feeling — that this year will be the seventh

The big question this season is whether Robin can reach 30 victories.

"Any guy that can make winning look so easy as Robbie should be able to get 30 wins with just a few breaks here and there," says teammate Del Ennis.

Roberts himself won't say. Mostly he confines his public activity to performing pitching magic on the mound. When he does talk, it's usually in his capacity as National League player representative, and then he's talking for others.

The closest he came to the magic 30 was in 1952, when he logged 28 victories and seven losses. This proved somewhat of a boomerang, however, because the next year he won "only" 23, and the front office wanted him to take a pay cut the following season.

Public clamor, however, forced the front office to backtrack, and Robin continued as the mainstay of the mound corps.

His astounding record has been compiled despite the team's weak batting punch. Roberts doesn't get "star" treatment, however, because he is a workhorse.

Last year, the strapping 190-pounder pitched 305 innings, tops in the league. Nearest to him in that department was the Braves' Warren Spahn, with 246.

In all, Roberts appeared in 41 games, starting 38, and finishing 26. He wound up the season with a record of 23 victories against 14 defeats. His wins were tops, but whenever someone mentions them, he quickly reminds them that his 41 home-run balls also were tops.

Along with the 30-game goal this season, Roberts also would like to pitch a no-hitter—a feat which has eluded him so far. The closest he came was last opening day when he hurled hitless ball for 8 1-3 innings before the Giants' Alvin Dark singled with one out in the ninth.

He finished with a three-hitter as the Phils won 4-2.

On Storms And Barnstorming

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league baseball clubs are traveling north by easy stages, or by stage, if you listen to the brumbling of the athletes over the herky-jerky, stuttering progress from town to town to fill exhibition dates.

They would seem to have a just complaint, at that. After weeks of training during which they loosen arms and tighten belts under most favorable weather conditions in Florida or Arizona, they are loaded onto trains for a series of one-night stands guaranteed to take the edge off the most finely-conditioned player.

Greeted often along the way by rain, cold, wind, dust storms and whatnot, and as often playing on fields which invite injury, they are the unwilling pawns of club owners who seek to pick up a few bucks to help defray expenses.

Not All Prairies

Not all of the fields are untamed prairies, naturally. The larger cities usually have first-class parks, but the whims of spring weather are unpredictable and it can rain just as hard or get just as chilly in Houston as it can in Albany, Ga.

The one redeeming feature of the itinerary is that it gives fans in communities isolated from major league baseball during the regular season a chance to see the stars perform. This, in theory at least, should enhance interest in the sport.

Except for that, the clubs would be much better off if they remained in their training areas until two or three days before the season opened, then make an uninterrupted journey northward, or eastward.

To give an example of the trials of the barnstorming clubs we have at hand accounts of a game played at Lubbock, Tex., between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants, who each spring pair up for the exhibition tour which finishes the training season, if not the players.

30-Mile Wind

The Giants won this one, 13-12, with a 30-mile wind turning pop flies into home runs and the diamond so soft and sandy that the Giant manager, Bill Rigney, took one look at it and decided right then to use his regulars sparingly to protect them from possible injury.

That was probably an extreme example of poor weather and ground conditions, but we can recall games of other spring tours which had to be called because swirling dust obscured the players, let alone the ball.

It has been fortunate that not too many serious injuries have been recorded on the exhibition tours, although minor strains and sprains, not to speak of sore arms brought on by exposure to damp or chilly weather, have been plentiful.

The most serious injury we recall was that suffered by Monte Irvin in the spring of 1952; an injury that ruined whatever chance the Giants had of repeating as National League champions.

Irvin suffered a badly broken ankle in a game at Denver, although it must be said that the playing conditions had nothing to do with the accident. Irvin caught his spikes sliding into third base, that's all, and such a misfortune could have happened on any field.

We imagine that if the players were polled as to whether or not they should make the spring exhibition tour they would vote overwhelmingly against it, but they have nothing to say about it.

Such games have been played ever since the idea of pre-season training originated, and they probably always will be played. But that still doesn't make the practice a smart idea.

Phils Break Camp, Start Trip North

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies broke training camp here Thursday and prepared to make the barnstorming trip north after assuring a favorable 12-11 Grapefruit League balance with a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Wednesday.

During the 25-game tuneup in the South, shortstop Granny Hamner dispelled all thoughts that his lame shoulder hadn't healed. In addition to playing his usually fine game in the field, Hamner compiled a .358 batting average with three home runs. He had at least one hit in 16 of the 18 games he played in.

The Phillies were off to a bad start in exhibition play but have won their last six games.

Tribe's Pitchers Stop Giants, 2-0

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—For the second straight day, brilliant Cleveland pitching stopped the New York Giants Thursday by a score of 2-0.

Just as Bob Lemon and Bob Feller did the trick Wednesday, this time Herb Score, Ray Narleski and Bud Daley collaborated on a five-hitter.

Score, sophomore southpaw ace, worked the first five innings and blanked the Giants on two hits. Right-handed reliefer Ray Narleski followed and gave up three hits. When Narleski ran into trouble in the bottom of the ninth, Bud Daley 23-year-old lefthander up from Sacramento, Calif., came in to retire the last two batters.

Al Worthington and Marv Grissom divided the pitching for the Giants with the Indians making both their runs off Worthington, who went seven innings.

Visualizing Birdie Sees Possible Second-Place Finish

By JACK HAND

CAMP GORDON, Ga. (AP) —Booming power, a slick second base-shortstop combination and ordinary pitching is the Cincinnati story again in 1956. The club could finish anywhere from second to sixth, depending on the pitching.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts honestly thinks his club is a first-division team. He can "visualize" catching Milwaukee. Birdie's radar vision does not include a view of Cincinnati nipping Brooklyn.

"We're a solid ball club," said Tebbetts. "If a couple of pitchers step out, away we go. We finished fifth the last two years but I give us a good chance of catching Philadelphia and also New York, if their young pitching doesn't produce. I can visualize catching Milwaukee but I can also visualize St. Louis or maybe Chicago catching us if we don't watch out."

Settle For Fourth

If you have difficulty following Birdie's logic, forget it. He is optimistic. He'll settle for fourth.

Ted Kluszewski gave Cincy fans quite a scare during spring training. "Big Klu," the slugger with the bulging muscles, sat out most of the exhibitions with back troubles. After the ailment was diagnosed as a pulled muscle, Kluszewski began to work out the soreness. "He'll be primed for opening day," Tebbetts said. The big first baseman started playing with the varsity just before they broke camp at Tampa earlier this week.

Pitching Worries

As the Redlegs were second in team batting, third in fielding but fifth in club pitching, the pitching is Tebbetts' chief concern. It produced only 38 complete games last season, one every fourth day for the worst record in the league.

A year ago Tebbetts counted on Joe Nuxhall, Corky Valentine and Art Fowler to win at least 12 games. Nuxhall (17-22) was the only pitcher of the trio to come through. Fowler finished with 11-10 and Valentine finished in Havana.

At the moment, Tebbetts counts on five starters with the left-handed Nuxhall, 27, heading the list. Johnny Klippstein (9-10), a four-time winner over Brooklyn, is the No. 2 boy with Fowler in the third spot.

Lawrence Improves

Brooks Lawrence (3-8 with St. Louis) has done better than was expected of him in the spring games. The ex-Cardinal, acquired in a trade for Jackie Collum, beat the Cards the first time he faced them and teamed up on a shutout against Brooklyn. Pat Scantlebury (13-9 at Havana), a 30-year-old rookie lefty from Panama, will be the fifth starter. Scantlebury impressed Birdie with his "stuff" pitching to win a job.

Although Joe Black (6-2) is ticketed for relief work, he can fight his way to starting status if he can convince himself of his ability to go past the seventh inning, according to Tebbetts. Hershell (Buster) Freeman (7-4), Hal Jeffcoat (8-6 at Chicago) and Bill Kennedy (8-6 at Seattle), back for another trial at 35, will be in the bull pen with Don Gross (4-5).

Clarence Podbielan (1-2), Rudy Minarcin (5-9) and Tom Acker (11-8 at Nashville) are the other staff members to go north with the club.

The only rookie in the opening-day lineup will be Frank Robinson, a 20-year-old left fielder who hit .263 at Columbia, S.C. in Class A. Robinson was a phenom until he hurt his arm last spring. He played only part of the season at Columbia and had arm trouble all season. Now he reports himself cured.

"If we opened the season today, Robinson would be in left field," said Tebbetts who has been taking a cautious approach to the Negro rookie. "I'm afraid the papers will try to make him some kind of superman. He's not that kind of a hitter. If he can hit .250 to .260 and give us 15 home runs, he will be doing an adequate job. If given a chance, he'll be a whale of a ball player.

Robinson in left, Gus Bell (.308 with 27 homers and 104 runs batted in) in center and Wally Post (.309 with 40 homers and 109 RBIs) in right make up the regular outfield. Bob Hazle (.314 at Nashville) has looked good but doesn't appear to have the potential of Robinson. Stan Palys (.241) and Bob Thurman (.217), primarily a pinch hitter, will be the reserves. Chuck Harmon (.253) who backs up Kluszewski at first, also plays the outfield. In a pinch, Robinson can play first.

Kluszewski (.314 with 47 homers and 113 runs batted in) is the first baseman with fleet Johnny Temple (.281) at second and Roy McMillan (.268), now wearing glasses, at short. Ray Jablonski (.240) will be the third baseman as long as he continues to hit. He made only two errors in the Florida games, a switch from his poor fielding of other years. Rocky Bridges (.286) is the utility man.

Smoky Burgess (.301), Ed Bailey (.282 at San Diego) and Matt Batts (.254) are the catchers in that order. Bonus man Al Silvera, listed as an outfielder, has been converted into a catcher, probably spelling the doom of Batts or Bailey at cutdown time.

The Post-Bell-Kluszewski-Burgess quartet accounted for 135 of the club's 181 homers and drove in a total of 404 runs. If Robinson comes through and Jablonski hits as he always did before '55, the Reds' power challenges Brooklyn's. It's all up to the pitching staff.

Warriors Beat Jinx, Pistons

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The Philadelphia Warriors broke a four-year jinx as they beat the Fort Wayne Pistons here Thursday night, 107-105, and took a 3-1 lead in their best-of-7 National Basketball Assn. championship series. Paul Arizin scored 30 points.

It was the fourth straight peak performance by Arizin, whose totals of 28, 27, 27 and now 30 points have wrecked the Pistons. He sank corner shots, long shots and under-the-basket shots, and he hit eight free throws without a miss.

It was the Warriors' first victory in Fort Wayne since February, 1952, and they barely pulled it out. Ahead 106-100 with 1:53 to play, they outlasted the Pistons' closing rally by a fraction of a second.

With time running out, a free throw by Mel Hutchins and field goals by Larry Foust and George Yardley made it 106-105 with 40 seconds still left.

George Dempsey hit a free throw for Philadelphia to make it 107-105. Fort Wayne missed a shot, lost the ball, regained it and Corky Devlin cut loose a long shot just after the gun. It dropped through cleanly, but too late.

The first half was even most of the way, but veteran Frankie Brian came in late in the second quarter to lead a Fort Wayne rally that put the Pistons on top at the intermission, 56-50.

The Warriors cut the margin to 2 points at 82-80 at the end of the third quarter and took the lead at 86-85. They led all the rest of the way.

Jack McIntire Is Named Cage Coach At Peru

PERU—Jack McIntire, 39, coach at Falls City High School for past 10 years, has been named head basketball coach at Peru State College, according to Dr. Neal S. Gomon, president.

McIntire, whose appointment is subject to approval by the Board of Education of State Normal Schools, will succeed W. O. (Bill) Johnson who has resigned.

A 1941 Peru State College graduate, McIntire during his high school coaching career has authored excellent win-loss records. During his ten years at Falls City he produced 71 wins and 17 losses on the gridiron and in basketball his teams recorded 126 wins against 47 losses. His track teams have won nine straight Southeast Conference championships.

At Auburn high school, where McIntire began his coaching career during 1941-42, his teams recorded eight football wins to one defeat and 14 basketball wins to six losses. In 1942 McIntire joined the Peru State College coaching staff as line coach. That year the Bobcats won the Nebraska College Conference title.

As a student at Peru State, McIntire was rated among the all-time greats of the Nebraska College Conference. He left the coaching staff at Peru in 1943 to enter the armed forces.

A native of Nebraska City, McIntire was graduated from Nebraska City High School in 1934, having lettered in football and basketball.

Last June McIntire was named "Prep Coach of the Year" by the Sunday Lincoln Journal and Star. This year his basketball team won the state Class A title.

Mrs. McIntire is the former Luella Driebus of Nebraska City.

State High School Golf Meet Sites Are Announced

Sites for the two state high school golf tournaments and a new baseball rule were among announcements issued by the Nebraska School Activities Association Thursday.

The association ruled that all prep baseball teams should provide batters with protective head gear. No penalty will be provided during the transition period, but the NSAA requested schools to make "every effort to provide the necessary protection for each batter."

Objective is to prevent "beaning" injuries.

Golf championship play gets started April 28 when the sand greens tourney will begin at Grand Island's Woodland Golf Course. The grass greens tournament is slated for Maay 11.

It will be divided into two classes A and B, with A competition set for the Omaha Country Country Club and B action at Pioneers in Lincoln.

Wesleyan To Recognize Athletes At Annual All-Sports Banquet

Nebraska Wesleyan University students will officially recognize all athletic lettermen for the past year at an annual all sports banquet at the Chamber of Commerce Friday night.

Bill King, Lincoln sports television personality, will be the principal speaker.

Three Wesleyan alumni who lettered in athletics during their undergraduate days, will be recognized as Alumni Honor Athletes as a special feature of the banquet. Each will receive a W-Club medalion.

Recipient of the 1956 Blue Key Sportsmanship award will also be announced. This annual award goes to the senior letterman who has best exemplified good sportsmanship on and off the athletic field during his four college years.

The annual banquet is sponsored by the Yellers of the Brown, Wesleyan Pep organization. V. A. Colon will act as master of ceremonies.

Visualizing Birdie Sees Possible Second-Place Finish

By JACK HAND

CAMP GORDON, Ga. (AP) - Booming power, a slick second base-shortstop combination and ordinary pitching is the Cincinnati story again in 1956. The club could finish anywhere from second to sixth, depending on the pitching.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts honestly thinks his club is a first-division team. He can "visualize" catching Milwaukee. Birdie's radar vision does not include a view of Cincinnati nipping Brooklyn.

"We're a solid ball club," said Tebbetts. "If a couple of pitchers step out, away we go. We finished fifth the last two years but I give us a good chance of catching Philadelphia and also New York, if their young pitching doesn't produce. I can visualize catching Milwaukee but I can also visualize St. Louis or maybe Chicago catching us if we don't watch out."

Settle For Fourth

If you have difficulty following Birdie's logic, forget it. He is optimistic. He'll settle for fourth.

Ted Kluszewski gave Cincy fans quite a scare during spring training. "Big Klu," the slugger with the bulging muscles, sat out most of the exhibitions with back troubles. After the ailment was diagnosed as a pulled muscle, Kluszewski began to work out the soreness. "He'll be primed for opening day," Tebbetts said. The big first baseman started playing with the varsity just before they broke camp at Tampa earlier this week.

Pitching Worries

As the Redlegs were second in team batting, third in fielding but fifth in club pitching, the pitching is Tebbetts' chief concern. It produced only 33 complete games last season, one every fourth day for the worst record in the league.

A year ago Tebbetts counted on Joe Nuxhall, Corky Valentine and Art Fowler to win at least 12 games. Nuxhall (17-22) was the only pitcher of the trio to come through. Fowler finished with 11-10 and Valentine finished in Havana.

At the moment, Tebbetts counts on five starters with the left-handed Nuxhall, 27, heading the list. Johnny Klippstein (9-10), a four-time winner over Brooklyn, is the No. 2 boy with Fowler in the third spot.

Lawrence Improves

Brooks Lawrence (3-8 with St. Louis) has done better than was expected of him in the spring games. The ex-Cardinal, acquired in a trade for Jackie Collum, beat the Cards the first time he faced them and teamed up on a shutout against Brooklyn. Pat Scantlebury (13-9 at Havana), a 30-year-old rookie lefty from Panama, will be the fifth starter. Scantlebury impressed Birdie with his "stuff" pitching to win a job.

Although Joe Black (6-2) is ticketed for relief work, he can fight his way to starting status if he can convince himself of his ability to go past the seventh inning, according to Tebbetts. Hershell (Buster) Freeman (7-4), Hal Jeffcoat (8-6 at Chicago) and Bill Kennedy (8-6 at Seattle), back for another trial at 35, will be in the bull pen with Don Gross (4-5).

Clarence Podbielan (1-2), Rudy Minarcin (5-9) and Tom Acker (11-8 at Nashville) are the other staff members to go north with the club.

The only rookie in the opening-day lineup will be Frank Robinson, a 20-year-old left fielder who hit .263 at Columbia, S.C. in Class A. Robinson was a phenom until he hurt his arm last spring. He played only part of the season at Columbia and had arm trouble all season. Now he reports himself cured.

"If we opened the season today, Robinson would be in left field," said Tebbetts who has been taking a cautious approach to the Negro rookie. "I'm afraid the papers will try to make him some kind of superman. He's not that kind of a hitter. If he can hit .250 to .260 and give us 15 home runs, he will be doing an adequate job. If given a chance, he'll be a whale of a ball player.

Robinson in left, Gus Bell (.308 with 27 homers and 104 runs batted in) in center and Wally Post (.309 with 40 homers and 109 RBIs) in right make up the regular outfield. Bob Hazle (.314 at Nashville) has looked good but doesn't appear to have the potential of Robinson. Stan Palys (.241) and Bob Thurman (.217), primarily a pinch hitter, will be the reserves. Chuck Harmon (.253) who backs up Kluszewski at first, also plays the outfield. In a pinch, Robinson can play first.

Kluszewski (.314 with 47 homers and 113 runs batted in) is the first baseman with fleet Johnny Temple (.281) at second and Roy McMillan (.268), now wearing glasses, at short. Ray Jablonski (.240) will be the third baseman as long as he continues to hit. He made only two errors in the Florida games, a switch from his poor fielding of other years. Rocky Bridges (.286) is the utility man.

Smoky Burgess (.301), Ed Bailey (.282 at San Diego) and Matt Batts (.254) are the catchers in that order. Bonus man Al Silvera, listed as an outfielder, has been converted into a catcher, probably spelling the doom of Batts or Bailey at cutdown time.

The Post-Bell-Kluszewski-Burgess quartet accounted for 135 of the club's 181 homers and drove in a total of 404 runs. If Robinson comes through and Jablonski hits as he always did before '55, the Reds' power challenges Brooklyn's. It's all up to the pitching staff.

Warriors Beat Jinx, Pistons

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The Philadelphia Warriors broke a four-year jinx as they beat the Fort Wayne Pistons here Thursday night, 107-105, and took a 3-1 lead in their best-of-7 National Basketball Assn. championship series. Paul Arizin scored 30 points.

It was the fourth straight peak performance by Arizin, whose totals of 28, 27, 27 and now 30 points have wrecked the Pistons. He sank corner shots, long shots and under-the-basket shots, and he hit eight free throws without a miss.

It was the Warriors' first victory in Fort Wayne since February, 1952, and they barely pulled it out. Ahead 106-100 with 1:53 to play, they outlasted the Pistons' closing rally by a fraction of a second.

With time running out, a free throw by Mel Hutchins and field goals by Larry Foust and George Yardley made it 106-105 with 40 seconds still left.

George Dempsey hit a free throw for Philadelphia to make it 107-105. Fort Wayne missed a shot, lost the ball, regained it and Corky Devlin cut loose a long shot just after the gun. It dropped through cleanly, but too late.

The first half was even most of the way, but veteran Frankie Brian came in late in the second quarter to lead a Fort Wayne rally that put the Pistons on top at the intermission, 56-50.

The Warriors cut the margin to 2 points at 82-80 at the end of the third quarter and took the lead at 85-85. They led all the rest of the way.

Jack McIntire Is Named Cage Coach At Peru

PERU—Jack McIntire, 39, coach at Falls City High School for past 10 years, has been named head basketball coach at Peru State College, according to Dr. Neal S. Gomon, president.

McIntire, whose appointment is subject to approval by the Board of Education of State Normal Schools, will succeed W. O. (Bill) Johnson who has resigned.

A 1941 Peru State College graduate, McIntire during his high school coaching career has authored excellent win-loss records. During his ten years at Falls City he produced 71 wins and 17 losses on the gridiron and in basketball his teams recorded 126 wins against 47 losses. His track teams have won nine straight Southeast Conference championships.

At Auburn high school, where McIntire began his coaching career during 1941-42, his teams recorded eight football wins to one defeat and 14 basketball wins to six losses. In 1942 McIntire joined the Peru State College coaching staff as line coach. That year the Bobcats won the Nebraska College Conference title.

As a student at Peru State, McIntire was rated among the all-time greats of the Nebraska College Conference. He left the coaching staff at Peru in 1943 to enter the armed forces.

A native of Nebraska City, McIntire was graduated from Nebraska City High School in 1934, having lettered in football and basketball.

Last June McIntire was named "Prep Coach of the Year" by the Sunday Lincoln Journal and Star. This year his basketball team won the state Class A title.

Mrs. McIntire is the former Luella Driebus of Nebraska City.

State High School Golf Meet Sites Are Announced

Sites for the two state high school golf tournaments and a new baseball rule were among announcements issued by the Nebraska School Activities Association Thursday.

The association ruled that all prep baseball teams should provide batters with protective head gear. No penalty will be provided during the transition period, but the NSAA requested schools to make "every effort to provide the necessary protection for each batter."

Objective is to prevent "beaning" injuries.

Golf championship play gets started April 28 when the sand greens tourney will begin at Grand Island's Woodland Golf Course. The grass greens tournament is slated for May 11.

It will be divided into two classes A and B, with A competition set for the Omaha Country Country Club and B action at Pioneers in Lincoln.

Concordia Opens 3rd Baseball Year

SEWARD — Concordia High School opens its third baseball season with seven lettermen on hand.

The returnee diamond veterans include: Loel Haak, Dale Hauck, Art Otto, Gary Kruse, Darald Pieper, Roger Schmidt and Craig Hoffman.

Among the promising group reporting for workouts are Jim Juergensen, Mark Pera, Ralph Meyer, John Suhr and Dave Klone.

Concordia anticipates an eight game schedule, plus tournament play.

Wesleyan To Recognize Athletes At Annual All-Sports Banquet

Nebraska Wesleyan University students will officially recognize all athletic lettermen for the past year at an annual all sports banquet at the Chamber of Commerce Friday night.

Bill King, Lincoln sports television personality, will be the principal speaker.

Three Wesleyan alumni who lettered in athletics during their undergraduate days, will be recognized as Alumni Honor Athletes as a special feature of the banquet. Each will receive a W-Club medalion.

Recipient of the 1956 Blue Key Sportsmanship award will also be announced. This annual award goes to the senior letterman who has best exemplified good sportsmanship on and off the athletic field during his four college years.

The annual banquet is sponsored by the Yellers of the Brown, Wesleyan Pep organization. V. A. Colon will act as master of ceremonies.

Wesleyan coaches will introduce lettermen in each sport for recognition during the course of the banquet.

Late Selling Sends Stock Mart Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went down Thursday as late selling spread throughout the list.

Market movements were seldom pronounced, although many individual stocks made wide moves.

Losses to around $4 were shown in key areas while there were many good gains of $1 to better than $3.

The market's current indecision is a reflection of Wall Street's cautiousness born of the long climb that started in mid-February.

In the past, such steep advnaces have topped out with a reaction that has retracted one-third to two-thirds of the previous gain. As a result there has been a lot of selective trading.

Just about all major divisions closed lower. Mail order issues and building materials were exceptions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 80 cents at $19.40. It gained exactly that amount Wednesday.

The industrial component of the average was off $1.70 Thursday and the rails and utilities each backed down 30 cents.

Volume came to 2,950,000 shares, compared with 2,760,000 shares traded Wednesday.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed with volume at 1,250,000 shares, compared with 1,210,000 Wednesday.

Heavier Run Helps Force Hogs Down

OMAHA (AP)—Increased receipts coupled with labor trouble at a major packing plant forced Omaha hog prices 25 to 75 cents lower Thursday. Most sales were down 50 cents. Fed steer prices were steady to weak. Slaughter lamb trading was slow.

OMAHA

Hogs: Salable Thursday 8,500; market closed 25c to 75c lower; mostly 50c ower; however a few early sales steady; sows 25c to mostly 50c lower; butchers 180-240 lbs. $14.75@15.25; these mostly mixed U. S. No. 1-3 grades; uniform lots of mixed 1 and 2 $15.50@16.00; weights 240-270 lbs. mostly No. 2 and 3 $14.50@15.25; sows 300-550 lbs. $11.50@13.50.

Cattle: Salable 2,500; calves 100; fed steers steady to weak; quality none too attractive; nothing of high choice or prime available; good action on choice heifers at firm prices; lower grades about steady; cows weak to 25c lower; bulls steady to strong; vealers steady; stocker and feeder classes in limited supply fully steady; good and choice fed steers $17.00@20.00; commercial to low good $14.50@16.50; choice heifers $18.75@20.00; good to low choice $16.00@18.00; utility and commercial cows $11.50@13.00; caners and cutters $10.00@11.25; commercial bulls fairly numerous at $15.00; vealer top $22.00 choice around 925 lbs. feeder steers $18.25.

Sheep: Salable 800; slaughter lambs steady to 25c lower; inscances 50c lower; other classes scarce unchanged; 3 decks late choice to prime under 110 lbs. wooled slaughter lambs 20.25-21.00; around 4 loads unsold.

CHICAGO

The hog market was steady Thursday on butchers, though off 25 cents on the $15.75 top price. Sows were mostly steady.

Trade developed into fairly active bidding on the 8,500 head offered after a slow start, and the close saw a notably good clearance on sows.

Most U. S. No. 1 to No. 3 mixed loads at 190-260 pounds brought $15.25 to $15.40. The bulk of 250-600 pound sows were sold at $11.75 to $13.50.

The Department of Agriculture announced after trading that it was discontinuing government purchases of pork and lard until further notice because the recent rise of hog prices had removed the need for this aid.

Since the program started in November, government purchases on all markets have totaled more than 197½ million pounds of pork and lard for 102½ million dollars.

The cattle market was fairly active and mostly steady with 2,000 cattle and 200 calves on hand.

Grain Mart Strong Until Late Selloff

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market moved strongly upward on the Board of Trade Thursday, then backed off on heavy selling at profit taking levels.

Demand which sent all deliveries except May corn and May and July oats to new seasonal highs was based on optimism that President Eisenhower will accept a compromise farm bill.

The surge in prices was led by wheat contracts, July wheat drove to 5⅞ above Wednesday's close about one hour before closing, only to retreat 3 cents on a sell-off.

May wheat, the leader Wednesday, was the only contact which closed lower.

Wheat moved ½ cent a bushel lower on the May delivery to 2⅞ higher on July and September; corn ended 1 to 2 cents higher; oats ⅜ to ⅝ cents higher; rye ⅝ to 2¾ higher.

Soybeans closed ½ to 2 cents higher, and lard 2 to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Wheat and rye touched new highs at Minneapolis, as did Kansas City wheat and Winnipeg rye.

Soybeans continued to show strength on the good prices for vegetable oils, and interpretations of a supply and demand outlook report by Francis I. du Pont & Co. pointing to a tightening supply situation as the season progresses.

Slow Service Causes Omaha To Run Tests

OMAHA (AP) — The City-County Health Board has instructed Dr. Edwin Lyman, director, to make an effort to have rabies tests run here rather than in Lincoln.

The action was taken Wednesday after Dr. Lyman complained to the board that reports received from the state laboratories at Lincoln during last year's outbreak of rabies were slow and incomplete.

Dr. Lyman said two tests should be made when a person is bitten by an animal suspected of having the disease.

The first is a microscopic examination of the offending animal's brain. This takes less than an hour yet sometimes last year it took as long as 16 days to get a reply from Lincoln, Dr. Lyman said.

He added that this test is only 80 to 90 per cent accurate and as a result "we were gambling with the lives of persons bitten by rabid dogs."

A second test, 100 per cent accurate, consists of inoculating mice with serum from the suspected animal's brain. He said it takes 10 to 16 days. Dr. Lyman said both tests should be run routinely in every case of suspected rabies. The state lab doesn't do the mice inoculation.

He said his requests last year for speedy action from Lincoln and the microscopic tests resulted in complaints that "Omaha always wants something special."

Elgin Officer Here Thanks Sen. Curtis For His Efforts

WASHINGTON — Sen. Carl Curtis, who wrote Secretary of Labor James Mitchell asking help for the American jeweled watch industry, received praise Thursday from a Lincoln Elgin watch official.

R. H. Brandes, Elgin's Lincoln plant manager, said that the company "is extremely gratified over Sen. Curtis'

Late Selling Sends Stock Mart Down

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market went down Thursday as late selling spread throughout the list.

Market movements were seldom pronounced, although many individual stocks made wide moves.

Losses to around $4 were shown in key areas while there were many good gains of $1 to better than $3.

The market's current indecision is a reflection of Wall Street's cautiousness born of the long climb that started in mid-February.

In the past, such steep advances have topped out with a reaction that has retracted one-third to two-thirds of the previous gain. As a result there has been a lot of selective trading.

Just about all major divisions closed lower. Mail order issues and building materials were exceptions.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 80 cents at $139.40. It gained exactly that amount Wednesday.

The industrial component of the average lost $1.70 Thursday and the rails and utilities each backed down 30 cents.

Volume came to 2,850,000 shares, compared with 2,760,000 shares traded Wednesday.

The American Stock Exchange was inked with volume at 1,250,000 shares, compared with 1,210,000 Wednesday.

Heavier Run Helps Force Hogs Down

OMAHA (AP)—Increased receipts coupled with labor trouble at a major packing plant forced Omaha hog prices 25 to 75 cents lower Thursday. Most sales were down 50 cents. Fed steer prices were steady to weak. Slaughter lamb trading was slow.

CHICAGO

The hog market was steady Thursday on butchers, though off 25 cents on the $19.75 top price. Sows were mostly steady.

Trade developed into fairly active bidding on the 8,500 head offered after a slow start, and the close saw a notably good clearance on sows.

Most U. S. No. 1 to No. 3 mixed loads at 190-260 pounds brought $15.25 to $15.40. The bulk of 250-800 pound sows were sold at $11.75 to $13.50.

The Department of Agriculture announced after trading that it was discontinuing government purchases of pork and lard until further notice because the recent rise of hog prices had removed the need for this aid.

Since the program started in November, government purchases on all markets have totaled more than 197½ million pounds of pork and lard for 102½ million dollars.

The cattle market was fairly active and mostly steady with 2,000 cattle and 200 calves on hand.

Choice vealers brought the top price of $25. The best for steers was $23.50 paid for a load of high choice and prime 1,287-pound Kansas animals.

Sheep continued their upward price trend, with slaughter lambs active and 25 to mostly 50 cents higher.

Most sales of good to prime wooled lambs brought $20.00 to $21.75 at 110 pounds and under, and three decks the $22.00 top.

Grain Mart Strong Until Late Selloff

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market moved strongly upward on the Board of Trade Thursday, then backed off on heavy selling at profit taking levels.

Demand which sent all deliveries except May corn and May and July oats to new seasonal highs was based on optimism that President Eisenhower will accept a compromise farm bill.

The surge in prices was led by wheat contracts. July wheat drove to 3¼ above Wednesday's close about one hour before closing, only to retreat 3 cents on a selloff.

May wheat, the leader Wednesday, was the only contract which closed lower.

Wheat moved ½ cent a bushel lower on the May delivery to 2.27¾ higher on July and September, corn ended 1 to 2 cents higher, oats ¾ to ¼ cents higher, rye ¾ to 2¼ higher.

Soybeans closed ¼ to 2 cents higher, and lard 2 to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Wheat and rye touched new highs at Minneapolis as did Kansas City wheat and Winnipeg rye.

Soybeans continued to show strength on the good prices for vegetable oils, and interpretations of a supply and demand outlook report by Francis I. du Pont & Co. pointing to a tightening supply situation as the season progresses.

Slow Service Causes Omaha To Run Tests

OMAHA (AP) — The City-County Health Board has instructed Dr. Edwin Lyman, director, to make an effort to have rabies tests run here rather than in Lincoln.

The action was taken Wednesday after Dr Lyman complained to the board that reports received from the state laboratories at Lincoln during last year's outbreak of rabies were slow and incomplete.

Dr. Lyman said two tests should be made when a person is bitten by an animal suspected of having the disease.

The first is a microscopic examination of the offending animal's brain. This takes less than an hour yet sometimes last year it took as long as 16 days to get a reply from Lincoln, Dr. Lyman said.

He added that this test is only 80 to 90 per cent accurate and as a result "we were gambling with the lives of persons bitten by rabid dogs."

A second test, 100 per cent accurate, consists of inoculating mice with serum from the suspected animal's brain. He said it takes 10 to 16 days. Dr. Lyman said both tests should be run routinely in every case of suspected rabies. The state lab doesn't do the mice inoculation.

He said his requests last year for speedy action from Lincoln and the microscopic tests resulted in complaints that "Omaha always wants something special."

Elgin Officer Here Thanks Sen. Curtis For His Efforts

WASHINGTON — Sen. Carl Curtis, who wrote Secretary of Labor James Mitchell asking help for the American jeweled watch industry, received praise Thursday from a Lincoln Elgin watch official.

R. H. Brandes, Elgin's Lincoln plant manager, said that the company "is extremely gratified over Sen. Curtis' continued effort in calling attention to the serious problem facing Elgin and the rest of the American jeweled watch industry."

The senator emphasized the value of the watch workers to American military defense in his letter.

"The Swiss have resorted to what constitutes a dumping operation in the American jeweled watch market. I trust that you will find it possible to help the jeweled watch industry retrieve some part of the market it lost when it abandoned the making of watches during World War II to devote its facilities and skills to defense work," Curtis wrote Mitchell.
